STUART R. PADDOCK

San Miguel de Allende, Mexico—

We have heard many stories about the existence of one or more tunnels hereabouts. One entrance to one of them is from a building still remaining on the property of the Instituto Allende. A share of the stories may be merely fables, but there is enough credence in them to merit mention in this column.

Research in the tales of tunnels has been attempted by Carol Laverne de Sanchez, the wife of a San Miguel builder who has had a lot to do with remodeling old ruins into apartments for the American colony.

Her interest was aroused when workmen excavating for an apartment project showed her the figure of a small clay horse that they had found in an apparent tunnel alongside of an excavation. On inquiry they said there were many other clay objects as well as evidence of charcoal that they had removed with the debris they had encountered. On the strength of their stories she estimates that this section of a tunnel was 7 feet high and 13 feet wide.

She has learned that originally a tunnel existed from the home of the famous Conde de Canal, now the property used by the Instituto de Allende, which is admitted to be over 200 years old. It extended to one of the churches and a convent, as well as a few private homes.

The stories have it that a tunnel was used at the time of the Spanish inquisition during the early part of the last century. The historic lore of this 400 year old town is that before San Miguel was located on its present site Spaniards from the copper and silver mines were accustomed to occasionally come to old San Miguel then inhabited by the Otomi Indians. (That tribe is still here.) The Indians were not fond of the invaders. They would lie in wait at a narrow bridge to assault the Spaniards and then escape through underground tunnels or caves.

One of the "old timers" contacted by Mrs. Sanchez says that 50 years ago part of an underground passageway to a particular house was used by male members of families for clandestine visits to their "chincas" or girl friends.

In commenting on what she had learned Mrs. Sanchez says, "I do not know if the tunnels are 150, 200 or 400 years old, but I do know that building and remodeling old ruins in Mexico can be exciting and fascinating, but can also cause a lot of frustrations."

(Note—Informed persons to whom the above has been referred are not in agreement as to the facts enumerated, but they agree that it is a good story to be told to Americanos.)

Some very excellent entertainment was provided last night in San Miguel by the choral group of Smith College of Northhampton, Mass., and Wesleyan University of Middletown, Conn. They are making six appearances in Mexico, including Guadalajara and San Miguel. There was no admission charge.

The concert was under the sponsorship of the Mexican-North American Cultural Institute. It was given in a building that has all the appearances and accommodations of the opera houses in many large United States cities fifty to seventy-five years ago. There is a special curtained lobby for use of customers occupying the boxes and orchestra seats, also two balconies. Its every day use is as a movie theatre.

Schedule Announced

Bike Safety Program Opening Here May 7

A bicycle safety and testing program will be launched in Arlington Heights on Tuesday.

The program, a cooperative effort of the Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, the Cook County Traffic Safety Commission and the police department here, will be undertaken at 10 schools between May 7 and 15.

According to Mrs. John E. Gross, 121 S. Kennicott Ave., program coordinator and council safety chairman, the program will "go a long way in teaching children their responsibilities as operators of vehicles."

SAFETY WILL be stressed in the sale of red bicycle reflectors at the dealer's cost of 15 cents each, Mrs. Gross said.

Also, reflector tape provided by the Arlington Heights VFW post will be applied to bicycles and 50-cent bicycle licenses will be sold.

The testing aspects of the program will be provided by the county commission, whose team of specialists will lecture on traffic laws, courtesies of the road, and rules applying to bicycle riding.

BICYCLE OWNERS will be required to ride through a safety lane test set up with traffic signs and other simulated traffic conditions.

Those passing will be given cards certifying their proficiency and making them members of the Bicycle Safety Club.

Representatives of the police department will explain the department's new policy of issuing tickets to bicyce riders who violate safety rules.

The tickets are now being issued to violators.

PARENTS OF those receiving tickets are asked to telephone the police department to discuss the violation.

A Step Ahead

Slate Meeting On Apartments

Members of the Northwest Municipal Conference voted unanimously last week to approve a resolution asking the Cook County Board of Commissioners and Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals to reconsider their approach to multiple dwelling (apartment) zoning.

Suburban villages and school districts have expressed concern over the tendency of the county to rezone unincorporated properties for apartments.

A particular area of concern recently has been county approval of a rash of apartment units south of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

THE RESOLUTION, passed at the Conference meeting April 24, asked the county bodies to "reconsider policies" toward apartment zoning.

It also sought a joint meeting of county and suburban officials to discuss "cooperation in the public interest."

Seymour Simon, president of the county board, who appeared at the Conference meeting, said he was not always in agreement with projects okayed by the county.

VILLAGE President John G. Woods of Arlington Heights told Simon the county's endorsement last month of 43 acres of multiple units at Busse Road and Dempster Street was especially unsettling to nearby communities.

Woods pointed out that the county "started the trend months ago" by zoning to multiple 17 acres at Busse and Algonquin Roads and 30 acres adjacent to Waycinden Park Subdivision in Des Plaines.

"At the time, these areas were cornfields unrelated to anything," Woods said. He granted the rezonings took place prior to Simon's election to the county board last November.

SIMON acknowledged the county's interest in meeting with suburban leaders. A meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, May 8, in the Arlington Heights municipal building.

The county chief said he hoped Willard Pedrick, a Northwestern University law professor appointed as chairman of the county zoning board, would provide a "different approach" to apartment zoning.

"Possibly the May 8 meeting will lead to creation of the 'Arlington Heights Manifesto' in regard to apartments," Simon quipped.

Board Will Study Bus Routes More

The Arlington Heights Board of Park Commissioners decided Tuesday to study further the possibility of establishing summer bus routes to Pioneer and Recreation Parks.

Upon a presentation of plans by Tom Thornton, director of parks, the board determined it would meet with representatives of Ritzenthaler Bus Lines, Inc., Long Grove, in order to gather more information.

THE PARK district, in an effort to provide the bus service for residents living distances from the parks, is urging those interested in the service to call the district office at CL 3-0620.

To date, according to William Appleby, recreation superintendent, 50 persons representing about 300 residents have called to report their approval of the bus plan.

Members of the Hasbrook Civic Association voted approval of the plan last week.

SIX BUS routes are planned throughout the village, three round trips being made on each route daily.

Initial cost estimates set a daily roundtrip ride at 16 cents and an 80-day season pass at $3 to $5.

State Rd. Repairs 'Coming'

Contract Date Is Announced

by CLIFF HARRIS

It's definite now.

Arlington Heights Road south to Elk Grove Village will be rebuilt this summer.

William J. Mortimer, county superintendent of highways, announced this week that bids are being accepted for the 2.9 mile project. A contract will be let May 21 and construction probably will start in June.

MORTIMER said the last few parcels of land had been acquired by the State's Attorney's office for the right-of-way and all financing has been approved.

The road will be four lanes with a median strip and will stretch from Central Road at the south of Arlington Heights to Higgins Road at the north of Elk Grove Village.

Estimated cost is $1,100,000 but Mortimer indicated the final figure might be less than the estimate because of the competitive bidding situation that exists now.

ACQUISITION of parcels of land near the south end of the project caused the final delay, Mortimer said. When land owners asked more than the highway department was willing to pay, acquisition was referred to the State's Attorney's office.

Mortimer said "there were nine or 10 parcels in the acquisition attorney's hands."

The new road will replace the narrow, winding strip that has been a headache to motorists for years. The road has been scheduled for widening for several years but each time the plans were shelved.

LAST FALL Paddock Publications began an investigation of the "forgotten road" and learned that "higher priorities" had been put on other projects in the county.

Mortimer said late last year that he was "cognizant of the need for improving the road" and "that the road definitely would be improved in 1963."

The 2.9 strip (known as South State Road) is carrying an increasing volume of traffic to Elk Grove Village and to roads that connect with the Illinois Tollway and busy O'Hare Airport.

DURING LAST fall's investigations asked the Tollway Commission to consider a tollway connection at State Road, but

Last Meeting For Trustees

by BRUCE LADD

Arlington Heights trustees will meet tonight, Thursday, in a last-ditch effort to get the Park Manor Subdivision redevelopment plan off the ground.

Fortunately, compromise is in the air.

At issue to the casual observer is the width of one street in the 40-acre subdivision located in the southeastern corner of the village.

But the real, behind-the-scenes controversy seems based on pride and the right of imminent domain.

The board of trustees, agreeing with members of the Park Manor Homeowners Assn., favors a 28-foot width for Cleveland Avenue between Fairview Street and Central Road.

THE BOARD of local improvements wants the four-block stretch paved at 36 feet.

Inability of the two boards to reach accord on Cleveland's width has prevented special assessment proceedings from beginning and forced the owner of a majority of the subdivision's lots to issue an ultimatum.

Gerald M. Chapman, 903 N. Kaspar Ave., attorney for George Wallach, owner of about 50 per cent of undeveloped Park Manor property, advised the village board last week that his client will withdraw all commitments to the area unless the issue between the two boards is resolved by Tuesday, May 21.

Chapman pointed out that Wallach cannot continue to tie up $140,000 now in escrow, and that his client has been patiently awaiting approval to build for 1½ years.

"WE DO NOT feel, either in law or fairness, that we can be required to continue to carry a financial burden indefinitely while awaiting a solution to a deadlock which may continue ad infinitum," Chapman said.

Chapman denied his reference to the word "law" meant Wallach may be intending to appeal to the courts for settlement of the issue.

Tonight's meeting, to be held at 8 p.m. on the second floor of the municipal building, 33 S. State Road, is "last-ditch" in that it will be the last for three trustees, Justin Nelson, William Sauer and Samuel Wit.

The trio officially leaves office Monday. If efforts of the three over the past four years are to count, board action will have to be taken tonight.

SEVERAL trustees and BOLI members hinted to the Herald this week that a compromise is brewing. It may come in the form of a resolution from trustees suggesting that all interior streets in Park Manor — including Cleveland — be installed at 28 feet.

All streets at 28 feet would do away with BOLI criticism that a 28-foot Cleveland Avenue south of Fairview would not be congruous with a 36-foot Cleveland north of Fairview.

The real issue is probably best put in the question, which of the two boards is going to back off from its street width stand? It may be that an intelligent compromise will markedly reduce the need for either board to lose face.

All parties involved in the $1 million project privately acknowledge that the quickest solution would be the best, and that tonight is the time to act.

The meeting is open to the public.

Complete text of Atty. Gerald M. Chapman's statements to the board of trustees and BOLI may be found on an inside page of this week's Herald.

officials said such a project was out of the question because of financial reasons.

Mortimer said rebuilding of the State Road would be completed "during the 1963" construction season."

Suburban News of the Week

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Village trustees will meet tonight, Thursday, in a last-ditch attempt to solve the problem of launching a $1 million improvement program for the Arlington Park Manor Subdivision. The program has been stalled by inability of trustees and members of the board of local improvements to agree on the width of Cleveland Avenue. Details in Arlington Heights Herald.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — The citizens budget committee recommended a $308,000 budget for 1963-64. For the first time in three years, the citizens committee was able to recommend a balanced budget, although it appears that the trustees will change this once they begin scrutinizing the budget. For details, see Elk Grove Herald.

MOUNT PROSPECT — A bill seeking an appropriation of $1,134,800 from the state to make improvements to Weller Creek was approved Tuesday by members of the Weller Creek Action Council. Th first draft of the bill, with revisions asked by the Mount Prospect Park District, will be presented to the State Department of Waterways for sponsorship and then introduced into the legislature by Representatives John Carroll, Bernard Peskin, Arthur Simmons and Senator John Graham. Details in Mount Prospect Herald.

ROLLING MEADOWS — Jaycees will start a community attitude survey this weekend, when 50 volunteers distribute four-page questionnaires to every home in the city. The pollsters will compile, analyze and interpret the data to help chart a future course for Rolling Meadows. The survey will update information gathered in a similar project in 1958.

A public hearing has been set for May 17 in city hall to add a new zoning classification for motels and to consider rezoning a 47-acre tract annexed last week for business, apartments and motel. Details in Rolling Meadows Herald.

PALATINE — Village trustees to look at plans and expenses for renovating village hall and constructing new police station. Details in Palatine Enterprise.

WHEELING-BUFFALO GROVE — A proposed operating 1963-64 budget of $1,144,496 is being considered by the District 21 Board of Education. The district expects an enrollment of over 3,000 pupils next fall.

The Buffalo Grove Plan Commission is reviewing a proposed pre-annexation agreement covering a 950-acre development. It includes dedication of six school sites and one park site, a $40,000 donation to the village, and complete independence in providing sewer and water facilities. Presently existing village building ordinances and regulations would apply without change for a five-year period as far as the development is concerned. Details in Wheeling Herald.

SCHAUMBURG — Officers of Schaumburg Township, working for the establishment of a township-wide park district, accused the Pure Oil Company of favoring a non-taxing and ineffective park district, proposed by the Village of Schaumburg. Petitions from both the township and village on the separate park proposals are scheduled for a public hearing before Cook County Judge Thaddeus Adesko on Monday. Details in Hoffman Herald.

HOFFMAN ESTATES — Melvin Feldman, elected police magistrate on April 16, is scheduled to step on the bench Saturday, despite an attempt to upset the election on legal grounds. Patrick J. Muldowney, magistrate for the past 3½ years, who raised the challenge, this week relented to a point of allowing Feldman to take over, but Muldowney said recent changes in Illinois law still leave unanswered questions on whether the village is entitled to a new magistrate. Details in Hoffman Herald.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS — The library unit of the new addition to West School will be named in honor of Mrs. Leone Palm, who will retire from teaching in June. See the Prospect Heights Herald for details. (B8

Chamber Supports Program for Youth

Newly appointed student directors of Arlington Heights fledgling youth organization can count on the support of the Chamber of Commerce.

At the April 23 meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Will Schwantz told fellow members of the plan proposed to establish a student-directed recreation center program for high school age residents.

Schwantz, who is one of eight adult advisors in the new organization, said, "We realize how important support from village organizations will be in establishing a community-influenced program for our teenagers."

"I'm glad to report the Chamber of Commerce joins the park board and others of the village in endorsing the junior Woman's Club's plan, particularly since I represented the Chamber at community meetings held on the subject by the club's youth committee.

"I'M CONFIDENT the Chamber will live up to its record of actively supporting community projects it feels will benefit the citizens of Arlington Heights," he concluded.

Support of the Board of Park Commissioners was announced recently after the board granted space for youth center activities at Recreation Park. The new basement room now under construction occupies 2,700 square feet formerly used for locker rooms.

Student directors and adult advisors will hold their initial meeting at 7:30 p.m. this evening, Thursday, in the Arlington High School cafeteria. Directors of the new youth organization were selected from students representative of all high school age residents of the Arlington Heights Park District.

Largest representation comes from the approximately 2,200 residents attending Arlington High School. Juniors serving on the board of directors are: Lois Raupp, Jane Johann, Stephen Carns and "Pete" O'Neil. Chris Gerts, Sue Herbeck, Greg Inman and Charles Hood were appointed from Arlington's Sophomore class. Freshmen directors are Bob Yeazel, Peggy White and Greg Alexander.

The 20 students from the four schools will elect officers tonight and will serve as a temporary board of directors until the youth organization elects permanent officers and directors in the fall.

With the help of other teenagers serving on its committees, the temporary board will conduct the business of forming a chartered youth organization by fall, and plan promotional activities to be held during the summer.

ADULT ADVISORY directors are Schwantz; Bruno Waara, Arlington High School principal; Thomas Thornton, executive secretary of the park district; Mrs. Richard Johnson, Arlington Heights Woman's Club; James Pinney of the Jaycees; and representing Junior Woman's Club youth committee, chairman Mrs. Donald Carrara, Mrs. Roger Ericson and Mrs. Elmore Lechelt. Gets $227,500 For Injuries

A former Arlington Heights resident severly injured in a construction accident in 1961 was awarded $227,500 damages last week as the result of a Circuit Court suit.

Robert Burns, 52, now a resident of Villa Park, suffered spinal, internal and leg injuries April 4, 1961, when a hoist fell 80 feet at the construction site of Faith, Hope and Charity Catholic Church in Winnetka.

Burns, a structural steel worker, was hospitalized for nearly a year, according to Rolland A. Franzen, 819 S. Beverly, Arlington Heights, attorney in the case.

"MR. BURNS is lucky to be alive," Franzen said. "The monetary award will never compensate him for his loss."

Defendants in the case before Judge Henry Deiringer were Henry Brothers Construction Co., Gateway Erectors, Inc., and Thomas Hoist Co.

The settlement was reached last Thursday while the selection of jurors was being made, Franzen said. (A

How to keep your money in two different places
(AND LIVE TO REGRET IT)

Some people think it doesn't matter where you keep your savings as long as you receive a high return. Some of these people may be penny-wise and pound-foolish.

People who have plans for their savings — like buying a house or car, sending the kids to college, or whatever — know that there's one type of financial institution that can act as their financial partner in carrying out their plans. That's a Full Service commercial bank like the Arlington Heights National Bank. We can lend money for practically any legitimate purpose — and lend it at rates generally lower than you'd find anywhere else.

To take advantage of this "financial partnership," just make us your financial headquarters for your checking and savings accounts and for all your loans. Get acquainted with at least one of the bank's officers so that you know where you stand financially right now.

When you need some extra money, borrow it from us instead of taking it out of your savings. Paying the loan back as promised will help you build your credit reputation.

When you're ready for a major financial move, you'll find we can help you with advice and, chances are, with a low cost loan. 'Little Foxes' Opens Tonight at Arlington

"Take us the foxes, the little foxes, that spoil the vines; for our vines have tender grapes."

Ruthlessly driving home the theme of the above Biblical quotation, playwright Lillian Hellman has personified a family of "little foxes" and has freed them in the Deep South, where they spoil not mere grapes, but everything they touch.

Result: Arlington High School's spring play, "The Little Foxes," the drama of civilized savagery to unfold tonight at 7:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

Following comedies "Ring Round the Moon" and "The Enchanted," "The Little Foxes" is a change of diet for Arlington High audiences.

"Though serious in content, the Hellman play is less complicated, expounding little message, except the moral lesson of seeing the immoral in action," stated director Douglas K. Murphy.

BEN AND OSCAR Hubbard, played by Claude LaRose Jr. and Richard A. Hawley, join with sister Regina, played by Suzanne Katovich, to establish a cotton mill in their Southern town. Regina is frustrated by husband Horace Giddens, played by Charles King, who refuses to put up a third of the money for the investment.

Oscar's son Leo, played by James Staahl, assists his father and uncle in their scheme by stealing money from Horace.

Victim of Hubbard cruelty is Birdie Hubbard, played by Mary Jane Heberling.

Not a Hubbard product is Alexandra Giddens, daughter of Regina and Horace, played by Karen Dobricka. In spite of her Hubbard parentage, Alexandra gains the strength to escape her environment from the efforts of her father and her devoted nurse, Addie, played by Arlington senior, Darlene Raupp.

SUPPLEMENTING the household is servant Cal, portrayed by the cast's only freshman, Douglas McDonald. Representing the Northern interests in the proposed mill is Jeff Huebner as William Marshall.

Author Lillian Hellman was represented on Broadway this season by "My Mother, My Father and Me." Currently showing in Paris is a translation of "The Little Foxes." A motion picture version of her recent play "Toys in the Attic" is in production.

"Another Part of the Forest," a 1946 product by Miss Hellman, chronicled the lives of Regina, Ben, Oscar, and Birdie as young people.

Serving with technical director Gayle Beckway are several student chairmen.

CHAIRMAN of stage crew is Walter Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meyer, 1205 N. Dunton. Assisting him are Alan Gamenthaler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gamenthaler, 503 N. Hickory; Sara Cummins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cummins, 26 S. Highland; and Kathy Katovich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Katovich, 728 N. Dunton, all of Arlington Heights.

Chairman of publicity is Eugene Good, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Good, 1236 N. Walnut. Assisting him with radio publicity is Jon Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Woods, 214 S. Belmont. Alan Massie, son of Mrs. Raymond Massie, 821 N. Chestnut, assisted with school publicity.

Property crew heads are Chris Carle, Darlene Kasl, and Jan Carlson. Chris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Carle, 18 S. Ridge; Darlene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Kasl; Jan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carlson, 1006 N. Dryden, all of Arlington Heights.

Cast member Suzanne Katovich designed the women's costumes for the play. Assisting with the construction of the costumes were Anne Pietrolonardo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baldassarre Pietrolonardo, 1600 N. Rand Road, Arlington Heights; and Sue Wroblewski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Wroblewski, 209 N. Derbyshire, Arlington Heights.

ROBERT K. JOHNSTON, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Johnston, 532 Banbury Road, designed the lighting for the show.

Original music for the show was composed by James Kilbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Kilbury, 1011 N. Illinois.

Tickets for tonight's 7:30 performance will be on sale at the door of the Arlington High Little Theatre. Tickets for Friday and Saturday performances will be on sale at the door in limited quantities.

Tickets may be bought in advance from cast and crew members or by calling the school's administrative office. (ACM

Set Hearing May 9 On Election Suit

A hearing on the merits of a writ of mandamus asking for a special election in Wheeling Township is scheduled for 10 a. m. next Thursday, May 9.

A group of township voters petitioned the courts in March to force Cook County Clerk Edward J. Barrett to order a special election to fill a justice of the peace vacancy caused by the November election of Walter P. Dahl of Arlington Heights to the Superior Court bench.

The May 9 arguments will be heard by Superior Court Judge Arthur Sullivan. The hearing has been continued several times because of conflicts in attorneys' schedules.

JOHN F. WHITE, 1026 N. Gibbons Avenue, Arlington Heights, attorney for the Wheeling Township Committee for a Special Election, said this week the committee still has "high hopes" of a positive outcome of the hearing.

The county clerk's office is maintaining it does not have funds to pay for a special election.

The committee reasons that state law demands the county clerk call for a special election to fill the vacancy.

The governing bodies of the four villages in Wheeling Township — Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Mount Prospect and Wheeling — have all adopted separate resolutions urging Barrett to call for the election.

Do not say, "Six miles are too far to run." Say, "Six miles IS too far to run."

In honor of Arlington Heights mothers, the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce is planning the distribution of 4,000 carnations on Friday and Saturday, May 10 and 11.

200 Jam Hearing on Expressway Route

4 Alternates Are Debated

An expressway in the right place can be an asset and a convenience; in the wrong location it is a gross detriment to planning.

So said President Robert Coffin of the village of Long Grove at a public hearing on four alternate proposed alignments of the Lake County portion of Illinois 53, held April 25 in the Countryside Fire Department station near Mundelein.

More than 200 people crammed the hall to hear spokesmen for various villages and homeowners associations discuss the advantages or "disastrous effects" of the various corridors sketched on maps for the six miles of divided four-lane controlled-access road, a link in the freeway system between Chicago and Madison.

"B," the route recommended by the Long Grove master plan, skirts Buffalo Grove, then swings far eastward through Prairie View, Vernon Hills and Indian Creek, veering west to the existing Illinois 83 at Diamond Lake.

"C" and "D" parallel Illinois 83 through Long Grove to north of Gilmer Road, then veer northwest to the intersection of Illinois 63 and 83.

"E" shoots almost straight north from Dundee and Wilke Roads, cutting through the west side of Long Grove.

COFFIN REPORTED the Lake County Regional Plan commission had raised doubts about the necessity of the expressway, but if it must be built, he asked that the Long Grove master plan be followed.

Vernon Township representatives countered that "E" would be more practical, economical and safe. Said John Hooper, engineer for Buffalo Grove: "We object to any alignment east of Arlington Heights Road."

The hearing was conducted by Richard Golderman of the Elgin office of the state highway department, who pointed out the east route would cost approximately $3,335,000 more in original outlay.

Speaking for the 55 home owners in Mardan Woods and Mardan Estates, Joseph Klemeyer said the west route would reduce values of the $40,000 to $60,000 homes in the subdivisions. "We do not pretend to be concerned about cost except to ourselves," he admitted.

ROBERT MORRIS, director of the Lake County Regional Plan Commission, pleaded for deferment of any decision until the preliminary comprehensive countywide thoroughfare plan is ready. The postponement was also recommended by the Ela Area Planning Board.

On the other hand, Melvin Amstetz, county highway superintendent, urged the improvement "be given early priority."

Roger Nusbaum, deputy chief state highway engineer, was called on to explain that the expressway is needed to alleviate congestion through Long Grove. "As homes are built, it becomes increasingly hard to find alignment acceptable to the public," he added.

And "improving an existing system brings as many complaints as establishing a new roadway," Golderman replied to suggestions that the expressway follow Route 12.

PRACTICALLY nobody wanted the expressway, although A. F. Wild said tentatively "Roads are necessary." Certainly nobody wants it near them.

Jack Schaum of Long Grove did offer a compromise suggestion — to arc "B" at Prairie View to return to Illinois 83 at 63.

All the statements were recorded and will be studied both in Springfield and in Washington before a right of way alignment is adopted officially by the state highway department. (B8

Democrats Launch Kennedy Campaign

Wheeling Township Democrats officially launched the 1964 Presidential campaign at a rally April 23 attended by 250 party volunteers.

Members of the Regular Democratic Organization and Regular Democratic Women's Club of Wheeling Township met at the VFW Hall in Arlington Heights to hear James Stavros, committeeman, announce:

"The purpose of our meeting is to launch our 1964 campaign for the re-election of President Kennedy. With your help and encouragement, we will set new records of Democratic voting in Wheeling Township."

SPEAKER FOR the rally was Mary Jane Youngholm of Hometown, who discussed "The Woman's Part in Politics."

"We should not wait until the candidates are on the slate in January to begin our campaign efforts," she said. "We must put politics in our life all year. Politics and good citizenship are everyday jobs and require more than part-time effort or interest."

Directing her comments especially at the women present, Mrs. Youngholm added: "Every woman must be civic-minded to get along in today's world. Behind every school board, PTA, church group, political organization, and successful man stands a woman!"

SPECIAL GUESTS of the meeting were John Jarecki, Assistant Attorney General of Illinois, and Jack Clark, former Democratic committeeman, both of Arlington Heights.

Officers of the two participating regular organizations were introduced by James Millay, president of the Democratic men's group.

A social hour with refreshments followed the regular meeting. (ACM

Big Change Noted In Sports Wear

by BILL HALLS
Staff Writer

Men's fashions have a habit of changing so imperceptibly that many of the latest styles are not revealed in their full splendor until years after actual introduction.

Men like it this way. For no matter how liberal a man may be about his politics or philosophy, his views on apparel are normally narrow in scope; conservative by tradition.

There is nothing more comfortable than a 20-year-old suit, especially if it is enjoying a new vogue among the college crowd, the ultimae gauge for experimental change in the fashion world of the American male.

Color is the newest mode. The reliable blue serge, and even the grey flannel are gradually giving ground to subtle olives, tans and pastels.

Cunning reds and oranges are finding their way into the standard blue, gray and black suits of the business world, but the fine threads of color are almost invisible except to the most discerning of observers.

Weskits, vests and ties are bearing the brunt of the color revolution. But the changes in the main garment—the suit—are slower and more subtle.

THE MEN OF the northwest suburbs view the new trends with bemused, but disciplined reactions, according to a local retailer.

"There's a lot of talk about light colors for the spring and summer," says James Svoboda of Svoboda and Sons Men's Wear, 12 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights. "But when the men come in, they still want dark colors."

Svoboda indicated that the dress of many suburbanites was dictated by jobs, especially among those who travel a great deal in their work.

"Most of my customers want something that will look appropriate on any occasion," continued Svoboda. "The 'continental look' has never become popular here. We don't get much call for the new . . . the 'sharpie stuff.'"

Svoboda said that high school boys were subject to fads, and quick changes. Many still wear peg pants, he said. The latest craze is white Levis.

"But most of the kids become more conservative when they get into college," he said. "They switch to the 'Ivy League' styles."

SVOBODA FEELS that the biggest changes have come in sports clothes. The Madras sports coat—a cotton plaid with variable designs and depth of color—has become popular, but mostly with the college crowd.

He said older men will put more color into sport shirts and golfing sweaters.

"Most of the men in this area are middle of the road," said Svoboda. "They're not as conservative as they are on the North Shore, but they are still restrained."

There is no indication yet that the famous two-button suit, made famous by President Kennedy, has made any inroads in the Northwest suburbs, said Svoboda.

"But then, most of our customers are Republicans," he laughed.

Here are some of Svoboda's observations on summer wear in the northwest suburbs:

Sport Coats: Conservative sport coats are popular with men who work in the suburbs. But most loop workers will wear dark suits, despite the inroads being made by light colors. The new Madras may become popular wear at the country club.

Shirts: More color in men's dress shirts. Various types of tab and button-down collars are becoming more popular. College boys prefer vertically stripped shirts.

Men's Suits: Mostly a blend of wool and dacron. Wool and tweeds are not as popular anymore. Men like the lighter weight year-around materials such as sharkskins or clear finish worsteds. The wash 'n' wear craze (some men swear by them) is dying out. This is primarily because the dacron and cotton materials are difficult to tailor. Silk suits are not popular among suburban men in this area, mostly because they are considered impractical.

Ties and Hose: The over-the-calf dress socks are becoming very popular, usually in plain colors. High school and college boys still prefer sweat socks. Striped ties are still the most popular. However, prints and other styles are slowly gaining popularity. We carry all kinds of ties, just in case.

Shoes: We don't handle men's shoes. But you don't see much summer stuff anymore.

Sweaters: The alpaca wool cardigans are very popular now, especially among the golfers. They are light weight and have a special stretch stitch which allows plenty of shoulder and arm room.

Svoboda does feel men are more fashion conscious then they were 10 years ago, but, although more men are doing their own shopping, many still have their wives do it for them.

"You know, one thing is funny," he concluded. "Once in awhile a man will go on vacation and purchase some of the high fashion sports coats, or other apparel. But they won't wear it around home. They'll just pack it away and wait for the next vacation to put it on again." (A14

ALPACA WOOL SWEATER, modeled by salesman Ralph Cropper of Svoboda and Sons Men's Wear, Arlington Heights, is becoming a must for avid golfers. The light weight, dom of movement, protection from chill, and stretch-stitch cardigan allows the golfer free- a variety of warm colors.

In Suburbia Today

Wylie Tells How to Tour and Be Happy

With summer travel plans reaching their peak, Philip Wylie, author of the best seller, "Triumph," and a globetrotter himself, explains "How To Be A Happy Tourist" in the May issue of SUBURBIA TODAY coming to you with the May 9 editions of Paddock Publications.

You won't feel a stranger for long, he says, if you make up your mind early to like 51 per cent of the people you meet. And remember, it's you who are the foreigner once you leave the old sod, so expect to make mistakes, and if you can laugh at your own blunders, you'll make friends with those who try to help you.

And then there's the remarkable story of Shaker Heights, Ohio. Today, it's a handsome town valued in the hundreds of millions, but when the Van Sweringen brothers bought it all 50 years ago, it was a gloomy stretch of brush and weeds and empty houses. Eugene Rachlis and John E. Margusee describe the imagination and sharp business sense that built America's "most spectacular suburb."

Why did a family of seven lose their lives when a fire broke out in a modern split-level with every room close to the ground?

And why did even the dog escape another time when a rambling old two-story house went up in flames in the dead of night?

Fire Chief Lewis Marshall explains the simple measures you can take to protect your family and prevent a fire from breaking out in the first place.

A HUNDRED acres of land, a stately colonial house built of handmade brick around 1704, Black Angus cattle and race horses — this is "Larkin's Hundred," the unusual suburban house for this month, located an hour from Washington, D.C.

A man (who admits he is the mousy type) sets out to "beat city hall" and its building code in order to put a back porch on his own house. Read his dramatic first-person story in "Getting a Variance Made a Man of Me."

You can have your garden and eat it, too. Suburbia Today's garden expert, John Brimer, believes that vegetables should be considered for their beauty as well as their usefulness — especially by gardeners who are pressed for space. Plant them in your flower garden as a pleasing bit of contrast, he advises, with flourishing examples.

MANY potential wine lovers are thwarted by the prospect of having to serve a lengthy apprenticeship before they can find their way around a wine list. A noted connoisseur comes to the rescue with a one-page course that will make the selection of wine a pleasure.

A treat for warm spring days — refreshing ice-cream recipes like Carnival Snow and Peach Ice Cream Supreme selected by food editor Melanie De Proft. With them, she offers an appetizer that can be kept in the freezer, warmed and served at the last minute, and an easy-to-prepare entree.

"What Do Young People in Your Town Find to Do After School Hours?" Suburbia Today, for a Round Table report, queried local papers, educators, parents, and children throughout the country to find out how their community handled the problem, and their answers will give you a yardstick to measure what is being done — or might be done — for the young ones you know.

IT'S BEACH time again and time to think about a new swimsuit. The new color this year is Voodoo Brown, a deep, rich shade that makes a dramatic contrast next to sleek tan skins. And there are five new silhouettes to brighten up the beach.

The cartoon feature, Suburbia — Any Day, deals with wifely blackmail tactics — how the hapless commuter pays for a tiny dab of lipstick on the collar or talking too freely in his sleep.

The news department, "Getting Around," reports this month about a birthday card exchanged 53 times in 26 years—a man who, by mistake, takes a dip in meat tenderizer — and a 12 x 6 foot mosaic built entirely by the church's own young people. (A14

Victor Surprised By Write-In Votes

"It's antiquated, and I didn't want it anyway."

Robert Link wasn't slamming the door in a salesman's face when he made this statement last week.

Link had just learned that he was elected as Schaumburg Township school trustee, although he hadn't campaigned for the position.

He received 18 write-in votes, enough to finish ahead of the other 40 Schaumburg Township residents who received write-ins.

The situation developed when no one filed for election to the position, leaving voters with a blank ballot.

Link was a member of the Schaumburg District 54 school board until this April. He did not run for re-election to the school board.

Link actually got the same number of write-ins as James J. Hamill, a successful candidate for the school board.

Hamill was ruled ineligible for trustee because of his election to the school board, where he now fills the seat formerly held by Link.

Link told a reporter he considers the trustee position as being out of date, since it duplicates responsibilities of the school board. (A-14

Editor to Speak At GOP Meeting

Raymond Moley, senior editor of Newsweek magazine and nationally syndicated newspaper columnist, will be in Chicago on Saturday, May 1, to address the luncheon session of the Illinois Republican Workshops' state convention.

The one-day meeting will be held at the Ascot Motel, 1100 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago. Reservations from the public are now being accepted.

Moley is the author of several books, the most recent of which is "The Republican Opportunity." His subject will be "The Role of the Volunteer in Politics.

The afternoon session will be devoted to seminars on political action, public relations and other topics.

Anyone who would like to attend may call Robert Reininga, president of the Wheeling Township Republican Workshop, at CL 9-3335. (ACM

Plan Music Celebration Next Week

National Music Week is celebrating its 40th year during the week of May 5-12. Purpose is to make every individual more music conscious; to recognize the value of music; and to remind us that we must have music in our everyday life to live in tune with the times.

This year's theme is "Let the World Rejoice with Music."

Modern Music Masters, the national music honor society, is cooperating with the National Federation of Music Clubs in sponsoring Music Week.

Chapter 565 of Modern Music Masters is established at Prospect High School, with Charles Jenks serving as faculty sponsor.

Students are selected for membership on an honor basis in both music and academic subjects and must engage in solo or ensemble work, giving "service through good music to the school, church and community."

Music Educators National Conference, music division of the National Education Association, announced this week they have received a grant of $1,380,000 from the Ford Foundation to increase the emphasis on the creative aspects of music in the schools over a six-year period. (ECM-EG

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

Members of the Arlington Acres Civic Association were treated to a special and timely meeting last Monday, the subject of which was gardening, specifically roses. The program was put on by Richard Lund of the Ortho Products Company, assisted by the association's vice president, Arvid Alvin, a professional landscaper. Attending members came away with a broader knowledge of rose culture and numerous gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenko, 440 S. Prindle, entertained her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Metish of Virginia, Minn., for two weeks, including the Easter holiday, and doubly enjoyed showing their guests around Chicago as they are newcomers to the area themselves. Besides the pleasure of seeing the Jenkos, the Metishes' trip afforded them the opportunity to visit his brother, Peter Metish of Joliet, and old time friends in Chicago.

MR. AND MRS. Al May, 509 S. Prindle, are home from a memorable week at the Nassau Beach Hotel in Nassau, looking like natives of that paradise. The Mays and their daughter, Janice, passed the days swimming and sunning on the beach and the evenings enjoying the native entertainment, a large part of which was calypso music played by alternating bands. One of the souvenirs gathered by Al is a bottle of run which he won at a beach party.

Best wishes for happy birthdays go to Charles and K. J. Scharf who celebrated April 26 and 27. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Scharf, 528 S. Prindle.

Miss Sedelia Ashcraft, 508 S. Waterman, spent Saturday in De Kalb attending a reunion of the group of nurses and teachers with whom she toured Europe last July. Sedelia is a community nurse in De Kalb County.

Congratulations on their April 26 wedding anniversary go to Mr. and Mrs. Duke Kruse, 2123 E. Park. They chose to celebrate the day quietly in the company of close friends

THE FRED Both family, 433 S. Phelps, believes in making the most of family celebrations. Fred's April 29 birthday was celebrated at dinner at Poppe's Alpine House at Lake Zurich on Saturday, where the Boths were joined by the Ed Boths of Elmhurst, celebrating their April 27 wedding anniversary. This was literally a family affair, the two women being sisters and the men being brothers.

Joanne Both's 14th birthday, April 27, was observed on Friday at a slumber and pizza party attended by Marcia Wells, Sue Johnson and Pat Smith. After brunch Saturday the girls headed for the Epson Stables in Palatine to spend the afternoon horseback riding.

Joanne is in a particularly jubilant mood since Wednesday when a group of which she is a member, the "Snappy 4-H'ers," rated "A" with an original skit at a 4-H competition at Kensington School.

AS PRESIDENT of the Kensington School PTA, Mrs. Charles Pipkin, 508 S. Prindle, spent three days last week attending the PTA State Convention in the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Houseguests at the James Glynn home, 2123 E. Grove, are Rennie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Reynolds of Sacramento, Calif., whose trip here was made by auto via Texas and New Orleans. Congratulations are extended to Grandpa Reynolds whose April 19 birthday was celebrated at a family dinner. The visitors plan to stay until Robin Glynn makes her First Holy Communion next Sunday.

Best wishes for many more happy birthdays go to Miss Jean Lorr, 2106 E. Park. Her birthday is April 27.

Cathy Oravetz's seventh birthday, April 23, was the occasion for a supper party for Sharon Conway, Kim Slusser, Nancy Tait, Kris and Karen Soukop, Marcia Roman, Gail Banks and Patsy Truelove. An added treat for Cathy came the following day when her brother, John, took her to see "Son of Flubber." Cathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oravetz, 533 S. Prindle.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Novy, 408 S. Phelps, spent an enjoyable weekend showing off Arlington Heights and otherwise entertaining close friends from Greendale, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Kaiser. The entertainment of the four Kaiser children was taken over by young Robert and Roberta Novy. (A

An ambitious group of young ladies got together over the weekend to earn money for their summer project, a Fourth of July float. The girls, who call themselves the Telestars, baked and sold cookies and cakes throughout the neighborhood. Members of the group include Rebecca McCubbin, Sandra and Cynthia Sheahan, Roxanne and Gail Vlcek, Linda Daulton and Wendy Bird. The girls plan to buy uniforms to match the float they will enter in the Greenbrier Fourth of July parade.

Returning recently from a vacation trip were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gundy and their year-old daughter, Karen. They visited Mrs. Gundy's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Edward B. Fischer in Piqua, Ohio. After an enjoyable visit and treating Karen to her first pony ride, the Gundys returned to 1931 N. Verde Drive, to spend the remainder of their vacation on yard improvement. Mr. Gundy is a coach at Lincoln Hall Junior High School in Lincolnwood.

THE SIX families which occupy Huron Court had a planting party Sunday. The group, including the John Bairds, Todd Brennans, George Turks, Ronald Usacks, Connie Duros and the Tony Reinerts, spent a good part of the day putting in a number of evergreens to give company to the one large tree which was planted last year.

Visiting Mrs. Vera Nordengren on Sunday was her son, Gerry, who is now living in Chicago. Also visiting the Nordengren residence at 2119 N. Verde Drive on Sunday were guests of Charles Nordengren, Ernie Callaghan of Elk Grove and Ken Wallendorf of Franklin Park, who arrived to help the Nordengrens with their spring planting. Mrs. Nordengren is retired from her job with Western Electric and her son, Charles, is with Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

BARBARA Isbell was hostess for a bridal kitchen shower for Patricia Trexler of Evanston on April 28. Guests included Mrs. Isbell's mother, Mrs. H. J. Marcin, and her sister, Elizabeth Marcin, of Evanston. Mr. Isbell was sent off to the Lincoln Park Zoo with the children, Sharon, 3, and Michael, 1. After the shower, Mrs. Isbell was treated to dinner at Old Orchard Country Club by her parents. The Isbells live at 2201 N. Verde Drive.

Hostess for a May 1 clothing demonstration party was Carol Ann Braun. Mrs. Braun served cake and coffee to the group, which included her mother, Mrs. G. Burns of Des Plaines, great-aunt, Mrs. G. Lempke of Park Ridge, Mrs. H. Bishop, a cousin from Lombard, and Park Ridge cousins, Mrs. L. Ehorn and Mrs. W. Schaeffer. Mrs. Verne Nelson was demonstrator for the party which was held at 2115 N. Verde Drive.

Cathy Ann Mikols, daughter of Gene and Marie Mikols of 2320 N. Lafayette, celebrated her eighth birthday April 22. Cathy Ann, her brothers, Thad, 12, and Gerard, 2, were entertained in the home of a friend in Chicago. (A

Building Ordinance Hearing Is Planned

A public hearing on a new Cook County building ordinance was set by the Cook County Board of Commissioners for Monday, May 27, in the county building's assembly room.

The massive document was turned over to commissioners at a meeting Tuesday for study.

The board Tuesday also passed an air pollution ordinance. The new code had been the subject of a number of public hearings.

MORE THAN 400 industrial firms will have to comply with the ordinance in the 360 square miles of unincorporated area under the county board's jurisdiction.

Commissioner Charles F. Chaplin, R-Northbrook, who had led opposition to some provisions of the ordinance, praised Commissioner George Dunne, D-Chicago, the board's finance chairman, for "bringing divergent interests together" on the matter.

County Building Commissioner Erwin Horwitz said a period of grace will be permitteed most of the 400 industrial firms affected by the air pollution ordinance passage.

Some plants will need as many as five years to convert their fuel systems to meet the requirements of the ordinance, he estimated.

NEW INDUSTRY, though, will have to conform to its standards immediately, he added.

The ordinance outlaws open burning and sets standards for smoke and other emissions from industry and private homes by measurement of the amount of light that is blocked out.

Commissioner Chaplin said he thought scientific advances wouldn't require this method of checking air pollution by "next year."

Enforcement of the ordinance still depends on legislation pending in the Illinois General Assembly. The ordinance is expected to be a model for many suburbs, some of which have been awaiting its passage before enacting air pollution laws of their own.

Commissioner Dunne called the ordinance one of the "toughest" of its kind. Public hearings were held over a six-month period prior to passage. (B8

County Board Urges IPAC Fund Passage

Thousands face hunger and hardship due to the failure of the Illinois Public Aid Commission to receive payments from the Illinois General Assembly, a resolution passed Tuesday by the Cook County Board of Commissioners states.

The board unanimously passed the resolution calling on the legislature to appropriate needed funds. Republicans in the legislature have proposed a $240 monthly limit for Aid to Dependent Children and general assistance recepients.

DEMOCRATS HAVE opposed the plan, and the two parties have not been able to reach a compromise. In the meantime, emergency appropriations requested by the IPAC have been delayed.

The IPAC had enough funds to cover May grants to only 60,000 of the 450,000 persons on relief throughout the state.

Commissioner George Dunne, D-Chicago, in moving for adoption of the resolution, said the immediate need was to "alleviate the problems of the destitute," and the legislature could later consider some of the ramifications of the total aid program.

Exceptional Children's Week Is Proclaimed

Explain Goals Of Observance

Governor Otto Kerner has proclaimed the week of May 5 to May 11 as Exceptional Children's Week In Illinois.

The governor encourages all citizens of the state to increase, in any way possible, their knowledge not only of the problem of exceptional children, but also the opportunities of assistance for them, and to endeavor to support and participate in these projects.

So spoke the governor as he was made aware of what the term exceptional children encompasses.

It was explained, "This program includes children who are deaf, blind, partially seeing, speech handicapped, mentally retarded, socially maladjusted and gifted, and it is the Illinois Council for Exceptional Children's desire to acquaint the citizens of Illinois with the wonderful work being done for and by these children."

AREA CITIZENS have taken heed of this request with Robert Stein of the Arlington Heights school system and Robert Leach of DuPage County acting as co-chairmen of the local Exceptional Children's Week Committee.

Area teachers and administrators in special education programs in public, parochial, and private schools and institutions, as well as organizations and agency representatives who comprise the membership of the Illinois Council for Exceptional Children, are vitally interested in prompting and implementing services and programs for these children.

The purpose of Exceptional Children Week as defined in a pamphlet issued by the committee is: "A challenge to build in the community a knowledge and understanding of and a continuing interest in exceptional children and youth to the end that citizens will be aroused to acceptance and action.

"A CHALLENGE to create in taxpayers a willingness and a determination to support and expand present programs.

"A challenge to induce in legislators a receptivity to progressive legislation.

"A challenge to develop among school administrators an appreciation of the social significance of the education of the handicapped, and a conviction of the value to the total school system of a full program of educational services to all exceptional children.

"A challenge to interest young people in preparing for careers in special education."

IN THE WORDS of Leonard A. Dobson, Illinois president of the Council for Exceptional Children, "In my opinion a more appropriate theme for the Week in Illinois could not have been chosen. Too often in the past the challenge of children and youth with special needs has concerned only those few persons who have worked directly with them.

"But, if these children are to develop to the limits of their capabilities the challenge must be accepted not only by those persons mentioned above but also by the public in general — by parents, by all school personnel, by all social and welfare agencies, by civic and religious organizations, and by local, state, and national governments.

"Probably the challenge has not been accepted by all because of a lack of knowledge and understanding of exceptional children. The activities planned for Exceptional Children's Week will provide an opportunity for the members of I.C.E.C. to increase the laymen's knowledge and understanding of exceptional children. Plan now! Involve many persons in the activities. Then they, too, can contribute to meeting the challenge." A14

Track Tax Defeated

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — An attempt to overturn an unfavorable vote on a proposed new tax on race track winnings was beaten down in the Illinois House last week.

Rep. Abner Mikva, D-Chicago, said his proposed 2½ per cent increase on the taxes against winning tickets would raise an additional $10 million a year for the state and he called the proposed tax "one of the most painless and least irritating taxes we could put on the residents of Illinois."

The House Agriculture Committee previously voted down Mikva's proposal, by a 31-1 vote. Mikva's attempt to overturn that decision sparked a bitter floor debate today, with the vote going against him 105-41.

"HORSE RACING is a sacred cow in this state," Mikva said. "It's much easier to put a tax on the housewife or on business, no matter how irate they get. There should be no sacred cows for revenue in Illinois."

Another supporter, Rep. Paul Elward, D-Chicago, pointed out that the proposal was supported by the state's Revenue Study Commission and said Illinois was low compared to other states.

Democratic floor leader Paul Powell of Vienna spearheaded the opposition, contendng that the measure would drive bettors away from the tracks.

"THEY'LL PLACE their bets with the bookies," Powell said. "When they do this the state gets no money; the track gets no money; only the bookies get the money."

Mikva challenged that statement, saying no bookie offers different odds than track odds.

"Taxes have nothing to do with bookies," he said.

The Powell-Mikva debate was a repeat of a similar verbal battle two years ago, when Mikva was unsuccessful on the same proposal. (A14

NORTH PALATINE

A good time was had by all when the Scouts of Mariner Troop 334 entertained 21 Scouts from Troop 146 of Park Ridge at a slumber party recently. The event was held in the home of their leader, Mrs. D. V. Sargol.

Brownie Troop 501 joined other troops of the area in entertaining their mothers at a tea April 21 in St. Theresa's School Hall. The girls displayed their craft items and troop scrapbook and presented a costumed skit explaining the Girl Scout Laws. Admission charge to the tea was a jar of baby food which were later delivered to the Misericordia Children's Home.

North Palatine Girl Scouts and their families joined in Scout ceremonies and a picnic outing at Deer Grove Forest Preserve Sunday afternoon, April 28. The event was opened with a song fest led by Cadette Scouts, and the flag ceremony. A period of game playing followed, led by Mariner Scouts.

The girls then separated into their troops and presented for their families special entertainment or ceremony. This was followed by a picnic supper together. The entire group then gathered around a bonfire for a Scouts Own presentation. Mrs. D. V. Sargol was chairman of the event. Her committee members were: Mrs. Thomas Bouffard, Mrs. Frank Chupich, and Mrs. C. B. Gowne.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE

Sixth grade Girl Scouts of Troop 78 participated in the flag ceremony at the May 1 meeting of the Parents' Club of Rupley School. Leader and co-leader of this troop are Mrs. Arthur Castle and Mrs. Arthur Dahl.

SOUTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Cooperation from the weatherman gave Intermediate Troop 708 a real fun overnight at Camp Pine April 27-28. Hiking to the nature center, scavenger hunts and outdoor games made hearty appetites for campfire-cooked meals. Mrs. J. Quigley, Mrs. G. Steffens and Mrs. G. McNeil, leaders; and Mrs. P. Rives, chaperoned. The girls surprised Mrs. Rives with two birthday cakes they had baked and decorated themselves.

Having completed First Aid badge, Troop 464 eighth graders are now working on Clothing Badge. April 29 they visited Randhurst to hear Mrs. Schwind, fashion coordinator at Wiebodt's. The previous week, the girls worked on their own clothing repair.

Completing the Red Cross First Aid course recently, Mrs. E. Schimek and Mrs. O. Williams, leaders of Troop 499, renewed their certificates. Mrs. J. Quigley, Troop 708, was awarded hers.

Brownies of Troop 876 have assembled 39 "One-a-Day" boxes to be delivered May 4 to the children's ward of Cook County Hospital, along with books, baby clothes and scrapbooks. Each box contains different activities for the seven days of the week, including crayons, puzzles, paper dolls and storybooks.

Recent farewell party for former leader Mrs. J. Thorn and daughter, Kathy, was held by Brownie Troop 56. This troop invested Cathy Mortell, Jill Kosinski and Anita Oswald April 29.

SOUTH ARLINGTON

A sincere thank you is extended to all "Do-Dads" for the work they did to improve Camp Pine.

At a Court of Awards held April 10, Mrs. R. Baptiste, leader of Troop 102, presented 21 Producer Badges and 3 First Aid Badges. First Class Rank was awarded Sue Henn and Renee Johnston, and Beth McDonald was invested.

April 21, eight Scouts from Troop 514 planted 150 red pine trees as a conservation project. E. Whiting chaperoned the outing.

Troop 355 hiked four miles in Deer Grove April 6, followed by a cookout of "pigs-in-blankets." On April 10 they added more mileage toward Foot Traveler badge by following nature trails through Morton Arboretum. Accompanying the group were Mrs. Dale Galloway, Mrs. K. Koeneke and Mrs. E. Ormsbee.

SOUTH PALATINE

Five girls from Troop 820 have been working on their Reader badge with Mrs. R. S. Barr, badge consultant. April 15 the girls took a trip into Chicago to visit the library, learning historical facts about the books there, some of which are signed by Queen Victoria. The girls also learned the catalog system and workings of a large library as they were given a complete guided tour.

Six girls from Troop 820 have been working on their Drawing and Painting Badge under the direction of Mrs. Robert Parker and on April 20 these girls visited the Chicago Art Institute. After viewing the Institute, the girls took their lunch to Grant Park and had a picnic. Leaders for Troop 820 are Mrs. Lethem and Mrs. Gieffers.

An all neighborhood campout was held April 26 and 27 for eight Intermediate troops in the South Palatine area. The campout consisted of an overnight at Camp Pine and about 160 girls attended. A Scout's Own service was conducted by Troop 788 with all troops participating in this evening service. Troop 506 was in charge of a flag ceremony for all campers.

ROLLING MEADOWS

"Be Prepared," quoted the color guard of Troop 17 when they were hastily summoned for a flag ceremony April 23. Central PTA, combined with Sandburg and Salk PTA's, presented their program, "The 12 Month School Year," at which Gail Foley, Linda Shorman, Susan Anderson, Jackie LaPoint and Carmen Rivera quickly gathered to present colors.

Troop 192 of Morton Grove joined Troop 17 for a cookout at Lake Avenue Woods April 20. The girls participated in an active program of cooking, singing, hiking and games, and fulfilled Second Class Badge requirements in firebuilding. Mrs. H. Sichow and Mrs. P. Benton, Troop 192, and Mrs. E. Anderson and Mrs. D. Reynolds, Troop 17, are the leaders.

Senior citizens of Thorsen's Nursing Home enjoyed post-Easter entertainment provided by Troop 633. The Scouts sang various songs, including "McNamara's Band," which had recently been performed at a potluck supper. Joining the kitchen band group were three Troop 17 Intermediates. Also featured were an Irish jig and lemme stick demonstration. Residents were presented with Easter eggs decorated at a Court of Honor meeting.

NORTHEAST ARLINGTON

Brownies of Troop 74 had a spring cookout at Camp Pine April 11. It was a beautiful day for camping and the girls enjoyed their first outing of the season. Each patrol made its own caper chart and patrol leaders assigned specific duties to each girl. The Brownies made "witch's brew" to have with the nosebag lunch they had brought from home. They played many games, went on a hunt and blazed a trail. Leaders of the troop, Mrs. Thomas Murdoch and Mrs. Thomas Ohlendorf, and Mrs. Thomas Smith accompanied the girls.

Brownie Troop 154 held a forest preserve cookout April 20. Mrs. K. McBride, Mrs. A. Wheaton, Mrs. R. Elwart and Mrs. F. Coleman agreed that despite a few wet feet, the outing was strictly for fun, since the girls have been working on requirements for their Fly-up next month. (B-9

Koshare Camp Fire Group invited guests to a swim party at the YMCA April 3. Taking the place of a regular meeting, the party was another step toward Fire Maker Rank. The group took part in the nature hike at Allison Woods April 20. After completing the hike they had a cook-out.

To He Cums Camp Fire group gave a party for Mrs. Paul Jacobsen's Morning Star Blue Bird group. Giving the party was a requirement toward Fire Makers Rank.

Beth Tikvah Congregation Will Break Ground Sunday

Members of the Beth Tikvah Congregation which serves the Jewish community in the Northwest suburbs will hold a groundbreaking ceremony Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at the site of the congregation's new synagogue.

The contemporary architecture building, including eight classrooms, a library and a study, will be built in the Hoffman Highlands Subdivision west of Hoffman Estates.

Officiating at the ceremony will be Rabbi Hillel Gamoran. Officials of more than a dozen northwest suburbs have been invited to participate in the ceremony.

Architect for the 11,000 square foot building is A. J. Del Bianco and Associates.

The congregation was organized five years ago with a handful of families and now boasts 200 member families.

The building will be located on a 10-acre tract of land and is expected to be completed in August.

Congregation officials hope to hold the first high holiday services in the new building this fall and also plan its completion for Jewish New Year services.

The congregation serves Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village, Hoffman Estates, Palatine, Mount Prospect, Hanover Park, Roselle, Schaumburg, Wheeling, Prospect Heights, Streamwood and other communities. (A-14

FeldmanWins-- Or Does He?

Melvin Feldman was the overwhelming choice of Hoffman Estates voters April 16 for police magistrate.

But hold back on the cheers and handshakes.

Feldman received somewhat of a surprise last week.

He learned that his victory may be for nought.

A new state law passed 12 days before the election eliminated police magistrate elections in villages with less than 10,000 population.

THE FEDERAL census of 1960 credited Hoffman Estates with 8,296 population. A special census recently taken showed a population of about 12,500.

The village clerk, Mrs. Laura Reedy, believes the new state law only recognizes the federal census.

Mrs. Reedy has asked for a ruling from Cook County Clerk Edward J. Barrett.

A SECOND problem is that state law specifies that the magistrate is elected for four years. Patrick J. Muldowney, the incumbent who voters turned down in electing Feldman, was elected in November, 1959.

It appears that Muldowney's term has another six months to run.

Mrs. Reedy has also asked for advice from Barrett on this question.

Who raised these two questions? You guessed it — Muldowney. (A-14

McHenry Lock Open to Boats

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — McHenry Lock on the Fox Chain-of-Lakes was scheduled to open May 1.

Francis S. Lorenz, director of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, said workmen were placing buoys marking the channels in the navigation area for the coming navigation season. The McHenry lock will be operated throughout the summer and fall from 5:30 a.m. to midnight daily. (A14

3 Villages Discuss Water Cooperation

Mount Prospect, Des Plaines, and Elk Grove Village have held a meeting to discuss a joint venture for a direct connection with the City of Chicago water system.

No conclusions were reached. A follow-up meeting will be held after two engineering reports on the feasibility of a hook-up are completed.

One report has been authorized by the DAMP Commission, which includes Des Plaines and Mount Prospect, but not Elk Grove. It is being compiled by Consoer, Townsend, and Associates, engineers.

THE OTHER report is being compiled for Elk Grove Village by Alvord, Burdick, and Howson, engineers.

Elk Grove was forced to authorize a separate report after requests that it be included in the DAMP study brought "completely unsatisfactory answers," according to Village President James Gibson.

Gibson reported that while no conclusions were reached, the villages were "definitely interested" in a joint venture. (A14

Mt. Prospect Takes Step Toward United

Mount Prospect last week annexed the Davey Tree Co. property at Algonquin and Dempster Roads, drawing it closer to the immense United Air Lines general offices and stewardess training school.

"My clients do not necessarily want to come into the village but I understand this piece of property is very important to the village for it to carry out its future plans in that area," an attorney for the company told the village board.

C. O. SCHLAVER, Mount Prospect village president, has stated that it's part of the village's "destiny" to expand south, and take United.

The ordinance provides for disannexation if a petition for a building permit is not granted.

Davey plans to enlarge part of its building. The attorney said if the zoning board does not give the variation his client wants, "we want out." (A14

A Matter of Taxes?

Pure Oil Opposes Township Park Plan

Pure Oil Co. has filed objections with Cook County Judge Thaddeus Adesko to being included in the proposed Schaumburg Township park district.

Both Schaumburg Village and Township recently filed park districts petitions, and included the massive Pure Oil in the northeast corner of the township.

Pure Oil has decided to throw its weight behind the village petition.

A SPOKESMAN said the objections to the township petition are as follows:

1. The petition filed by Schaumburg Village has priority and covers some of the same land.

2. The township failed to give proper notice.

3. The township failed to request a public hearing.

Probably the major reason, not stated by the Pure Oil spokesman is that the village does not plan to levy a tax for park district purposes, but the township does.

Judge Adesko is expected to disqualify one of the petitions at a hearing scheduled for next week.

"It seems to me we got there first," Jack Siegel, Schaumburg Village attorney, told the Herald. "I believe our petition is legal and valid, and I don't believe the township's is."

THE MOVEMENT for a park district has at times taken on the aspects of a three-ring circus.

Elk Grove Village residents originally announced plans for a district that would include the Pure Oil headquarters on Golf Road.

Upon hearing about Elk Grove's plans, both Schaumburg Village and the Township began passing petitions.

They filed first, forcing Elk Grove to redraw its petition, which now excludes any area in Schaumburg Township.

Two birthdays on succeeding days gave the Jack Bickford family a dual celebration. Honored were Nancy, 5, and Connie, 1. Their party at 1009 N. Race included Elizabeth, Margaret and Ann Harris, Diane Predick, Nancy Alice and Janet Sorensen, Jack Wallace and Kathy and Gail Bieder.

Marissa Rubenking, daughter of the Glen Rubenkings, 948 N. Fernandez, celebrated her eighth birthday with a dinner party Thursday. Her guests included Janet Pendleton, Dawn Bruhnke, Pam Munson, Barbara Raitt, Lynn Robertson and Sandy Vesecky. Sunday the Rubenkings spent the day in DeKalb with the Collin Nicholson family.

Recently, Barbara Rubenking and Lee Sechrist of Rolling Meadows were co-hostesses at a birthday party for Mrs. Debbie Parvin.

Other activities keeping the Rubenkings busy have been the appearance of their daughter, Marla, and Patty Wood, who danced at the pancake breakfast; Ridge School open house Tuesday, and guests this coming weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rubenking of Indianapolis, Glen's brother and his wife.

AT THE A. Charles Law home, 1021 N. Chicago, Kathy Carlson of Salem Street was Terri's guest for five days. Kathy joined the Laws for Easter dinner at the home of Mrs. Law's parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Volwiler of Lake Forest. The girls were especially interested in the Volwilers' recent trip to Australia, Tahiti, Fiji and other exotic South Sea vacation spots.

A quiet family party at 925 N. Harvard marked son Bob's becoming a teenager for the Robert Demmert family.

Two birthday parties and a special Raggedy Ann doll cake highlighted Margie Kay's fourth birthday. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kay, 1008 N. Kaspar, she enjoyed a neighborhood birthday party with Ricky Surette, Julie Jensen, Carol Broadfoot, Laura Sylvester, Deedie Egan, Debbie Wiegel, Noreen Ronayne and her brothers, Stevie and Larry. Sunday she was honored at a family party. Her great-grandmother, Mrs. Frances Piner, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Piner, all of Algonquin, grandmother, Mrs. Monica Kay of Chicago, and her godfather and family, the Chester Biels of Niles, helped her celebrate.

MICHAEL DOYLE, son of the Raymond Doyles, 828 N. Kaspar, celebrated his ninth birthday with a family party. Another Kaspar Street birthday was that of 2-year-old Stevie Ostrowski, son of the Thad Ostrowskis, 928 N. Kaspar. His cake was decorated with a special carousel. Joining him in singing "Happy Birthday" were Diane, Debbie and Paul, along with Mrs. Rose Heffernan of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Feld.

A surprise dinner party honored Harry Schuldt, 912 N. Fernandez, on his recent birthday. Dr. and Mrs. Paul Geisel and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilhusen of Rolling Meadows joined Ruth in congratulations. Roberta Schuldt, a past honored queen, spent three days in Chicago at a recent Job's Daughters' convention, and Mr. and Mrs. Schuldt attended the installation there of the Associate Grand Guardian for the State of Illinois, L. R. Baker, as his guests. (A

Congregational Church to Hold Cornerstone Rite

This Sunday the Congregational Church of Arlington Heights will hold a cornerstone laying ceremony at the site of the church's new first unit under construction at 1000 West Kirchoff Road.

After a brief worship service at 10 a.m. at South Junior High School, the congregation and church school will gather at the site for the service of the cornerstone laying.

All friends of the church are invited to the ceremony.

THE BUILDING under construction is the first unit of the total plan of the church's building program and will be the Christian education facility after the permanent sanctuary is completed.

For the immediate future, it will provide both worship and church school facilities for its 210 adult members and 140 children.

The full basement will provide space for the fellowship needs of the church and will include a kitchen.

Ample parking space will be available on the church grounds.

The groundbreaking ceremony for the new first unit was held last November and completion of the project is expected near the first part of July, with formal dedication services slated for the fall.

WALTER KROEBER and Associates, Arlington Heights, are the architects for the building which is of contemporary styling.

Underwritten by a successful Stewardship Emphasis Program, the cost of present unit is $108,000.

Rev. Rowland W. Koch, pastor of the church, will lead the service Sunday. Members of the building committee are Carl Crumrine, chairman, Lloyd Dobricka, John Gross, Carl Vigstedt, and Neil Werner. (A

Eagle Patrol Wins Camporee Honors

The Eagle Patrol of Mount Prospect's Boy Scout Troop 156 was judged best of 93 patrols registered at last weekend's Spring Camporee of the Blackhawk District, Northwest Suburban Council.

The winning patrol, led by John Ehrhardt, took top honors in a series of tests designed to demonstrate each unit's proficiency in various Scout crafts.

Wayne Ehrhardt, John's father, is Scoutmaster of Troop 156, sponsored by St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

A RECORD attendance of 972 Scouts and adult leaders was announced by Camporee chairman Edward R. "Ray" Krasnesky, Mount Prospect, who stated it was the largest such event staged by any Scout district in Region 7, composed of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

The three-day outing was held at the Lakota Reservation, eight miles west of Woodstock on U.S. Highway 14.

Runner-up patrols, patrol leaders and their sponsors were: Hawk Patrol of Troop 7, led by Scottt Huchens, and Buffalo Patrol of Troop 7, led by Allen Johnson, Arlington Heights Lions Club; Rattlesnake Patrol of Troop 153, Gregory Kocher, Community Presbyterian Church, Mount Prospect; and Eagle Patrol of Troop 157, Ted Krasnesky, Hatlen Heights Civic Association.

THE DISTRICT Commissioners' Award for the best campsite went to Troop 155, sponsored by the Lincoln PTA, Mount Prospect. William T. Pope is Scoutmaster. A total of 28 troops competed for the honor.

Krasnesky said 23 patrols received blue ribbons for their skill. The red ribbons of second place went to 47 patrols, followed by 23 third place ribbons. (ACM

Nab Youth In Gas Theft

A 15-year-old Wheeling youth was nabbed last Friday while in the act of siphoning gasoline from an auto parked at the Beverly Lanes Bowling Alley in Arlpington Heights.

Two companions, aged 14 and 16, fled on foot when the proprietor of the bowling alley appeared on the scene.

THE WHEELING boy admitted to police the "borrowing" of his mother's car without her knowledge, and the subsequent misfortune of running out of gas.

Lack of funds forced him to try to steal gasoline, the boy said. (ACM

Early Marriage Stifling, Anthropologist Declares

MADISON, (UPI)—Early marriages are turning potential creators of new ideas into "Maintainence men" who keep the system functioning, but never introduce ideas, anthropologist Margaret Mead said Monday.

"Girls want to get married before men can explore all careers, and after marriage children anchor couples," Dr. Mead told a University of Wisconsin audience.

"Father is becoming so domesticated that he turns down a good job offer if he would have to move and pull Johnny out of the third grade."

THE YOUTHFUL marriages also are changing social patterns by returning to narrow marriages between similar classes and interest groups, according to Dr. Mead. Since parents are subsidizing so many marriages, they have more to say in their children's marriage partners, she explained.

While persons are being married at earlier ages, she said, life expectancy now is greater than ever.

"Modern obstetrics allow women to bear children much later in life, yet a woman is an old maid at age 24," she said.

THE NOTED anthropologist said the threat of nuclear disaster is one reason why young people are going into early marriage and seeking momentary pleasures.

"Never before has the world faced the possibility of complete annihilation," she said. "There is an enormous difference between the fear that one's own region will go down — such as in Greece or Rome — and the fear that everyone will disappear." (B8

Church to Hold Family Retreat

Lutheran Church of the Cross in Arlington Heights will hold its first Retreat for Family Renawal at Camp Augustana, Lake Geneva, Wis., on Sunday, May 5.

The congregation is preparing to move into its first church building and the church council decided that a re-evaluation of the congregation's place in the community and its place in the world wide church could be accomplished by such a retreat.

The retreat will begin at 8:30 a.m. with the worship service and be concluded at 3:45 p.m. by a service of Holy Communion.

The Rev. Robert Van Deusen, representative of the National Lutheran Council in Congress for the work of aiding in social action legislation, will be present to guide the retreat.

Dr. Henry Hokenson, treasurer of the Board of American Missions of the Lutheran Church in America, will lead the congregation worship at Pioneer Park at 8:30 and 11 a.m. in the absence of Pastor Bruce Benander, who will attend the retreat.

Camp Augustana, located on the north shore of Lake Geneva, is the church camp of the Illinois Synod of the Lutheran Church in America.

The Lutheran Church women will enjoy a mother-daughter banquet next Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Mount Prospect. All ladies of the congregation are invited together with their mothers, daughters and friends.

Reservations must be made by Monday with Mrs. Gladys Tesmer, HE 7-3854.

by Robert E. Hood, Assistant Farm Adviser

The farm program for wheat during the past 30 years has been the result of compromises between differing philosophies.

One philosophy aims at greater freedom for the individual. Those who support this approach would set government price supports at modest levels and make all income-support programs voluntary for farmers. They assume that a "free" agriculture can adjust to changing conditions in a more desirable manner than one that is "controlled."

Those who support the other philosophy believe that higher farm incomes and more satisfactory living can be achieved by controls in use of resources and by quotas and allotments on marketing of farm products. Programs based on this approach place increased power in the hands of government.

The choices in the coming wheat referendum on May 21 represent both philosophies. If producers vote yes, there will be strict government regulation of production and marketing. If they vote no, production and marketing will be relatively free of government control unless Congress passes additional legislation.

The vote in the forthcoming referendum will not settle the issue of wheat legislation. It will be determined by action of Congress, and each legislative session will consider the problem anew.

The issues are political as well as economic. They concern the struggle for power and influence as well as the rules under which farmers will operate. In this sense, the vote in the forthcoming referendum will indeed have far-reaching consequences.

The extension staff of the University of Illinois has prepared a book of materials "The 1963 Wheat Referendum." Copies of the booklet are available in our office. The information will help provide a background to understanding of the wheat situation and the referendum.

Several 4-H clubs have recently been organized for suburban young people. Other clubs can be organized in any neighborhood that wants a "Learn by Doing" program for their young people. 4-H projects and activities are designed to be of interest to young men and women regardless of where they live. Maremont Dismissal Stirs Public Aid Controversy

by UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The Illinois Public Aid Commission's lengthy battle with a stalemated legislature reached a new high Tuesday with the ouster of IPAC Chairman Arnold Maremont.

The annulment of last week's vote to confirm Maremont's appointment as chairman of the IPAC came after the Chicago millionaire had, earlier this week, accused Illinois Senators of race bias in their attitude towards public aid.

Still defiant, Maremont said shortly after his ouster that "This fight hasn't ended for me."

AT A CROWDED news conference in his executive suite in Chicago, he said "I will be just as vigilant and vocal as a citizen."

"The Illinois Senate Republicans have decided without giving me a hearing to deconfirm me," Maremont said. "Their action represents a danger for the future of Illinois government, but this is not at issue.

"Nor is Arnold Maremont the issue," he said. "While the Senate Republicans clamored for the ouster of one man, the real heart of the matter has been overlooked.

"The issue is nearly a half-million people on public aid in the state of Illinois and what will happen to them" he asserted. "The speed with which the Senate has acted over mere words should be provided to apply money for May relief checks," Maremont said.

IT WAS IN the same room that Maremont last week got himself in trouble at another news conference. Then, one day after he was confirmed by the state Senate, Maremont charged that some GOP Senators were "anti-Negro."

This infuriated the Senate, which moved to undo the confirmation.

The Senate had erupted into bitter condemnation of Maremont after members learned of statements made in last weeks' news conference.

Sen Dwight Friedrich, R-Centralia, waved a copy of a news story containing Maremont's statements and said, "If Maremont made this statement, he is an unmitigated liar."

"THIS MAN is not the kind of man who should have any authority," he added.

Sen. Hudson Sours, R-Peoria, said he had attended all the Republican caucuses concerning an emergency appropriation to the IPAC and "at no time was there any statement made that Maremont apparently based his statement on."

Sen. Paul Broyles, R-Mt. Vernon, said "This man is more than a do-gooder. He absolutely has his head in the clouds."

Democrats joined their Republican colleagues. Sen. William Lyons, D-Gillespie, said, "I resent the statements he has made intimidating the Republican party. I think he is wrong. I think it should be corrected."

MEANWHILE the IPAC had stopped writing checks to relief recipients.

A spokesman said the IPAC ran out of money after writing checks for recipients who get their payments during the first three days of each month.

"We'll fall a day behind now for every day that the legislature fails to appropriate the money," the spokesman said.

Tuesday the Illinois House tried once again to break the six-week old deadlock over the emergency appropriation by passing two bills calling for $47.1 million.

THE HOUSE Bills were passed without limits on individual payments demanded by Republicans. However, Senate Republicans are expected to amend them to include such limits.

The IPAC's controversial birth control policy remained an issue.

A House committee on public aid was told Tuesday that the State of Illinois would "aid and abet" acts contrary to public policy if it permitted the IPAC to continue distributing contraceptive devices and information.

A Lawrenceville lawyer, speaking in favor of a Bill that would prohibit the IPAC from dispensing the devices, said persons would be removed from welfare rolls "but the state would be put in the business of immorality."

THE IPAC this month started a policy of distributing birth control information and devices to married women and mothers. The House Bill heard Tuesday would curtail this program to include only married women living with their husbands.

Arthur J. Hessburg said the Bill would save tax dollars and curb illegitimacy "but the real evil is low morals."

He said the state would be embarking on a program to "compound the problem. It would encourage illicit relationships. The state would be aiding and abetting acts contrary to public policies."

MAREMONT was to have appeared before the committee but he postponed his showing one week.

Rev. Scott Reed, Chicago, who also appeared for the Bill, said there would not be any "great percentage" of women who would follow a birth control program.

Describing himself as a former welfare worker on Chicago's south side, Rev. Reed said women he had counseled indicated they "wouldn't be bothered" by birth control methods.

He said they were aware of the birth control methods but weren't aware of the consequences of immoral benavior.

Help 'Little Man,' Meek Tells Chains

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Joseph T. Meek, president of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association, Tuesday urged the big chain stores to help the small retailer survive.

Crossroads and small town merchants will be dead within 10 years, Meek estimated, unless they are told what is being done to them "by big city-dictated legislators."

Speaking at the annual convention of the Public Relations Association of Chain Store Councils, Meek called on chain store executives to establish a workable, informative contact with the retailer in the small community.

The death of the little store is "certain unless it is told of the threats to its existence and given full opportunity to utilize its yet powerful political strength to permit a retention of wiry, adaptable elasticity which alone can save it," Meek said in a speech prepared for delivery.

MEEK SAID some industry observers believe the small town store is "suffering a natural economic death due to big city migration, the automobile, superhighways and lack of know-how."

"It may be," he said, "But I believe most of them are being strangled to death by being asked to support all these social experiments which sound so good, may be good, but cost too much for littleness to bear."

Meek said the "Little Fellow" needs to know the effect on him of such things as federal minimum wage laws, Social Security Act revisions, welfare needs and new taxes.

"LITTLENESS is worth saving as a genuine contribution to the nation's sales volume and economic strength," Meek said.

"Properly informed and urged, it can marshal the political strength which will save all our hides from being tanned, save America from being priced out of our domestic markets as, even today, we are being priced out of our world markets," he said. (A-14

Elk Grove Drafts New Zoning Law

A recently appointed Elk Grove Village zoning commission will begin this week to consider a new comprehensive ordinance that calls for upgrading and tighter controls in the village.

The commission will consider a new 100-page ordinance prepared by three members of the zoning board.

The old ordinance is considered to be inadequate to meet the needs of the rapidly expanding municipality.

The zoning board members have recommended an increase in lot size for single residential districts from 6,000 to 7,500 square feet, and have called for tighter control over the development of industry and apartments in the village.

Five committees, consisting of zoning commission members, will make recommendations to the commission as a whole regarding each section of the proposed ordinance.

She noted state and national organizations are important in helping to achieve the PTA "Quest for Quality," the theme of the convention.

"By pooling our interests and our talents with other parents, teachers, and citizens in other areas, we can achieve our quest for quality for childfen and youth," she said.

"Our efforts, our visions, and our faith help us to achieve our quest for quality,' she stressed.

Urge County to Apply Brakes on Apartments

Simon Attends Area Conference

Members of the Northwest Municipal Conference voted unanimously last week to approve a resolution asking the Cook County Board of Commissioners and Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals to reconsider their approach to zoning for apartments.

Suburban villages and school districts have expressed concern over the tendency of the county boards to rezone unincorporated properties for apartments.

A particular area of concern recently has been county approval of a rash of apartment units south of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

The resolution, passed at the Conference meeting April 24, asked the county bodies to "reconsider policies" toward apartment zoning. It also sought a joint meeting of county and suburban officials to discuss "cooperation in the public interest."

SEYMOUR SIMON, president of the county board, appeared at the conference meeting and said he was not always in agreement with apartment projects okayed by the county.

Village President John G. Woods of Arlington Heights told Simon the county's endorsement of 43 acres of multiple units at Busse Road and Dempster Street was especially unsettling to nearby communities.

Woods pointed out that the county "started the trend months ago" by zoning to multiple 17 acres at Busse and Algonquin Roads and 30 acres adjacent to Waycinden Park Subdivision in Des Plaines.

"At the time, these areas were cornfields unrelated to anything," Woods said. He granted the rezonings took place prior to Simon's election to the county board last November.

COMMENTING on the concerted action through the Conference, Mayor John J. Woods of Rolling Meadows expressed great concern for the school districts if the apartment building continues unabated.

"I feel the county board should concern itself with the effects of apartment zoning on the school districts," he said. "This is what we are all concerned with. If there is too great a concentration of large apartments, providing for families with a number of children, this will create an additional load on the school districts."

Simon acknowledged the county board's interest in meeting with suburban leaders. Such a meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, May 8, in the Arlington Heights municipal building.

THE COUNTY chief said he hoped Willard Pedrick, a Northwestern University law professor appointed as chairman of the county zoning board, would provide a "different approach" to apartment zoning.

"Possibly the May 8 meeting will lead to creation of the 'Arlington Heights Manifesto' in regard to apartments," Simon quipped. (B-9

In Unincorporated Areas

County Board Hikes Liquor License Fees

The Cook County Board of Commissioners Tuesday raised liquor license fees for taverns lying in unincorporated areas of the county from a $400 to $500 annual fee.

The resolution was passed over some objections registered by Commissioner Christ A. Jensen, D-Chicago, who suggested the alternative of raising county marriage license fees from $5 to $10.

An additional charge of $350 was also passed for late hour licenses which would permit tavern operators to stay open until 2 a.m. on weekdays.

THE WEEKEND closing of 2 a.m. Sunday was set for all licenses. Weekday hours for regular license holders was established at 1 a.m. The roadhouse and amusement fee was also elevated from $50 to $100.

County Board President Seymour Simon said the charges are "conservative" when compared with surrounding municipalities. He cited Arlington Heights' liquor license fee as being $1,000; Barrington, $750; Des Plaines, $800 to $1,000; Elk Grove Village, $1,000; Hoffman Estates, $650 to $850, and Rolling Meadows, $750 to $1,000.

Commissioner Charles F. Chaplin, R-Northbrook, said he thought the fees were reasonable. "We don't want the fees to be so prohibitive that tavern owners will want to be annexed to surrounding municipalities since we also get their sales tax revenue," he commented.

THE FEES were last raised in 1947 from $200 to $400. The resolution was introduced by Commissioner George Dunne, D-Chicago, chairman of the board's finance committee.

Although Commissioner Jensen expressed reservations about hiking the liquor license fees, he voted with the board to pass the resolution, and it was unanimously adopted.

105 Children Die Of Lead Poisoning

CHICAGO (UPI) — Of the 980 cases of child poisonings reported and treated at Cook County Hospital last year, 105 were caused by lead poisoning, the superintendent of the Children's Hospital said Tuesday.

Dr. Rowena Brown said most of the lead poisoning cases occurred in children 4-years-old and under. "There are more deaths from lead poisoning than any other kind," she said. "Most of the cases arise from children eating peeling plaster and paint but some are from inhalation of lead fumes."

Dr. Joseph R. Christian, chairman of the Poison Control Program of Chicago, said lead poisoning accounts for only four per cent of all child poisonings in the city but 73 per cent of poisoning deaths.

Cook County Hospital "had more cases of lead poisoning reported than any other hospital in the country," said Mrs. Brown.

THIS WAS because of social and economic conditions such as parental supervision and slum housing, she said.

"Lead based paint is more likely to be peeling off the walls and woodwork in slum dwellings," she said, "and children have a natural inclination to put anything in their mouths."

Most of the dwellings now classified as slum residences were built years ago when lead-based paint was more common for interior decorating than it is today. Heavily-leaded paints are so expensive today that they are rarely used in dwelling interiors.

The frequency of lead poisoning "greatly increases" in the summer, she said, when children are playing in the hot sun.

"ONCE LEAD is in the body, the sun's vitamins help boost its activity in getting into the blood stream and to the brain. July and August are the most critical months," she said.

Small doses of lead over a long period of time can be just as deadly as one massive dose because the lead builds up in the bones until its reaches deadly proportions.

For this reason, a mother who sees her child eating plaster or paint should take him to a hospital immediately.

"A mother has no way of knowing how long the child has been eating plaster," she said. "But a urine test can quickly determine if the child needs treatment or hospitalization."

Walsh Resigns

Irving Robbin Is Chamber President

Irving Robbin, partner at Persin and Robbin Jewelers, 24 S. Dunton Ave., was elected president of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.

He succeeds John J. Walsh Jr., owner of the Northwest Firestone Store, 630 W. Northwest Highway, who resigned effective May 1 because of increased demands on his time.

Walsh was elected to the village board of trustees April 16 and will be officially seated Monday night.

ROBBIN HAS been serving as the Chamber's vice president. Elevated from the board of directors to fill the vice presidency was George W. Kaucher, general manager of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Robbin, 39, is an 18-year veteran of the jewelry business. He opened the Dunton Court store in September, 1959.

"We're looking forward to bigger and better things for Arlington Heights," he told the Herald. "The Chamber will continue to be 'progressive' and conscious of its responsibility to the community."

ROBBIN AND HIS wife, Janet, are the parents of two daughters, Karen, 15, and Sheryl, 11.

The new Chamber president said he considered Walsh's election to "a position of great responsibility in the community" as a real tribute to the calibre of Arlington Heights businessmen. (A

All for the sweet cause of charity.

Oppose New Zoning Rights for Schools

The Rolling Meadows city council has filed objections to bills before the Illinois General Assembly that would give school districts the right to intervene in zoning decisions of municipalities.

The city officials said they favor the appearance and testimony of school officials, but do not favor a school district having the right to challenge a municipal decision in court.

"The city council is better able to determine what zoning uses are most desirable for a proper and well balanced development of the city," the objection reads.

Bernard Peskin, one of the area representatives, introduced the bills, House Bills 99-100. (A14

Palatine Band's History Goes Back to 1875

by JOAN LORENSON

The ice cream social and penny candy may be material for the oldtime scrapbook but the summer evening band concert remains part of suburban youngsters' growing up.

Palatine Northwest Vommunity Band, which has a history going back to 1875, gives summer concerts Friday evenings at the Palatine Community Park.

Band members observe the sturdy tradition of playing in rain or shine. However, they avoid the sore feet of their predecessors who marched in the Memorial Day and Fourth of July parades by playing on a red-and-yellow bandwagon pulled by a truck.

Some other changes have taken place. Females have entered the band since it was revived in 1958 after being dormant since Depression Days. The name has changed from the original Palatine Military Band and then Palatine Band to Palatine Northwest Community Band—indicating a broadening of scope.

THE PALATINE Military Band, organized by J. H. Schnierding, practiced in Knickrene's cabinet shop in the village. Later they used quarters over Harmening's Store and Hunneberg's Hall. The present band practices for one and a half hours weekly at Prospect or Forest View High Schools. Members come from Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, and Des Plaines as well as from Palatine.

When Robert Eppley, then village manager of Palatine, resurrected the band in 1958, he patterned the caps after those of old—black and white leather with nibs like firemen's caps. Unable to afford the uniforms, the members played with the caps, loop string ties, red suspenders with white shirts and dark trousers or skirts. Later the band adopted the uniforms patterned after those of the old military band.

The old-fashioned, topless bandwagon was made by Bud Garrod at this time.

BECAUSE the Palatine band is an amateur one and not for profit, money poses somewhat of a problem. The Palatine Park District pays the band $300 and the village matches the sum. The director is paid for his work.

Harry Schoppe, Palatine businessman and baritone trombonist in the original band, recalled, "The boys didn't make money but they tried to collect enough to meet their expenses getting to and from picnics where they played." They played for the Schaumburg Settlers Picnic and the Lake County Sailors Reunion. When the band got in a real financial problem Schoppe and his brother often helped out from their own pockets.

Mainly an adult group, the band invites outstanding high school musicians to play with the group to fill in sections, said Director Fred Elliot, 703 Crestwood Lane, Mount Prospect.

The youngest member of the Palatine Military Band was a cornet player, Adolph Kuntze, who still wore knee pants, recalled Schoppe.

"These people are serious and there are some talented members," said Elliot in describing the band. A few members play professionally but all have had musical training unlike the old band where "everyone just picked it up since every town had a band."

SCHOPPE remembers the old band had its dedicated members. He reminisces that one snare drummer kept playing though his music score showed 15 rests. When the leader questioned why he continued to play, his comment was, "I'm not tired."

The band plays on a year-round basis, giving concerts for civic organizations and playing in shopping centers.

Director Elliott is a graduate of Michigan State University with master's degree, and is director of bands at Forest View High School.

He took the job of directing when Edward Voltz, band director since 1958, was not able to continue. Voltz was director of bands at Prospect High School.

The day of the band in every town may be gone but Palatine Northwest Community Band under Elliot's direction is keeping the tradition for the Northwest suburbs. (A14

Lyon-Healy Opens Store at Randhurst

Lyon-Healy's new store in Randhurst Center opens Thursday, May 2, to serve all the various musical needs of the northwest suburban area. The new store replaces Lyon-Healy's smaller organ, piano, hi-fi-TV store at 708 E. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights, which was closed Wednesday.

A complete range of musical merchandise will now be offered by Lyon-Healy: from radios and records to hi-fi and TV; from sheet music to pianos, organs and all musical instruments and accessories; from music teaching supplies to music room furnishings.

In addition, music education studios will be in operation in the future on the lower level.

Manager of the store will be Will E. Wais, 744 Dempster, Mount Prospect, who has managed the Arlington Heights store since it opened in September of 1960.

Transferring from that store to Randhurst with Will Wais will be salesmen Charles Millhouser, Joe Gallagher and Bill Mullan; Marge Eisentraut, secretary; and organ teachers Betty Talbot, Evie Weith Ossetti and Carol Karnatz.

ONE OF Lyon-Healy's 13 music stores in the Chicago area, Randhurst is the 99-year-old music firm's ninth new store in the last nine years. With the opening of this store, Lyon-Healy rounds out the current phase of its expansion program, in line with the company's policy of serving the ever-decentralizing population with stores strategically located in major shopping centers and near expressways in the growing suburban areas.

Lines of merchandise carried by the store include the full line of Hammond Organs and a broad selection of famous-name pianos, including Steinway, Chickering, Everett, George Steck and Lyon-Healy. From time to time, as available, excellent values in traded-in used pianos and organs will also be offered.

Stereo hi-fi brands will include Fisher, Pilot, Electrohome and Curtis Mathes. TV by Electrohome and Curtis Mathes will be offered, and small radios and phonographs by Panasonic, GE, Zenith, Sony, KLH, VS and others.

A very large selection of LP mono and stereo records will be on convenient self-selection display, with prompt special order service available from the company's Loop store.

SHEET MUSIC of leading domestic and foreign publishers will be offered in an extensive selection for piano, organ, vocal, choral and instrumental. All of it will be on convenient new self-selection shelves and browser boxes, with prompt special order service available from the world's largest selection of sheet music at Lyon-Healy's Loop store. Music literature and books will likewise be stocked at Randhurst.

Guitars by Gibson, Martin and Fender will be offered, along with band instruments by Conn, Selmer, Olds, Leblanc and Armstrong. Instrument accessories and music teachers' supplies will also be available.

Music room accessories such as piano and organ lamps, benches, bench pads, sheet music cabinets and record cabinets will be stocked. (Rh

Famed Organist To Play May 10

Dee Fisher, the organist whose "Fun with Music" program is famous throughout the country, will appear as soloist on the Wurlitzer organ in a "pop" concert at 8:30 p.m. Friday, May 10, at the Northwest Suburban YMCA, 300 Northwest Hwy., Des Plaines.

The Halray Music Studio of Des Plaines is sponsoring the show.

Because of limited seating facilities, persons are asked to stop in at the Halray Music Studio, 5 N. Broadway, Des Plaines, or call 824-4161 for reservations. Everyone is welcome and there is no charge for tickets.

FISHER, a popular entertainer and TV star on the West Coast, has discovered in his numerous engagements that organ music can bring fun into the home.

He will show the versatility of the modern organ and the special percussion effects which can be achieved even by the amateur organist. He will also use the Wurlitzer Side Man in his show.

Fisher believes that the modern organ, which is primarily an instrument for use in the home and for simplified playing, can be the center of entertainment for any family and their friends.

Famous Disneyland Park is Fisher's current residence. He is official organist there, giving daily concerts. He has concertized throughout the United States and appeared on numerous radio and TV shows. He formerly had his own TV show in Stockton, Calif. (B9

The Spinsters

Of the estimated 18 million unmarried persons in the United States over 35 years of age, 13 million are women.

Airmen's Band to Play at Scout Fete

The Continental Air Command Band of the United States Air Force will perform during both days of this year's Scout-O-Rama to be held on the afternoons of May 25 and 26.

For more than 18 years the band has played to millions of listeners in parades, at state fairs, and in military reviews from Maine to California.

In recent years the band has been given honor position in parades in New York and other cities honoring American and foreign notables.

THE BAND has played for such personages as Queen Elizabeth of England, Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, Prime Minister Nehru of India, the Shah of Iran, Premier Ben Gurion of Israel, and General Douglas MacArthur.

Band leader is Chief Warrant Officer Nicholas J. Azzolina of Boca Raton, Fla., who has a "family style" tradition of musical experience. His father, Chief Warrant Officer Philip J. Azzolina, retired from the Air Force in 1952 with 32 years as a military bandmaster. A brother, Lt. Col. Mark S. Azzolina, is director of the North American Defense Command Band.

Azzolina, a musician since age 14, majored in music education at the University of Miami, and as a civilian played alto saxophone with Frankie Carle, Carmen Cavallero, Joe Venuti, Tommy Reynolds, Blue Barron, Lee Riesman and Lee Castle Bands. He led his own orchestra in Miami Beach from 1946 to 1949. (B-8

Public Employee Total Is Near Half Million

CHICAGO, (UPI) — Public employes in Illinois could constitute a city four times the population of Rockford — Illinois' second largest city.

Illinois' 458,448 public employes in October, 1962, totaled four times Rockford's population according to a report this week from the United States Census Bureau.

And nationally, the 9.3 million public employes almost equal the total population of Illinois.

THE REPORT said Illinois had 104,649 federal civilian employes, 73,362 state workers and 280,437 employes in local government.

The report said $149 million was paid to state and local government employes.

State and local government employes in education totaled 135,082, 118,416 in local school systems and 15,370 in publicly supported colleges and universities. Non-education jobs totaled 165,006, with 29,919 in public hospitals and 22,056 in highway work.

Illinois had 296 state and local government employes per 10,000 population. The national average was 320. At the high extreme was Wyoming with 405, and at the low was Arkansas with 261. (B8

$80,849 Given for Research

A grant of $80,849 has been received by Dr. James G. Shaffer from the Research Grants Division of the National Institutes of Health to carry on microbiological research at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

The grant is a three-year extension of an earlier grant received by Dr. Shaffer.

Dr. Shaffer is director of microbiology and hospital epidemiology.

Dr. Shaffer has been engaged in a three-year study of the bacteria count at Lutheran General, working under a $52,616 grant from the National Institutes of Health. The new funds will be used to extend the research to include Lutheran Deaconess Hospital, Chicago.

The project, entitled "Microbiological Profile of a New Hospital" has been carried on since Lutheran General opened in January, 1960. Air samples have been regularly taken and a complete record of the bacteria count has been kept.

"The new grant will enable us to extend the work to Deaconess Hospital, where we are dealing with an older building and a different type of environment," Dr. Shaffer explained.

Funds received from the grants are used to pay salaries of technicians and professional personnel and to provide equipment and supplies.

Dr. Shaffer is a native of Indiana and received his undergraduate training at Manchester College, North Manchester, Ind. He earned a doctor of science degree at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.

From 1952-1960 he was professor and chairman of the department of microbiology and public health at the Chicago Medical College. He has been on the staff of Lutheran General Hospital since 1960.

Dr. Shaffer lives at 605 Swain Ave., Elmhurst. (A14

Progress Made on Job Code

The city of Rolling Meadows last week saw the first results of a job specification and salary schedule study that it authorized a year ago.

The city council adopted a set of personnel rules, and is expected soon to set up a salary schedule.

Preparing the study is the Public Administration Service.

LAST WEEK the council adopted a 40-hour week for all departments except the police, where the 44 hour week remains in effect.

Other rules set forth normal work hours, overtime payment, holidays, vacations, various leaves of absence, grievances, hiring and firing.

Political activity on a local level is prohibited.

Illinois Legislators Agree On Pinballs, Session Change

Illinois legislators, despite the stormiest sessions in recent years, appear to agree on two measures which have falled on previous occasions.

For one thing, the lawmakers are well on the way to passing a bill to curtail the use of gambling-type pinball machines.

Another proposal under consideration, to out law entirely the use of pinball machines in the state, has a considerably dimmer future.

THE OTHER source of Democrat - Republican agreement concerns a resolution to hold annual legislative sessions. A bill to that effect has appeared in almost every recent session of the Illinois General Assembly but this year the odds are with its passage.

Rep. Robert Hachmeister, R-Chicago, has already received unanimous House approval of his measure to eliminate coin-operated machines which return to the player "money, property, or the right to receive money or property."

A Senate committee is taking up the matter this week.

"THESE MACHINES funnel between $20 million and $30 million a year to organized gambling interests," Hachmeister said. "This is the only way to hit organized crime — in the pocketbook. Gov. Kerner has said he will sign the bill.

Key to the lack of opposition to the measure so far has been a proviso tacked on to Hachmeister's bill that would allow two Chicago firms to continue manufacturing the machines, for export to states and countries that do authorize them.

Former Gov. William Stratton vetoed a similar Bill four years ago, and a second attempt was killed in the House two years ago.

REP. PAUL F. Elward, D-Chicago, has introduced a bill calling for a 60 day session starting May 1 in even-numbered years to consider only fiscal matters.

In odd-numbered years the lawmakers would meet for the regular six-month period and would work on all matters, including finances for that year.

This would put fiscal planning on a year-to-year basis instead of on a two-year period as now required. Gov. Kerner endorsed this idea in his budget message last week.

"To create a budget of not only projected expenditures but also estimated revenue collections for a future period of more than one involves forecasting which is not only unscientific but leads inevitably to inaccuracies," Kerner said.

REPUBLICANS also appear to favor the idea of annual sessions to handle financial matters. Senate majority whip George Drach of Springfield described such a proposal as a "desirable businesslike operation."

House GOP leader W. J. Murphy of Antioch also indicated he favored such sessions.

In other considerations the Illinois House unanimously passed a measure to require all elementary school pupils to recite the Pledge of Allegiance to the United States and the Flag at the beginning of each school day.

The vote was 153-0.

INTRODUCED WERE bills that would:

—provide for a referendum on the question of whether to permit branch banking in Illinois, within 15 miles of the limits of the city that is headquarters for the main bank.

—require drivers under 18 years of age be restricted to driving between 4 a.m. and 11 p.m. unless accompanied by a person 21 years old or older.

-- allow the state to partially reimburse school districts for special education programs.

—provide that persons adjudged to be sexually dangerous may be released for a probationary period of not less than 10 years, that the Department of Public Safety establish outpatient counseling for such persons and that institutions be established to help such offenders make the transition from prison to civilian life.

—provide that the Department of Public Safety keep a central registry of all convicted sex offenders and that all law enforcement agencies be furnished with the names.

—allow Northern Illinois University of DeKalb to offer such additional courses as it desires, eliminating the ban on courses in law, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, engineering, or agriculture. (A14

Invite Nurses to See Cook County Hospital

Cook County School of Nursing invites graduate nurses to visit Cook County Hospital, Saturday, May 4.

Cook County Hospital is one of the largest hospitals in the United States. Located in Chicago's famous West-Side Medical Center, the hospital has 2,747 beds and includes 13 buildings. In 1962, the hospital had 106,000 admissions, 20,000 births and 257,000 out-patient clinic visits.

Over the years, hundreds of nurses have contacted Cook County Hospital to arrange special tours or to request information about nursing procedures in a large metropolitan institution. To answer many of these questions and to give nurses an opportunity to tour the hospital, the School of Nursing is offering this special program, "Weekend at Cook County."

REGISTRATION for the program will begin in the Nurses' Residence, 1900 W. Polk St., Chicago, at 11 a.m. The Saturday afternoon session will include:

1) Discussion on organizational structure and utilization of personnel by members of nursing service staff;

2) Tour of Cook County Hospital, including admitting area, central supply service, blood bank, recovery ward and a nursing unit;

3) Demonstration and discussion by medical and nursing staff of some of the current medical research projects being conducted at Cook County Hospital; and

4) Coffee hour and question period in Nurses' Residence.

THE SATURDAY evening social program will include a charter bus tour called "Chicago at Night" and dinner at the Scheherazade Restaurant featuring Near Eastern atmosphere, entertainment and cuisine.

Registration for the afternoon program is $1 per person and for the social program, $8 per person.

Housing for women will be available Saturday night in the Nurses' Residence free of charge. Men may be housed at a nearby YMCA at a nominal cost.

Touring nurses may eat in the School of Nursing dining room.

Reservations are limited. Interested nurses should contact Miss Frances L. A. Powell, director of nursing service and education, Cook County School of Nursing, 1900 W. Polk St., Chicago (TAylor 9-8400).

Arlington Approves 8-Story Apartments

The Village of Arlington Heights last week approved what is described as a "great experiment" for the Northwest suburbs.

The village board approved 1) construction of two eight-story apartment buildings and 2) condominium selling of individual units.

These precedent-setting features are part of a Regent Park planned development, a Chicago Construction Co. project to consist of 232 living units.

THE DEVELOPMENT will be located on 45 acres of land immediately north of Prospect High School.

There are no apartment dwellings in the Northwest Suburbs higher than four stories.

The second "first" for the area, condominium selling, is now under consideration by the Illinois General Assembly. It permits individual units of multi-unit structures to be sold separately, with each purchaser buying a share of all "public" property.

Trustees okayed condominium selling pending its approval by the legislature.

RENTS FOR two-and three-bedroom units will range from $275 to $450 per month, developer Harold Friedman said.

The development will include 42 units in each of the two apartment buildings, 114 units in townhouses, and 34 single-family homes.

The borders of an eight-acre lake now on the property will be improved and landscaped.

33 Help at Hospital's Open House

Volunteers in their pink smocks and arm-bands were easy to recognize on the grounds of Elgin State Hospital during the Institution's Open House Sunday in recognition of Mental Health Week, April 28 to May 4.

Among the 33 men and women who signed up to answer questions about the Volunteer Services Program and to assist with the five tours of hospital grounds and buildings were Mrs. Carl Stapleton of Palatine and Mrs. Robbie D. Lippold of Roselle. (A14

In Rolling Meadows

Reveal Plans For 47 Acres

A $15 million development that will include 34 acres of apartments, and another 13 acres earmarked for a shopping center, motel, apartment hotel, and possibly a bowling alley is intended in Rolling Meadows.

The city council annexed last week the 47-acre tract of land located west of Illinois 53 between Algonquin Road and the Tollway.

Rolland Franzen, Arlington Heights attorney and spokesman for the project, at a city council meeting outlined the uses for the land.

The city agreed to provide two liquor licenses, despite the objections of one alderman.

PHIL PRETE accused the city council of having gone "indiscriminately wet." He charged that motels and hotels bring vice and narcotics.

Franzen told the city council that "we can put 20 liquor stores or taverns in there today without asking the city council for a thing."

He said the developers merely wanted city water, and were willing to come in under city ordinances to get the water.

"If you don't want us, it will be unfortunate for the city rather than for us," he said.

THE HOLIDAY Inns, a national chain of motel-inns, has been mentioned as a possible occupant of part of the land.

Construction is expected to begin June 1.

The petition for annexation was based on a condition that the city adopt a new zoning classification to permit motels, apartment hotels, business, research and professional offices, and a restaurant and cocktail lounge as permitted under the B-4 zoning of the county. (A14

She'll Take Vaccine Sunday

This Woman Felt the Awful Wrath of Polio

Marion Bryngelson will take Sabin oral vaccine Sunday.

Mrs. Bryngelson's doctor has told her to take advantage of the mass polio immunization program.

Mrs. Bryngelson will follow his instructions — for she knows better than most people what polio can do.

Marion Bryngelson has been paralyzed from polio for 18 years.

"The bottom dropped out of my world," is the way she describes coming down with polio.

This week she told a Paddock Publications reporter that everyone should do all they could to gain immunity from polio. She noted that her doctor had said that even those people who had previously had Salk polio vaccine shots should take the oral vaccine.

THE NORTHWEST Communities Oral Polio Sunday May 5 will aim to immunize more than 100,000 residents of the northwest suburban area from the age of six weeks up. The program is sponsored by Northwest Community Hospital and its medical staff.

The medical staff is stressing that everyone, even those people protected by Salk shots, should take the Sabin oral vaccine.

The oral vaccine protects not only the individual, but the whole community since oral vaccine prevents persons from becoming polio carriers. This is a benefit the Salk vaccine does not provide.

The oral vaccine will be distributed from 10 a.m. to 5 p. m. in 16 local "clinics" established throughout the Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg Townships' area.

Although Mrs. Bryngelson is immune to one form of polio, she will be taking the oral vaccine to gain immunity to all three types of polio virus.

"I have seen such tragic cases and so much sorrow from polio," she said.

"WHEN I WAS in the Municipal Contagious Disease Hospital, I shared a room with two other women — all three of us in iron lungs. The other two women died, both leaving families with small children."

Mrs. Bryngelson, 415 N. Main St., Mount Prospect, is the widow of the Rev. Paul Bryngelson, minister of Mount Prospect's Community Presbyterian Church when he died just before Easter in 1954.

She continues to live in the house that was the church parsonage at the time. Money for the down payment on the home was raised as a memorial to her husband by members of the church. Payments on the mortgage are made by a special offering taken each year throughout the Chicago Presbytery.

Her daughter Mary Ellen, now 20, was only 2½ when her mother was stricken with polio in 1945. Mary Ellen was only 11 when her father died. Today she is a junior at college, majoring in English. Her mother proudly points out she has had straight A grades in English throughout her college career.

"Mary Ellen is very intelligent and very self-reliant, but she had to grow up too soon," Mrs. Bryngelson says. She relates that even at the age of 5, Mary Ellen was able to do many things to help her, and in many cases was more efficient than some of the housekeepers who have been in the home.

Mrs. Bryngelson spent six months at the Contagious Disease Hospital in an iron lung after succumbing to polio when she was only 31.

She was paralyzed from the neck down.

"After four months I could stay out of the iron lung for 20 minutes a day," she remembers. "After six months I could stay out of the iron lung for six hours, and I was moved to Wesley Memorial Hospital in Chicago," she adds.

AFTER two years of hospitalization, Mrs. Bryngelson came home.

"Home" then was in Oriole Park where she and her husband had started St. Andrew Presbyterian Church.

"We went door to door to get people to come to our first services," she recalled. After one year of intensive work in helping to organize the church, Mrs. Bryngelson came down with polio — a particular hazard to anyone who became physically exhausted in the pre-vaccine days.

After serving as minister of the Oriole Park church for 10 years, with his wife spending nine of those years as a polio victim, Rev. Bryngelson accepted a call from the Community Presbyterian Church.

One year later he died.

Three months after that she had to undergo major abdominal surgery.

Eight months later, struggling to use a lift to get from bed to a wheel chair by herself (her husband had always helped her before his death), Mrs. Bryngelson fell. She broke her hip.

Paralyzed from the neck down when first stricken with polio, today Mrs. Bryngelson has regained the use of her hands and lower arms. She no longer requires an iron lung — a constant companion for the first years of her affliction.

She now uses a rocking bed, one of the many things provided to her by the National Foundation. She is able to sit up in a wheel chair for four or five hours at a time.

"When I first came down with polio, all I could do was face the wall and cry. The tears just came all the time," she said.

"I seemed to lose faith," she explained.

TODAY SHE proudly tells how after 17 years she was able to move her knee for the first time last year.

"Faith, hope and patience," is her recipe for success. "I believe I am improving every day through meditation with God," she says.

"I think I may do some good as a witness to the miracles of modern science and medicine which God has given us," she mused.

Mrs. Bryngelson noted that people had been very good to her. She pointed out St. Andrew Church presented her with $1,400 after her husband died, she stressed the help given by members of the Community Presbyterian Church, and she introduced her housekeeper Maria whose salary is paid by a charitable group.

"The National Foundation has paid more than $18,000 in medical fees," she noted. The foundation supplied her rocking bed and the iron lung which she required for her recovery — in fact for her life.

Constant gifts and aid from family, friends and church members have provided for her needs and those of her daughter since her husband's death.

"It never crossed my mind as to where money would come from," Mrs. Bryngelson said. "I guess I knew God would take care of us, even when I thought I had lost faith," she smiles.

Jewelry Buyer Tops 2,500 To Win Silverware Contest

Reed and Barton Silversmiths of Taunton, Mass., this week announced an employee of Persin and Robbin Jewelers, 24 S. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, is the first grand prize winner in the firm's Savannah Sterling Good Taste Contest.

The winner is Mrs. Dee Donato, 1911 Bonita, Mount Prospect, a buyer at Persin and Robbin for six years.

Her prizes consists of $700 worth of Reed and Barton sterling, china and crystal.

THE CONTEST, which promoted Reed and Barton's newest sterling pattern, "Savannah," was open to all sales personnel employed by franchised Reed and Barton dealers throughout the United States.

Mrs. Donato was awarded the grand prize as the result of her selections of china and crystal harmonizing with the new pattern.

Her selections were compared with those of the editors of House Beautiful, Seventeen and Brides' magazines. From more than 2,500 contest entries, her choices matched exactly those of the editors.

Ben Persin and Irving Robbin are owners of the local jewelry store located in Dunton Court Shopping Center. (A

Behrens' Bird Heading Home

Carl Behrens' 500-pound eagle is making its way home—slowly.

The cast iron bird was stolen from in front of the local businessman's offices at 205 S. State Road on April 15.

"Your story did it," Behrens told the Herald this week. He was referring to a front page article in the April 25 Herald which told of the eagle's flight and subsequent efforts to recover it.

Behrens said a resident telephoned him Sunday to report he knew of the eagle's whereabouts.

The caller explained that an unidentified Arlington Heights mother read last week's Herald article and realized that the 5½-foot, bronze colored eagle in her home was the one being sought.

It had been dragged home by her two "husky" sons, the mother explained.

Behrens told the caller he didn't want to ask any questions, and would be happy to find the eagle back at his offices as soon as possible.

The caller promised to see to it that the eagle was returned. As of Wednesday's press time, it had not yet returned to roost.

The eagle, mounted on a globe and wearing a chain around its neck, was stolen in 1960 and recovered in a Glenview gravel pit. (A

Oakton Objectors In Court May 15

Property owners objections to special assessment proceedings for Oakton Street will be aired May 15 at a hearing in Cook County Court.

According to Kenneth Stonesifer, attorney for the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements, about 40 per cent of the owners of property affected are protesting the assessment.

STONESIFER said objections are to the amount of assessment in individual cases and to the method of assessing property owners whose lots do not front or border on Oakton.

The BOLI has been working for nearly four years to pave Oakton and widen it to 30 feet.

The project cannot move ahead until the court determines the legitimacy of complaints made by property owners, it was pointed out. (A

Bill Drafted By New Group

A bill to be sent to the Illinois General Assembly seeking an appropriation of $1,134,800 for improvements to Weller Creek was unanimously approved Tuesday by the seven participating member organizations of the newly formed Weller Creek Action Council.

The first draft of the bill was discussed and three revisions approved which had been requested by Charles W. Payne, president of the Mount Prospect Park District.

The revisions were requested to assure a playable area along the creek as it flows through the Mount Prospect Country Club golf course.

The bill will be re-drafted incorporating the revisions and immediately sent to the State Department of Waterways and then to the legislators who will guide it through both the house and senate.

Council President Herbert Behrel of Des Plaines said State Rep. John W. Carroll has assured him that he and representatives Arthur Simmons and Bernard Peskin and Sen. John Graham will spearhead the drive to get the legislation passed.

THE BILL provides for the State Department of Public Works to do the work. It provides the sum of $275,000 for work on stage five which goes from Central Road to Elmhurst Road in Mount Prospect; $237,600 for stage four that goes from Elmhurst to the edge of Mount Prospect; $259,200 for stage three in Des Plaines and $363,000 for stage two in Des Plaines.

The money will be used to clean out debris from the creek, widen the bottom and remove obstructions caused by bends and restrictive bridges.

The Soo Line Railroad bridge will be replaced, the bridge at Benjamin Electric Co. modified, and additional culverts built at the North Western railroad bridge at Northwest Highway between Mount Prospect and Des Plaines. The Washington Street bridge will also be modified.

These changes are designed to free the flow of present flood waters and increased amounts expected when Arlington Heights completes its $3.5 million storm sewer which will empty into Weller Creek.

Money to do stage one of the State Department of Waterways' original flood relief plan was appropriated by the 1961 session of the legislature along with money to do stage five.

MONEY FOR stage one was recently released and work on that portion at the mouth of the Des Plaines River is to begin immediately.

Money for stage five has been withheld. Of the $643,000 authorized for stage five, almost $400,000 was to have been used to enclose a portion of the creek in Mount Prospect from Central Road to Lincoln Avenue.

This covering has now been definitely eliminated and the money saved by its elimination reallocated through the new bill and used for improvements which will benefit the entire Weller Creek watershed.

The new bill will also provide ways to promote upstream retention basins. The former bill did not recognize the need or desirability of retention basins.

Revisions requested by the park district assure a playable area through the golf course rather than a 68 foot ditch as had been proposed by the 1961 legislation.

The creek through the golf course will be graded and the banks grassed with a five-to-one slope which will make the sides playable. The new plan, drawn up by Park Engineer William Bauer, calls for a 30-foot wide low channel creek which will eliminate erosion that would be caused by a 68-foot ditch.

By designing the channel in this way, Bauer says the growth in the low flow channel will be inhibited. All "trash trees and brush" will be removed but all good trees will be preserved.

THE REVISED plans will not necessitate the changing of any of the greens on the course or eliminate any of the beauty of the landscaping, Payne reports.

Bauer says the plan has all the phases of conservation, water retention and recreation.

The park district's revisions also call for measures to "diminish rates of discharge flood waters into the channels and conduits downstream and urges the recognition of the desirability of simultaneous completion of all stages."

The bill was drafted by Arlington Heights' Village Attorney Jack Siegel.

The seven agencies which make up the action council include the cities of Des Plaines and Rolling Meadows, the villages of Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights, the Mount Prospect Park District, the Metropolitan Sanitary District and the Weller Creek Drainage District.

At the meeting held in the sanitary district offices in Chicago, Rolling Meadows Mayor John J. Woods was authorized to open a bank account in Rolling Meadows and Norval Stephens, Arlington Heights village trustee, was elected secretary to replace former trustee Justin A. Nelson.

ATTENDING Tuesday's meeting from Mount Prospect besides Payne and Bauer were Victor Koelzer, citizen representative of the park district; Village President C. O. Schlaver and Bill Townsend of Consoer, Townsend and Associates.

Attending from Arlington Heights were Village President John G. Woods, Siegel, Village Manager L. A. Hanson, and Nelson.

Mayor Woods of Rolling Meadows represented his city. Vinton Bacon, superintendent of the Sanitary District, and Trustee Walter Baltis, member of the council, attended accompanied by two flood control engineers from the district and Charles Mitchell of the State Department of Waterways. (A&K

After a Study

District 214 Adopts Plan of Organization

There will be some new faces around the administrative offices of High School District 214 next fall.

In other cases, the face may be familiar but the setting will be strange.

Monday night the school board adopted a new administrative organization plan as recommended by the management study firm of Booz, Allen and Hamilton. The firm is currently engaged in a study of the organization and operating practices of the school administration and school board.

One of the most controversial recommendations of the administration organization plan was held "for further study at the staff level up through the board level." This is the creation of five division heads in place of the present 10-plus department chairmen at each of the three schools operated by the district — Forest View, Prospect and Arlington.

The proposed divisions would be 1) science and mathematics; 2) health, physical education and safety; 3) social science and foreign language; 4) English and speech; and 5) applied and fine arts (covering business education, industrial education, homemaking, music and art).

The adopting motion for the reorganization called for "implementation of the reorganization plan down through division heads, with implementation of division heads to be delayed for more consideration for possible implementation during the 1964-65 school year."

The new Wheeling High School will be opened in 1964-65, giving the board and superintendent the opportunity to use at least five of the department heads to be dropped in the division setup.

At the district level, the major change is the addition of a director of personnel.

This top-level position, equal to that of the assistant superintendent and business manager, will deal primarily with the recruitment of new teaching personnel for staff replacements and to man new classes set up to care for increasing enrollment and the opening of new schools.

Salary range for the new position will be $13,720 to $15,680 or 1.4 to 1.6 of the top pay range on the master's degree teacher salary schedule.

New positions under the assistant superintendent will be a coordinator of guidance, testing and research, and three instructional coordinators (with a fourth to be added in the 1964-65 school year).

The salary range for these positions will be $11,270 to $12,250 or 1.15 to 1.25 of the top master degree pay scale.

A director of extended school service is to be named. This position will carry responsibility for adult (or night school) education, summer school and public relations. Pay will be $12,740 to $14,210 or 1.30 to 1.45 on the index scale.

A proposed position of director of health, safety and physical education will not be implemented for the 1963-64 school year.

At the individual school level, the major changes would be the division heads in place of the department chairmen. With this phase of the reorganization postponed for consideration, the changes at the school level are not too extreme.

The present positions of dean would be eliminated, with an assistant principal for administrative services named as a replacement. The school attendance clerk and registrar would be responsible to him. A new director of student activities will be named at each school. Salary range for the student activities head will be $10,780 to $11,270 or 1.10 to 1.15 on the index.

Present assistant principals would be renamed to assistant principal for instructional services.

Both assistant principals would have a pay range of $12,740 to $14,210 or 1.30 to 1.45 on the index.

Pay scale for principals was set at 1.45 to 1.75 on the index. This would be $14,210 to $16,150. Pay range for the three principals last year was $12,500 to $14,250. (AM

Teacher, Student Honored at Parley

An Arlington High School teacher and a Forest View High School student received honors at the Illinois convention of Student Councils recently.

Maratha Craig, counselor and sponsor of the Arlington High School Student Council, was one of four Illinois teachers honored "for distinguished leadership" of Student Council affairs.

Carol Torrens, Forest View High School junior, Saturday was elected second vice-president of the Illinois Association of Student Councils. Miss Torrens is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Torrens, 703 S. Ioka Avene, Mt. Prospect. She will serve during the 1963-64 school year.

Commenting on the honor, L. S. Jenness, Forest View's principal, said, "We are all very proud of Carol, and I am sure that both students and faculty will do all that is possible to help her do a good job."

MISS TORRENS' Forest View's Student Council vice-president this year, was elected to her new office at a convention attended by approximately 1200 foreign exchange students and student delegates from 214 schools.

Also attending from Forest View were Thomas Shirley, assistant principal; Mrs. Phyllis Sullivan, a guidance counselor; and sophomore Karen Garrity, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Garrity, 2200 Bluebird Lane, Rolling Meadows.

"This makes the second high Student Council office for our school this year," Shirley said. "About a month ago, we were informed that one of our students, Pat Hermann, was elected treasurer of the Interim League Association of Student Councils."

Pat, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hermann, 469 Ambleside Road, Des Plaines.

DR. NICHOLAS Nyardi, director of the School of International Studies at Bradley University, was the keynote speaker at Friday's banquet in the Grand Ballroom.

In his address, "Shall We Survive?" Dr. Nyardi said that if America is to survive, the American dollar cannot be of first importance. Instead, he said, we must be concerned with our American heritage and care enough about our country to preserve that heritage.

BORN AND educated in Hungary, Dr. Nyardi was forced to flee for his life in 1948 because of Soviet persecution. His book, "My Ringside Seat in Moscow," has been proclaimed by critics as one of the best books ever written on Russia.

Presiding at Friday's ceremonies was Scott Baker, this year's student president of I.A.S.C. He is from Hinsdale High School. The theme of this year's convention was "Think . . ." A dramatic monologue, "Masks," was given by Donald Campbell, president of I.A.S.C. in 1955-56. He showed some of the masks students use to cover their real personalities.

ELECTED 1963-64 president was Greg Stanton, Streeter. Host school this year was the Dwight D. Eisenhower High School of Decatur. Chosen as next year's host school was Lyons Township High School of LaGrange.

State Student Council officials present at the convention were two advisers-at-large: Burton Showers, student council advisor from Palatine Township High School; and Arthur Schmittler of Nashville, Ill. They represented all student councils in Illinois. (ACM EG

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

In case you didn't know it, "home, sweet home" is responsible for many sour notes for the home-loving citizenry.

Home accidents, for example, kill more children in the 1-4 age group than any disease.

Falls, fires, and accidental poisoning are among the greatest dangers.

Danger points to watch out for are water or grease on kitchen floors, unlighted stairs, toys and boxes piled on stair steps, oily rags or papers left in a basement corner, rubbing alcohol, candy-coated medication, or aspirin left in reach of tots and pots on the stove, with handles turned out and in reach of small hands.

Still on the subject of accidents — replacement glass for home or auto is available at PALATINE PAINT & GLASS CO. Insurance repairs are made quickly by PALATINE PAINT & GLASS CO., 9 - 11 North Bothwell. Phone FL 9-0954.

4. No buildings, structures, or parcel of land, which is used for the manufacturing, fabricating, assembly, disassembly, repairing, storing, cleaning, or servicing of materials, products, or goods, shall be located within 250 feet of any lot line of a lot located in a Residence District; and when directly across a street from a Residence District, there shall be provided for such uses, a yard along such street of not less than 40 feet in depth.

Measurements shall be made using the flat network of the sound level meter. Impulsive type noises shall be subject to the performance standards hereinafter prescribed, provided that such noises shall be capable of being accurately measured with such equipment. Noises capable of being so measured, for the purpose of this ordinance, shall be those noises which cause rapid fluctuations of the needle of the sound level meter, with a variation of no more than plus or minus two decibels. Noises incapable of being so measured, such as those of an irregular and intermittent nature, shall be controlled so as not to become a nuisance to adjacent uses.

At no point on the boundary of a Residence or Business District shall the sound intensity level of any individual operation or plant (other than the operation of motor vehicles or other transportation facilities) exceed the decibel levels in the designated octave bands shown in the following table:

OCTAVE BAND (Frequency, cycles per second)	MAXIMUM PERMITTED SOUND LEVEL (decibels) Along Residence District Boundaries	Along Business District Boundaries

b. Performance Standards—Smoke and Particulate Matter.

The emission of smoke or particulate matter in such manner or quantity as to endanger or to be detrimental to the public health, safety, comfort, or welfare, is hereby declared to be a public nuisance, and shall henceforth be unlawful.

For the purpose of grading the density of smoke, the Ringelmann Chart, published and used by the United States Bureau of Mines, shall be employed. The emission of smoke or particulate matter of a density greater than No. 2 on the Ringelmann Chart is prohibited at all times, except as otherwise provided hereinafter.

The emission, from all sources within any lot area, of particulate matter containing more than ten per cent by weight of particles having a particle diameter larger than 44 microns is prohibited.

Dust and other types of air pollution, borne by the wind from such sources as storage area, yards, roads, and the like, within lot boundaries, shall be kept to a minimum by appropriate landscaping, paving, oiling, fencing, or acceptable means. Emission of particulate matter from such sources in excess of the weight limitation herein specified is prohibited.

Smoke

The emission of more than eight smoke units per hour per stack is prohibited, including smoke of a density in excess of Ringelmann No. 2. However, during one one-hour period in each 24-hour day, each stack may emit up to 16 smoke units when blowing soot or cleaning fires. Only during fire-cleaning periods, however, shall smoke of Ringelmann No. 3 be permitted, and then for not more than three minutes.

c. Performance Standards — Toxic or Noxious Matter.

No use shall, for any period of time, discharge across the boundaries of the lot wherein it is located toxic or noxious matter in such concentrations as to be detrimental to, or endanger the public health, safety, comfort, or welfare, or cause injury or damage to property or business.

2. The storage, utilization, or manufacture of materials or products ranging from free or active burning to intense burning—as determined for liquids by a closed cup flash point of less than 187 degrees F—is permitted, subject to compliance with all other performance standards for the M District, and provided the following conditions are met:
   a. Said materials or products shall be stored, utilized, or produced within completely enclosed buildings or structures having incombustible exterior walls.
   b. All such buildings or structures shall be set back at least 40 feet from lot lines, or, in lieu thereof, all such buildings or structures shall be protected throughout by an automatic sprinkler system complying with installation standards prescribed by the National Fire Protection Association or Factory Insurance Association; or if the materials, goods, or products are liquids, the protection thereof shall be in conformity with standards prescribed by the National Fire Protection Association or Factory Insurance Association.
3. The utilization in manufacturing processes of materials which produce flammable or explosive vapors or gasses —as determined for liquids by a closed cup flash point of less than 105 degrees F—shall be permitted in this District provided:
   a. That the final manufactured product does not itself have a closed cup flash point of less than 187 degrees F.
   b. That the use and storage of such materials shall be in conformity with standards prescribed by the National Fire Protection Association, and the requirements of other ordinances of the Village of Elk Grove Village.

An Ordinance

TO PROVIDE FOR A MUTUAL FIRE AID PROGRAM BETWEEN THE ROLLING MEADOWS FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT AND NEIGHBORING MUNICIPALITIES

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE ROLLING MEADOWS FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT:

SECTION ONE: PURPOSE.

The purpose of this ordinance is to provide for a program of mutual aid between the ROLLING MEADOWS FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT and other municipalities whereby each such municipality will be obligated to come to the assistance of a neighboring municipality in the event of a fire or other disaster therein of such magnitude that the fire-fighting equipment and personnel of the municipality cannot effectively cope with it.

SECTION TWO: DEFINITIONS

For the purpose of this ordinance, the following terms are defined as follows:

(A) "Municipality": A city, village or fire protection district;

(B) "Mutual Fire Aid Program": A plan or program as provided for in this ordinance whereby the municipalities participating in the program agree to come to one another's assistance in case of fire or other disaster too large for local equipment and personnel to handle;

(C) "Mutual Aid Area": The territory occupied by the municipalities, namely: Mt. Prospect, Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows and Palatine;

(D) "Participating Municipality": A municipality, in the mutual aid area, that participates in the Mutual Fire Aid Program by adopting an ordinance authorizing or approving the program and entering into an appropriate agreement, (substantially as provided herein) with other participating municipalities for rendering and receiving aid in case of fire or other disaster;

(E) "Stricken Municipality": A participating municipality in which a fire or other disaster occurs that is of such magnitude that it cannot be adequately coped with by local fire-fighting equipment and personnel;

(F) "Aiding Municipality": A municipality furnishing fire equipment to a stricken municipality, or to another aiding municipality.

SECTION THREE: AGREEMENT TO EFFECTUATE THE MUTUAL FIRE AID PROGRAM.

The President of the Board of Trustees of the ROLLING MEADOWS FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT is authorized on behalf of this District to enter into and from time to time to alter and amend with the consent of the Board of Trustees an agreement with any and all of the municipalities in the mutual aid area defining and putting into effect a Mutual Fire Aid program providing generally as follows:

(A) In the event that, in the judgment of the officer in charge of the fire department of a stricken municipality, the available fire-fighting equipment of that municipality is inadequate effectively to cope with a fire or other disaster therein, said officer may call on a neighboring participating municipality to furnish fire-fighting equipment and personnel (to the extent specified in the agreement) to the stricken municipality, for use, either (1) in combating the fire or other casualty or (2) as a standby reserve to meet other calls that may occur before the local firefighting equipment is free to take care of them;

(B) Each aiding municipality furnishing fire-fighting equipment to a stricken municipality shall have the right to call on another participating municipality for fire-fighting equipment and personnel (to the extent specified in the agreement) as a standby reserve to take the place, in part, of the equipment furnished to the stricken municipality until such equipment shall be returned.

(C) On receipt of a call under Paragraph (A) or (B) above, the aiding municipality called upon shall (to the extent provided in the agreement) furnish the equipment and personnel called for by the stricken municipality, or by the first aiding municipality; except that each aiding municipality may always be permitted to retain sufficient fire-fighting equipment and personnel to fight any fire or to meet any emergency within its own boundaries that may reasonably be anticipated.

SECTION FOUR: THE EXISTING TENTATIVE MUTUAL FIRE AID PROGRAM.

Subject to the approval of the respective corporate authorities, a tentative "Mutual Fire Aid Program" conforming to the provisions of the Section Three above, has been agreed to by the Chiefs of the Fire Departments of the Cities or Villages of Mount Prospect, Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows and Palatine. This tentative Mutual Fire Aid Program is set forth in a chart on file with the Secretary of the Board of Trustees of this District and is subject to change on abrogation by action of the Chief of the Fire Department pursuant to Section Three thereof. Unless and until so changed or abrogated, the tentative Mutual Fire Aid Program as set forth in said chart is ratified as a binding agreement between this District and all other municipalities who shall have adopted said program and shall have assumed the obligations thereby imposed upon them.

SECTION FIVE: THE OBLIGATION OF THE DISTRICT UNDER THE MUTUAL FIRE AID PROGRAM.

The District shall furnish fire-fighting equipment and personnel for use outside its boundaries, as provided in the tentative Mutual Fire Aid Program referred to in Section Four or in any Mutual Fire Aid Program agreed to as provided in Section Three, to any municipality that has agreed to conform to said Program and has assumed the obligations imposed upon it thereby.

SECTION SIX: Notice of the passage of this ordinance shall be given to all municipalities named in the tentative Mutual Fire Aid Program referred to in Section Four above.

SECTION SEVEN: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in the manner provided by law.

March Lion Stages Comeback for April

Fortunately for this week's Sidelights most social events took place before April said goodbye. After she did, most of the local population went into shock when they realized that white confetti she was tossing was snow, not apple blossoms. Now the question is: if April showers bring May flowers what happens when April goes out like the March Lion?

Brides-to-be and parties for them always mean excitement; therefore when two brides are honored at the same party it's twice as exciting. It's also double the trouble, trying to lure two "victims," but their twin reactions double the fun. Miss Sharon Pruyn, 918 N. Hickory, and her future cousin-in-law, Miss Marty Sarnecke of Niles, were simultaneously surprised, honored and showered with gifts at a recent party given for them by Miss Pruyn's aunt, Mrs. Charles Lubeck of Mount Prospect. Guests were 25 suburban friends and relatives of both honor guests.

Miss Pruyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pruyn, will be married May 11 to Ronald Stander of Mount Prospect. Her cousin, Ronald Ghera, also of Mount Prospect, will take Miss Sarnecke for his bride June 1.

ANOTHER MAY bride will be Miss Rosemary Herbst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Herbst, 512 W. Campbell, whose marriage to Rudolph Brieschenk is set for May 25. Her sisters, Mary and Annabelle, were hostesses a week ago Sunday at a pre-nuptial surprise party for the bride-elect and her fiance.

Thirty friends and relatives honored the couple whose marriage will take place in Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Church.

The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Brieschenk, and other relatives are of Bavaria, Germany, and are unable to be here for the nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wellnitz, 1031 S. Dunton, were guests of honor Saturday night at a farewell party given in the H. Kirke White home, 1058 S. Dunton, but Wellnitz only heard about the fun it was. A virus intruded at the last minute, cancelling his party-going plans but not the plans of 26 neighborhood friends who were set to farewell him and his wife, no matter what.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Joseph Vonckx and Mrs. Leo Rodell; aiding the ailing absentee were bed-rest and sympathy. The Wellnitz family will move to a New Jersey home late this month.

THE WILLIAM Frickes, 103 S. Waterman, came home Saturday night from a 2-week vacation, touring and sightseeing in Washington, D.C., Atlantic City, Annapolis and New York City. There was time, too, for just taking it easy, a pastime well-earned by the Frickes who were recent hosts to 650 at an open house celebrating St. Joseph's feast day.

The feast day, originated in Europe long ago, was primarily to feed the poor and thus honor St. Joseph. Mrs. Fricke's grandmother made the annual open house a family custom in Italy, and the recent celebration here was given by Mrs. Fricke and her brothers, Frank and Salvatore LaPlaca, to honor a deathbed promise made to their mother, the late Mrs. Victoria LaPlaca of Chicago.

Through the years the feast day evolved into the gala open house for friends and family that it is today. Mr. and Mrs. Fricke, former professional opera singers who organized the Northwest Opera Company in Arlington Heights, began welcoming their relatives, neighbors and wide circle of friends at one o'clock in the afternoon.

THROUGHOUT THE day and until almost midnight a coming-and-going stream of visitors filled their home and, thanks to fine weather, overflowed into their yard.

The tables were blessed on the eve of the celebration by Fr. Roth, assistant pastor of St. James Catholic Church. Also in keeping with religious practice as well as tradition, is the variety of foods offered feast day guests. Meatless, the menu includes a wide selection of vegetables prepared and arranged for eye appeal as well as taste appeal.

There are many noodle dishes and sea food adds its almost endless possibilities to the total selection. Desserts of every kind cap the culinary climax.

Mrs. Fricke prepared all the food herself and says that she began more than a month before the feast day, with the final two weeks seeming to be one long-cook-fest. "It was a lot of work," she admits, "but I'm glad and proud that we did it."

A FAMILY DINNER party Saturday night celebrated two April birthdays in the Arthur Ekberg household, 2108 N. Chestnut. Sharing seats of honor were two of the Ekbergs' daughters, Phyllis, who was 3 April 21, and Dale, 7 on Saturday.

A confirmation party Monday night in the Albert Colianni home, 814 S. Highland, honored the hosts' son, Bert, and their niece, Kathy Colianni, following services in Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Church. Hostess is Kathy's sponsor, another young Colianni named, Paul, is Bert's sponsor and joining them all to complete the family circle was Grandmother Colianni of Oak Park.

A coffee-and-cake get-together after church Monday night celebrated the confirmation of Deborah Huck, 1048 S. Dunton. With the family in Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Church was Deborah's aunt and sponsor, Mrs. Louise Milano of Des Plaines, who also joined the family party in the Huck home.

MRS. ERNEST Poulos and Margo came home to 1225 N. Dunton last Thursday after a 10-day vacation trip that was a birthday present for Margo. They left here by jet April 15, the day before Margo's 10th birthday. Their final destination was the East Orange, N. J. home of Mrs. Poulos' brother and his family, the Donald Whartons, from which point they began several sightseeing tours.

On the boardwalk at Asbury Park they witnessed an eerie spectacle that was caused, they discovered later, by a dense smoke cloud from fires then raging in the East. It partially blocked out the sun, and the sun seen dimly through the haze appeared to be whirling rapidly. Mrs. Poulos says she was not the only one who thought it was some natural phenomenon, "Like maybe the end of the world!"

Miss Lynn Galdoni, another of the confirmands in Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Church Monday night, marked the occasion with a dinner-out celebration. With Lynn and the family was her sponsor and former neighbor, Rosemary Kelly, 738 S. Chestnut. Lynn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Galdoni, 704 S. Kaspar.

TWENTY-ONE Miner Junior High School students enjoyed a class party Saturday afternoon at the home of Sharon Hicks, 414 N. Evergreen. Sharon and her fellow seventh graders of section one, marked time until the mid-afternoon arrival of their home room teacher, Alan B. Swanson, when a boys vs. girls baseball game went into immediate effect. The girls won, 7-4, with the help of twin advantages, 4-out innings and the mighty Swanson bat.

The appetite-whetting party ended with a supper of an estimated two square acres of pizza, a goodly portion of pop and twice as much ice cream.

THE FORREST Wolfs, 607 S. State, returned Wednesday from a 3-week vacation in Biloxi, Miss. They were accompanied by their sons, Robert and James, who had to shorten their stay and return to Arlington Heights for school.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Johnson, 624 Banbury, and their children, Lynn and Bruce, came home last week from a 2½-week-stay in Ormond Beach, Fla., where they visited the latters' parents, the John D. Reeses. While in Florida, they spent a weekend in Miami Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stempl, 530 S. Dryden, and daughter, Jenilee, spent the past two weeks in the east, visiting her mother, Mrs. R. L. Riordon in Beckley, W. Va., and his parents, the G. C. Stempls of Oakland, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph K. Wallace, 620 S. Beverly, have as their houseguest, the latter's sister and brother-in-law, the A. L. McLachlans, who are here from Dallas for a 10-day visit.

CRAIG BRATKO, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Bratko, 438 S. Dryden was confirmed Monday evening in Our Lady of the Wayside Church. His sponsor was oDnald Franckowiak of Chicago, and here for the confirmation were Craig's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coughlin of Oak Park.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Anderson, 504 S. Lincoln, and their daughter Candy, flew to Florida, to spend a week at Treasure Island, and to visit Mrs. Anderson's mother, Mrs. A. S. Raymond of Bradenton.

The A. E. Wolfingers, 409 Banbury, their daughter, Fern, and their guest, Miss Teresita Solano of Panama, an American Field Service Student, recently returned from a visit with relatives and friends in New Jersey and New York State. While in the East, they visited several college campuses.

The Ralph Banks, 722 Mayfair, took their son, Scott, to Iowa over the weekend to visit the campuses of Iowa State University, Drake and Grinnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald O'Reilly, 315 S. Carlyle, have just returned from a combined business and pleasure trip to Palm Beach and Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dunlop, 1115 Mayfair, attended the confirmation of their niece, Miss Betsey Dunlop, in the Martin Luther church of Chicago Sunday. Afterwards, there was a large gathering of family members for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Doty, 409 S. Dryden, celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary April 25 at a dinner at the Evergreens in Dundee, given for them by their daughter, Cheryl Lynn, and their son, Arthur.

MRS. ANDREW J. Beverett, 431 S. Pine, will give a book review on "The Prize," by Irving Wallace, to members of the La Grange Book Club. Members will meet at Cary's restaurant in La Grange for luncheon.

The Jack Woods, 102 S. Brighton, spent several days in Boston last week visiting friends and former neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, 217 S. Windsor, spent the weekend in Worthington, Ohio, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stanley.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnice Basil, 427 S. Windsor, had as their houseguests recently, friends from Negaunee, Mich., the George Sivulas and their teenage daughters, Janice and Nancy.

THE EDWARD Wilsons, 304 S. Wilshire, have just received the good news that their daughter-in-law, the former Miss Susan Mast of Des Moines, has been named to Phi Beta Kappa National Honorary fraternity. The younger Mrs. Wilson has been attending the State University of Iowa in Iowa City, from which she will graduate with honors in mathematics this summer while her husband, Ens. Edward H. Wilson, is on an 8-month tour of duty in the West Pacific.

Arlington Greens

The annual meeting of the Greens Community Association will be held Tuesday evening, May 7, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tomaso, 635 E. Clarendon. Planned for the evening is election of officers and the adoption of amendments to the by-laws.

Mrs. Don Helbling, E. Clarendon, hosted an April gathering of the Nurses Club round robin bridge last Monday evening.

Newcomers to the Greens are Forest and Joelyn Saemrow, 1158 N. Hickory. Former residents of South St. Paul, they moved here April 18. Their children are Jodell, 5, Nancy, 3, and David, 2. Mr. Saemrow is office manager for Micro-Deburring Company in Elk Grove Village.

A FLIGHT home early last week ended an 11-day vacation for the Harold Carlson family of E. Clarendon Ave. After an overnight stay in Miami, they proceeded to Nassau for a week of deep sea fishing, swimming, sunning and sightseeing. Enjoying their roles of typical tourists, they ferried to nearby Paradise Island for a day's visit. A leisurely four days at Miami Beach ended their southern sojourn.

Recent houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lynn of N. Beverly Lane were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sal Corsi, former village residents. The Corsis, now of Longboat Key, Fla., were on a 10-day vacation visit in the midwest.

MRS. WALT Brown, N. Dryden, was among the group of local women who enjoyed a 3-day trip to Washington, D. C., beginning last Thursday. Joining her were Mrs. Paul Hembd, Mrs. Alan Macdonald, Mrs. Leo Hunter and Mrs. Frank Kolerus of Mount Prospect. They toured the Capitol as guests of Rep. and Mrs. Don Rumsfeld and were luncheon guests of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen. Return flights home began on Saturday for the ladies, except Mrs. Hembd, who travelled to Hudson, Ohio, for a day's visit with former Clarendon Avenue neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. William Foote.

District Tennis Play Slated Saturday

Area Schools At Maine West

Nine Squads Entered; Arlington Team to Beat

Tennis moves into the athletic spotlight Saturday with two West Suburban Conference entries favored to claim the coveted team prizes in the competition involving area schools.

Nine schools are hooked up at Des Plaines (Maine West) where Arlington's powerful squad is the pre-meet favorite, and Hinsdale is the choice to top its own eight-team attraction.

One hundred and twenty-seven downstate and suburban high schools have entered the annual series of net tournaments held at 14 district centers this Saturday. Each school may enter two singles and two doubles teams.

THE FIRST AND second place winners in singles and doubles from each district, together with four singles and four doubles teams, advanced from the Chicago Public league, will compete in the state finals at the University of Illinois on May 17-18.

Evanston Tonwship High School captured its third consecutive state tennis title in 1962, but this is another year and the Wildkits apparently are not equipped to turn the trick for a fourth time.

In the past Arlington was forced to knock heads with some of the Suburban League powers, including Evanston, in attempting to reach the state finals, but Evanston has been moved elsewhere and now Arlington ranks as the favorite in the district play.

JOINING KEN Schaller's Cards at Maine West will be Forest View, Barrington, host Maine West, Libertyville, Prospect, Mundelein, Palatine, and Maine East.

Schaller has some fine performers in Russ Walters, Jim Jakubiec, Chuck Close, Mirrel Kephart, Rich Wollerman, Bob Von Boeckmann, and Jeff Peek and could score in each category at Saturday's district.

Among the other area entries Prospect's best bet is Lothar Hanson, a fine singles performer. Bob Gewecke, another impressive player, will work in first doubles, and Scott Campbell is a definite entry in the other doubles berth.

Forest View has been taking its lumps in a tennis debut with only Bob Prucha in No. 2 singles able to win a set. Guy Jensen and Steve Kretschmer, both of whom played as sophs at Prospect last year, are long shot best bets.

Palatine has been enjoying a fine year in tennis with Jim Gustafson and Franz Peterson heading the Pirates in singles. Greg Keller and Fred Moloznik have been impressive in doubles.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

REMEMBER LAST SPRING when the Prospect High School district track meet was postponed two days because of frightful conditions?

Bad weather inundated the track, and the Illinois High School Association granted permission for the delay.

Now it's being asked again if the IHSA was wise in granting permission for the delay. Isn't it entirely possible that last year's decision will prompt district meet managers to plead for a delay this season if the conditions seem to warrant a postponement?

A number of fine athletes are denied a chance to meet the state qualifications minimums because of track conditions. Last year there were slow tracks throughout the state.

The St. Charles District was a case in point. Held on Saturday with terrible conditions, the marks turned in would have had trouble standing up in most duals.

Bill Howerton, the fleet Downers Grove soph who had turned in a :09.8 100 yard dash three weeks earlier, won in :10.7. The high hurdles went at :16.2. Howerton won the furlong in :24.3.

The conditions at St. Charles also may have cost some of the outstanding distance men places in the state finals. Glenbard West's Jim Isaacson ran second in a slow 880 yard run (2:02.2), was placed in a slow heat downstate, and wound up fifth.

The 880 yard run and mile run are run in four heats in the state finals, and the winner in each race is determined on the basis of the best time made in these heats. The last heat in each of the two events is made up of the nine (or twelve) runners making the best times in District meets.

Although the St. Charles District probably took the prize last year for adverse conditions, we understand Rock Island, Evanston, and Springfield among others reported slow tracks.

If the weatherman fails to cooperate at district time this year, the Illinois High School Association undoubtedly will be flooded by requests for delay. A precedent now has been set.

LEAVE IT TO DOLPH STANLEY to come up with an interesting observation.

Speaking at a sports banquet, the Rockford Auburn basketball coach, a veteran in cage circles, said that the number one problem today in high school basketball is "love."

"Teenage love," Dolph remarked, "ruins more good basketball teams and players than any other item. You can't be a social lion and a good athlete at the same time."

ONE SUBURBAN AREA BASKETBALL coach has a policy whereby an athlete who quits another squad is not allowed to try out for his baseball team. The policy does not carry over into the next school year.

Fred Jacobeit of Bloom recently explained his position in regard to a promising junior pitcher who was not allowed to join the baseball team because he quit football in the fall.

"The boy could have done a job for us in football," said Jacobeit, who is also an assistant grid coach. "He was first string center on the sophomore team the year before. He left the varsity without informing the coaches."

The coach emphasized that he was attempting to "get some stick-to-itiveness" across to the athletes. "We have too many cases where a sport gets too tough and a boy runs to another one. Or if a teacher is too rough, it's time to run again."

His policy is not an athletic department or school rule.

ALTON HIGH SCHOOL is one of the state powerhouses in track again this spring, but did you know that the cinder sport is being carried on by contributions from interested townsfolk?

Voters turned down a bond issue last year and the Board of Education abolished all sports but football and basketball.

But the city's Exchange Club raised close to $7,000 to finance minor sports, and the track team was back in business.

Now a team that exists on gifts could win a state championship!!

State's Top Milers Vie At Hinsdale

Strong Field Ready For 13th Annual Meet

Given any kind of break from the unpredictable weatherman, a talented cast of high school trackmen should respond with some spectacular performances Saturday in the 13th Annual Hinsdale Relays.

Honor roll leaders in five events and several other highly regarded entries will assault the record book in a meet that is shaping up as one of state's outstanding cinder attractions.

Twelve schools, headed by powerful LaGrange of the West Suburban Conference and defending champion Proviso West, will vie for honors with competition slated to get under way at 1 p.m.

ROUNDING OUT the alignment will be Arlington, Prospect, Downers Grove, Glenbard West, East Leyden, Morton East, Morton West, Riverside-Brookfield, and St. Procopius Academy.

For the first time in the meet's history an open mile run will be staged, and the Relays officials couldn't have picked a better year for the debut.

Seven milers in Illinois have bettered 4:30 this spring. Four will vie at Hinsdale Saturday. Two of the Hinsdale entries rank 1-2 in the state rankings, and a third, who authored a 4:23.6 indoors, is back in action following an injury.

Heading the list is John Jaeger of Hinsdale, author of a 4:22 clocking and victor in last Saturday's Proviso West Invitational.

EXPECTED TO battle Jaeger to the wire will be Jim Letterer of Proviso West (4:23.5); Jim Isaacson of Glenbard West, the Oak Park Relays champ indoors with a 4:23.6; and Ken Swanson of Glenbard who has a 4:27.2.

JIM ISAACSON

Dale Foster, head track coach at Hinsdale, expects the mile "to go below 4:20" with the proper weather conditions.

Although the mile run is expected to headline Saturday's Relays, each of the events will feature some of the state standouts.

If Bill Howerton of Downers Grove is healthy, look for a great battle in the 100 yard dash. Howerton has done :09.7 and Bill Zillman of Hinsdale has a fine :09.8.

AN OPEN high hurdles event will be staged for the first time

Basten Paces Lions To 2nd Relays Title

by BOB FRISK

Crowd-pleasing anchor legs by Dave Basten in two relays, the latter coming in the decisive half-mile event, carried powerful LaGrange to an impressive team championship Saturday in the Class A competition of the 31st Palatine Relays.

The "splendid sprinter," a member of the Lions' state titlists as a sophomore, came from behind in the mile relay and padded a slim advantage in the 880 yard attraction to give Max Armer's outfit twenty vital points and two meet records on an ideal track afternoon.

LaGrange needed to head York in the final event to assure its second straight Class A championship, and the Lions, with Basten at his best, were equal to the challenge. Also a fourth place finisher in the 100 Dave flashed across the line in 1:31.5, almost a full second on top of runnerup York.

LaGRANGE'S title gave the West Suburban Conference five straight in Class A competition. Arlington, Maine East, and York preceded LaGrange as Class A title-holders.

There also was a team repeat in Class B Saturday as DeKalb slipped past Woodstock by one point with a second place in the mile run providing the decisive markers.

Among the area schools Palatine edged Prospect by one-half point for third place in Class A with Arlington sixth. Competing in their first Relays, Forest View's young Falcons failed to score.

Perfect weather conditions and a record crowd greeted the athletes and they responded with seven new standards in one of the smoothest-running Relays in history. In addition, the thinclads tied three marks in the day-long competition.

Basten, the meet standout, came from behind to edge York's Ed Canty with the victorious quartet clocked in 3:25.7. (Staff Photo)

NEW CLASS A marks went to three area entries with Prospect contributing a pair en route to its solid fourth place finish. The swift quartet of Larry Bogart, Terry Sietmann, Ron Koepke, and Tom Bremner established new marks in both the high and low hurdle shuttles for twenty team points.

The Knights knocked one and five-tenths of a second off the high hurdle mark established by Arlington in 1959 and 1.2 seconds off the low hurdle mark set in 1961 by York's Dukes.

Arlington's junior standout Bill Truax, who gets better with each outing, eclipsed a discus record that had stood since 1954 when Dick Winterbauer was making headlines as a Cardinal senior.

TRUAX reached 164-10½, his personal best and a flip that surpassed the 163-3½ established by Winterbauer in the 1954 meet. Truax has made amazing progress in just one year. In his final meet of 1962 he finished second in the frosh-soph discus throw in the West Suburban Conference.

Bill's fine effort in the discus highlighted an otherwise mediocre set of field events. It was one of the weakest overall fields in recent years, but Truax and pole valuter Tim Rogers of LaGrange (12-6½) helped give some class to the events.

LaGrange's two relay teams established Class A standards in both the mile and half-mile events (3:25.7 and 1:31.5) with

Knights Host District Meet

Prospect High will host one of 15 Illinois High School Athletic Association sponsored state district track meets Saturday, May 11.

Arlington, Forest View and Palatine will be among 25 competing teams. The meet will start at 12 noon and should be completed by 4 p.m., according to Dick Kinneman, Prospect athletic director and meet supervisor.

Admission is 50 cents for students and $1 for adults.

Red Devils Top Cards In Tennis

Hinsdale Wins Crucial West Suburban Battle

At the outset of the season Arlington's Ken Schaller said that New Trier and Hinsdale were two of the state's strongest high school tennis teams.

Heading into action this week, Arlington boasted 13 victories in 15 dual meets.

The two reversals were administered by New Trier and Hinsdale.

The latest setback after a string of ten straight triumphs came in the crucial West Suburban Conference encounter last Friday afternoon with perennial power Hinsdale.

COACH JAY Kramer's Red Devils, ousted by Arlington last spring after a seven-year reign as varsity title-holder in the West Suburban, handled the host Cards 4-1 in a meet that was much closer than the score indicated.

Four of the five matches went to three sets, but the Cardinals were able to pick up just one point thanks to the second doubles team of Jeff Peek and Bob VonBoeckmann.

The two sophomores whipped John Brooks and Jin Hart 5-7, 6-3, 6-0 in the final action of the afternoon.

Each of the three singles battles went to three sets, but Hinsdale came through in the decisive set.

HIGHLY REGARDED Ted Kissell dumped Arlington's Russ Walters in first singles 6-2, 2-6, 6-2, and Bill Ninis stopped Jim Jakubiec in second singles 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Arlington's Chuck Close gave Rog Barnard a stiff tussle in No. 3 singles, but the Red Devil survived 6-1, 1-6, 7-5.

The first match decided Friday was first doubles where Hinsdale's Cuyler Berwanger and Dave Wrisley dumped Arlington's Rich Wollerman and Mirrel Kephart 6-2, 6-3.

ARLINGTON gained some revenge on a frosh-soph level as Frank Bohac's outfit posted a 3-2 triumph for its eighth victory in 11 outings.

Greg Inman, (6-2, 6-4) and Harley Gates (6-4, 6-2) won in singles for the Cards and the team of Randy Blaisdell and John Stevens (6-3, 9-7) triumphed in first doubles.

LaGrange Heads Palatine Relays

Basten coming out of nowhere for the mile victory. So close was the mile event that only two-tenths of a second separated La Grange from runnerup York.

The Dukes had whipped LaGrange in a dual with an identical clocking of 3:25.9.

YORK'S attempt at a national two mile record fell short in the morning session, but the Elmhurst entry did set a Relays mark that is certainly one of the finest standards on the books.

In shooting for the national mark of 7:49.9 York came home at 8:00.7 with Herb Rosen, Fred Piepenbrock, Charley Peterson, and John Koblik working the four legs. Five watches were following the York quartet, but it became evident early in the race that the Dukes were not going to reach the national mark.

One record was tied on a Class A level when Bobby Hubbard of Crane Tech streaked to a 10 flat 100 yard dash. Hubbard, more noted for his work in the hurdles, was an unheralded century performer, but he raised a few eyebrows with an effortless :10.2 in the prelims and then nipped Palatine's Duane Brooks in the one that counted.

A TRANSFER who topped Indiana's preps over the low hurdles as a junior, Hubbard handed Brooks his first loss in the 100 outdoors this spring after the Palatine sprinter had won both his prelim and semi-final heats.

Also scoring for Palatine were Bob McWilliams with a first in the borad jump (19-7), Jim Gow with a second in the discus, Jerry Kusek with a tie for second in the mile run, the high hurdle shuttle team with a fourth, low hurdle quartet with a fifth, frosh-soph 440-yard relay with a fourth, 880-yard unit with a fourth, and mile relay team with a third.

Palatine hit 3:28.3 in the mile relay for its season best with Brooks supplying a brilliant :49.8 leadoff leg and went 1:32.7 in the 880-yard relay, losing by a slim margin in the battle for third despite a lunging finish by Brooks.

IN ADDITION to the two hurdle teams, Prospect also claimed points with Ralph Stone's third in the discus throw, Dave Gobeille's third in the high jump, a fourth in the mile relay, and third in the 880-yard event.

The Knights clicked off 1:32.6 and 3:32.6 clockings in the two relays for their best standards thus far in the outdoor campaign.

Arlington showed strength in the individual events but could pick up just one marker in a relay, taking fifth in the frosh-soph 440-yard attraction.

TRUAX TOPPED the Cardinal entries, but senior miler Robin Auld picked up three and one-half markers with a tie for second. Robin and Palatine's Jerry Kusek were given identical 4:32.4 clockings in the tight battle for second behind John Hudetz of St. Francis of Wheaton.

Auld achieved his personal best in the mile and broke his own school record in the process.

Jeff Hoy, another Arlington junior, posted a second in the high jump which went 6-0, and Tom Fagerson tied for fifth in the pole vault.

One record was broken and two tied in the Class B action. Glenbrook South set the mark in the frosh-soph 440-yard relay with a swift :46.5, and Woodstock tied the low hurdle shuttle standard of :47.8.

Woodstock also tied the high hurdle shuttle mark of :43.3.

Cardinals' Golf Squad Drops Pair

A talent-laden Waukegan outfit and another powerful LaGrange varsity leveled Arlington High School in recent golf outings, handing the Cardinals their first two dual meet reversals of the 1963 season.

Waukegan's powerful Bulldogs, generally recognized as one of the state's links powers this spring, flashed some brilliant golf over nine holes at Glen Flora Country Club in posting a 151-170 decision.

In action at LaGrange Country Club the host Lions waltzed past Arlington 319-340 in an 18-hole tussle that received an unfriendly visit from the weatherman.

The Cardinals also dropped both frosh-soph matches.

GREG PITZER, playing his first season at Waukegan after attending a private school, fired a blistering 36 for honors in the varsity match last Friday.

But Pitzer wasn't the only Bulldog able to reach the 30s. Dicello and Bedrosian recorded 38 and No. 1 man Dennis Rahling, Waukegan District medalist last spring, posted a 39.

Chuck Friedlander was Arlington's low man with a 40.

Darryl Burkett was next in line for Gary Clendenny's Cards with a 41. Rounding out the Arlington total were Fred Devin with a 43, and Ken Seeger and Rog O'Neil with 46s.

BOB ARMOUR, who has been turning in some fine rounds for Arlington, paced the frosh-sophs with a 44 in a 181-190 loss to Waukegan.

Rog Baer contributed a 46 and Scott Forpe (49) and Dave Carlson (51) also figured in the Arlington total.

Burkett's 84 on rounds of 43-41 was low for the varsity Cards against LaGrange. Also figuring in the Arlington score were George Brinke and Seeger with 85s and Devin with an 86.

Seeger and Brinke had the best nines with identical 39s.

Scott Miller was low for LaGrange with a fine 75 that included a fancy 34 over the back nine.

LaGRANGE'S SOPHS dumped the locals 351-371 with Armour again leading the way for the Cards.

"Bob had a 40 for the first nine," Clendenny explained, "and was one over for five when the rain came. We had to give him bogies the rest of the way for an 85.

"Actually, the way he was playing," Gary added, "I think he would have finished with about an 82. He's been one of our most consistent players at either level."

Now 1-2 in duals, Arlington will host powerful Hinsdale today (Thursday) and Glenbard West next Tuesday.

Tennis Team Wins Pair At Prospect

Prospect put its season Tennis record at four wins and one loss last week, whipping Niles West, 4-1, last Thursday, and coming back Tuesday to edge Glenbrook North, 3-2.

Lothar Hansen and Bob Gewecke each picked up a pair of singles victories for the Knights during the week's action.

Larry White and Scott Paris, number two doubles team, took both of their matches, and Scott Campbell and Bob Laechelt split in two meetings, winning against Niles and losing to the Spartans. Wade Schutze, number three singles player, lost both of his matches.

Meanwhile, the frosh-soph team dropped meets to Niles West (4-1) and Glenbrook North (3-2).

Doug Heitzman, number three singles player, was the only winner against the Indians.

Mike Duda took Glenbrook's number one singles man, 6-0 and 6-2, and Craig Wolf and Tom Bryant took a doubles match, 6-0 and 6-2.

Hinsdale Relays

and Downers Grove's Greg Grosrenaud, a :14.7 performer, is favored. The shot-put is wide-open with Proviso West boasting two of the top entries in Bill Watters and Ed Viktor.

Arlington's Bill Truax, second in the state discus ranking, and Proviso West's Ed Viktor should put on a fine battle in their specialty. Bill has a 164-10½ toss and Viktor owns a 160-10.

Morton West's Rich Ellison, who made some headlines last Saturday with a 13-4½ effort in the pole vault, will vie at Hinsdale with his stiffest competition expected from LaGrange's Tim Rogers.

JOHN SANDEEN of Hinsdale, who has covered 21-6, is favored in the broad jump with the high jump a definite toss-up. Area entries Jeff Hoy of Arlington and Dave Gobeille of Prospect could make some noise here.

Look for LaGrange to present strong entries in both relays with the Lions currently fourth in the state in the half-mile and third in the mile relay.

Prospect High's Knights, also entered in the Maine East Invitational on Friday, will counter with a definite title threat in their low hurdle shuttle unit of Larry Bogart, Tom Bremner, Ron Koepke, and Terry Sietmann. There will be no high hurdle shuttle as an open event is scheduled this year.

The Knights also feature capable entries in both the 880 and mile relays.

Arlington's best bets rest with Truax and Hoy. Miler Robin Auld, possessor of a 4:32.4, will be in some pretty fast company and should come up with his best performance of the season.

Hogan Hurls St. Viator Past Tuley

Mike Hogan twirled a neat five-hitter as St. Viator's frosh-soph baseball team edged Tuley's junior-varsity, 3-2, in action last week.

Both Tuley runs were unearned.

Third baseman Ken Cherwin headed the Lions' attack with three singles in three trips to the plate. Rich Profita posted a single and double, and Jim Mikes chipped in with two singles.

St. Viator scored two runs in the fifth and a single marker in the sixth while collecting seven safeties.

Score by innings:

Tuley	000 101 0—2-5-0
St. Viator	000 021 *—3-7-1

Golfers Win Two Of Three

Palatine's golfers went to the tees three times in five days, and came away with a pair of victories.

Last Thursday at Inverness, Bill Holm's charges routed Dundee, 159-196, behind the hot clubwork of Way Thompson, who posted a 37. Newcomer Bruce Haynurst and Bruce McIntosh had 40's, and Jim Arendt, a 42.

Over at Sunset Ridge on Friday, the Pirates dropped a 179-173 verdict to a New Trier team they had beaten earlier in the year at Inverness. Scott Young was low man with a 43.

At Zion, the Pirates encountered a Zeebee club firing the lowest score of any Zion club in ten years — and beat them. The total was 153-155, and none of Palatine's qualifiers topped 40. Thompson registered a 36, the best Pirate round of the spring, to capture medalist honors. Heyhurst had a 38, Greg Godbout a 39, and Arendt a 40. Irving Berlin, of Zion, matched Thompson's 36.

The sophomores met with similar results. They hammered Dundee, 185-305; lost to New Trier, 190-169; and beat Zion, 167-169.

The varsity has a 6-2 record, the sophomores, 5-3.

Peril to Kids

Thirty-five children lost their lives in this country last year by being suffocated in discarded refrigerators.

Forest View Golf Teams Lose Twice

A golf match between Forest View and Glenbrook North was called off Tuesday because the Glenview Park golf course was drenched by heavy rains.

Al Kintzle, Falcon golf coach, said the match would be rescheduled for May 7.

The Falcons will meet West Leyden today, Thursday, at White Pines golf course in Bensenville.

Meanwhile, Forest View dropped a pair of meetings to neighboring Prospect and Proviso West.

The Knights took the Falcons, 155-194, at Mount Prospect Country Club last Thursday, and the Fanthers turned the trick, 158 to 196, Friday.

Lone bright spot was Don Campbell's 39 against Proviso West at the Fresh Meadows course in Hillside.

Meanwhile, the Falcon Frosh-soph team also lost. Prospect beat them, 172 to 187, and Proviso won 158 to 176.

Jim Junkunk's 39, also at Fresh Meadows, was low in the Proviso match.

Double No-Hitter Ends With Bang!

What started out as a double no-hitter April 17 between Niles West's Tim Harfst and Prospect's Jim Hogarty, ended with a flurry of runs, and a 6-4 setback for the Knights.

It was the fourth straight loss for Prospect, and their fifth in nine games this year.

Hogarty started well enough, getting through the first inning without an incident, but walked four men in the second to give the Indians a one-run lead.

HANK LaRocco entered in relief, and got his teammate out of the jam. The big righthander proceeded to mow down Niles for six and one-third innings without a hit, although a pair of Knight errors led to another Indian run in the fourth.

Meanwhile, Harfst, ace of the Indian mound staff, pitched perfect baseball for six innings, retiring 18 Prospect batters in a row.

Prospect didn't get a hit until the bottom of the seventh when Dave Leekley layed down a perfect bunt along the third base line. The lefthand hitting outfielder beat the throw easily in registering the first Knight hit.

Mike Phillips followed with a single, sending Leekley to third, and Bob Geller hammered out another safety to score the first Prospect run.

HARFST regained his composure by getting Ron Aukamp on a fly to center, and fanning Ed Massof.

With a count of one ball and two strikes on Chuck Halverson, batting for Rich Beck, Phillips stole third, and came home with the tying run on a Niles overthrow.

Halverson walked but LaRocco went out to end the threat.

In the eighth, the roof fell in on LaRocco, who had — along with Hogarty — the other half of a no-hit game in his grasp.

NILES scored four runs on four hits with the big hit coming of a vengeful Harfst's bat in the form of a bases loaded double.

By the time LaRocco got the side out, the score was 6-2.

Gregg Kowal, playing his second game at shortstop, walked with one out in the Knight eighth. Leekley lashed out another hit to put two runners on but Phillips popped out.

Geller, the lanky firstsacker, kept Prospect hopes alive with a booming triple, scoring both Kowal and Leekley. But Geller remained on third as Aukamp flied out to end the game.

Prospect, Falcons Play Ball

Twinbills On Saturday Diamond Slate

Prospect, which is getting some fine pitching and curious fielding, hopes to break a four-game losing streak this week.

The Knights played Glenbrook North Wednesday (results unavailable) and meet Deerfield in a double header Saturday. All three games are on the road.

Coach Chuck Aldrich is hoping his infielders, who have been having trouble with baseballs lately, can find the handle long enough to support Jim Hogarty and Hank LaRocco.

The pair combined to pitch a near no-hitter April 17, only to have Niles West's Tim Harfst do the same. Prospect got to Tim for a pair of runs in the last of the seventh, but lost in overtime 6-4. One Niles' run scored on an error, and some tight fielding would have given Prospect a 2-1 win, and a no-hitter for Hogarty and LaRocco.

Meanwhile, Forest View plays Ridgewood in a single contest Saturday. They faced Harfst (and Niles) Wednesday.

Tom Wilkes lost a toughy to Maine's West, 4-3, last week because of an unfortunate balk, and the Falcons split a doubleheader with Glenbrook North Saturday.

Tom Lundgren and Wilkes picked up the 2-1 win with a nifty five-hitter. Wilkes and Dick Anderson pitched the second game which the Falcons lost, 5-3.

Ralph Kaspari let the Falcon hitters, getting four safeties in eight tries during the three-game slate. Ken Peters had three for seven, including a triple.

Dave Leekley and Bob Gellers led Prospect hitters with two hits each. Geller had three runs batted in and a triple.

Storm Warnings Up!

Knight Thinclads Set For Biggest 'Hurdle' At Maine East Relays

by BILL HALLS

Prospect will pit its flashy hurdle shuttle relay team against Evanston's powerful Wildkits tomorrow in the third annual Maine East Relays at Park Ridge.

But the team title is expected to be a battle between the Wildkits, fresh from victory in the Waukegan Relays, and defending meet champion LaGrange, winner of the Palatine Relays.

The meet will start at 6 p.m., Friday, according to Maine East athletic director Sam Marzulo.

"We'll have only two heats in most events so it should be over by eight o'clock," said Marzulo.

ADMISSION is 50 cents for students with identification cards, and $1 for adults. Maine East is located at Dempster and Potter in Park Ridge.

Besides the 480 yard high and low hurdle shuttle relays, pitting the record smashing foursomes from Prospect and Evanston, the meet will also include seven other relay events ranging from the 880 to the distance medley.

Field events will be the discus, shot put, high jump, broad jump and pole vault.

Other entries include Highland Park, New Trier, Waukegan, and Maine West.

Prospect's Dick Calisch has been waiting for a chance to put Tom Bremner, Ron Koepke, Larry Bogart and Terry Sietmann — his classy hurdle shuttle unit — on the same track with Evanston's Bob Williams, Jon Mitchell, Bill Stange and Roger Allen.

THE KNIGHTS' frantic foursome set new records in winning both the high and low hurdle shuttle events in the Palatine Relays, while the Wildkit hurdlers smashed a pair of year-old records at Waukegan.

Other Prospect contenders are Dave Gobielle in the high jump; Ralph Stone in the discus; the Knights' 880 relay squad, composed of John Carsello, Dan Johnson, Jim Renner and Bogart (best time: 1:-32.4); and the mile relay quartet of George Morris, Renner, Bremner and Carsello (best time: 3:32.4).

LARRY BOGART

Gobielle will get some competition in the high jump from Evanston's Ted Downing (6'3¾"). Gobielle's best jump is 6'3¾".

Stone has tossed the discus 146-feet, six inches this year, but should get a strong workout from New Trier's Bill Dear, who has gone 145-7.

THE WILDKITS also have a record breaking 880 group, including Jack Buresh, Mark Lustig, Roy Houston and Jim Dreyer (1:35.9 at Waukegan); plus a fine broad jumper in Stange, who has cleared 21 feet, eight inches this season.

LaGrange's juggernaut — which boasts good depth along with Evanston — is strong in pole vault, mile relay and 880 relay.

Tim Rogers, the Lions pole vaulter, has cleared 12-feet, six inches this year, and the mile relay team of Dave Basten, Norm Witek, Reggie Thomas and Leland Brown bettered Prospect's time at Palatine in winning that event in 3:25.7, another record.

The Lions 880 unit has accomplished 1:31.5, and Basten, Thomas, Rich Edwards and Jerry Gilbert are expected to repeat Friday.

But even if a man doesn't hold a bent for speed, he will have to keep both hands on the steering wheel while driving through Park Ridge tomorrow. The storm warnings are posted.

Thomas Bats, Hurls Sophs To Victory

Craig Thomas' pitching and hitting helped Prospect's soph baseball team to a pair of wins last week.

The righthander got credit for a 10-1 win over Niles West April 24, giving up three hits and one run, and driving in three runs with a timely base hit in the Knights' seven-run third inning rally.

Doug Gunter took over on the mound in the seventh, and retired the last three men to insure the win. Tom Clow led the attack with a pair of safeties.

Saturday, Thomas combined with Keith Bergen to pitch Prospect to a 3-2 win over Glenbrook South. The victory was the sophs' fifth in six games this year.

Thomas fanned nine in a five-inning stint, giving up both runs on three hits. Bergen took over in the sixth, and received credit for the win. He struck out four, walked one man and hit another, but kept the plate clear of Glenbrook footprints.

Bill Phillips homered to open the Knight scoring in the first inning. Clow singled to lead off the fourth, and scored on an error and passed ball to tie up the game.

The winning run came in the sixth when Clow again singled and scored on a double by John Alexander.

Red-Hot St. Viator Wins Doubleheader, Cops Four Straight

Four games in three days resulted in four victories last week for the busy Lions of St. Viator High School.

Effective pitching stints highlighted each decision as Frank Mariani's crew raced past Holy Cross on Thursday, Tuley on Friday, and DeLaSalle in a Saturday doubleheader.

Now standing 8-2-1 for the season with a 3-1 Chicagoland Prep mark, the Lions are slated to journey to Holy Cross today (Thursday).

St. Viator will battle a host St. Mel team Saturday in a single game and will be on the road again Monday at St. Joseph in Westchester.

Road games also are on the docket Tuesday and Wednesday with the locals tackling St. Francis of Wheaton and Maryville Academy.

IN ACTION last week freshman Joe Sanchez hurled a five-hitter, striking out seven, as St. Viator bumped Holy Cross, 7-1.

Ron Bakalar, Jim Vidt, and Jeff Haiduke each contributed two hits for the victors with Haiduke and Bakalar rapping triples.

St. Viator scored a single run in the first, two in the second, and three in the fourth for its fifth victory of the season.

Sanchez went the route and was backed with a nine-hit attack.

Score by innings:

Holy Cross	100 000 0—1-5-2
St. Viator	120 301 *—7-9-1

SCORING THE two decisive markers in the home half of the fourth inning, St. Viator edged Tuley of Chicago 7-5 in a non-league attraction.

Mariani used four pitchers in the contest with Jeff Brune starting. The veteran coach followed with Mike Sheetz, Haiduke, and Vidt.

Tuley jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning, but the Lions came back with a five spot in their half of the second. Tuley climbed into a tie with three more markers in the third only to have the visitors clinch the decision in the fourth.

Vidt paced the St. Viator attack with three safeties and three runs-batted-in. Also collecting hits for the winners were Bakalar, Chuck Heinrich, Tim Walinski, Brune, and Haiduke.

Score by innings:

Tuley	203 000 0—5-3-5
St. Viator	050 200 *—7-8-4

ST. VIATOR won its second doubleheader in as many tries Saturday with an impressive sweep of the diamond action with DeLaSalle.

Mariani's red-hot Lions took the opener 4-0 behind Haiduke's three-hit masterpiece and came back with a 4-3 decision in the nightcap.

Haiduke enjoyed fine control and was supported with three nifty double plays in the field in pitching St. Viator to a 4-0 triumph in Saturday's lidlifter.

The Lions erupted for four runs in the bottom of the fourth and that was the story of the game. Walinski delivered the clutch blow with a bases-loaded double that sent three runs home.

Haiduke drove in the final St. Viator tally.

Score by innings:

DeLaSalle	000 000 0—0-3-3
St. Viator	000 400 *—4-5-1

THE LIONS completed the sweep with an impressive 4-3 victory in the windup as Vidt went the route and yielded only five hits over eight innings.

St. Viator scored the tiebreaker in the eighth on a walk to Heinrich, single by Vidt, and run-producing single by Haiduke.

The locals jumped off to an early three-run lead after two frames, but DeLaSalle pecked away and tied the count in the sixth.

Haiduke was the leading St. Viator sticker with three hits and one run-batted-in. Vidt helped his own cause with two safeties and he drove in a run.

Sanchez slapped a homer to account for a third St. Viator marker, and Don Knudson drove in the fourth.

Score by innings:

St. Viator	120 000 01—4-9-3
DeLaSalle	002 001 00—3-5-0

Cards Meet R-B Next In Baseball

Twin-Bill Saturday; Locals Home Wednesday

Arlington carried some hot bats, a question-mark pitching staff, and a four game winning streak into West Suburban Conference baseball action this week.

After taking a doubleheader from Hinsdale with some robust hitting Bob Baker's Cardinals prepared for a single game Wednesday with York and another twin-bill Saturday at Riverside-Brookfield.

The unexpected turn in the weather Tuesday created some concern over the week's schedule, but Baker was hoping for a break by game time Wednesday.

THANKS TO the four-game win skein Arlington vaulted into second place in the West Suburban title scramble with seven contests remaining. Maine East headed the pack prior to the week's action with a 6-1 record and Arlington stood 4-2-1.

"We've still got the rough part of our schedule ahead," Baker said. "Anything can happen. The hitting has been encouraging, but our pitching still remains a question-mark."

Paul Splittorff's nifty one-hitter at Maine East has elevated the junior southpaw into the No. 1 slot on the Arlington staff with Paul slated to get the call in the return match with York. The Dukes won the initial contest, 5-4.

SPLITTORFF had compiled a fine 1.43 earned run average prior to this week's play with one victory and one reversal. Paul also worked in the 2-2 deadlock with Glenbard West.

Junior Steve Martin is the squad's big winner with two victories in two decisions and a 3.06 earned run average.

The stick work by the Arlington regulars has been impressive with Ken Layden, senior right fielder, continuing to wield the big bat. Ken lashed out 15 hits in his first 29 trips to the plate for a healthy .517 average.

FIRST BASEMAN Russ Ward carried a .400 mark into the York fray with 10 hits and nine runs-batted-in. Cleanup hitter and third baseman Rog Lindstrom boasted a .321 mark with Rog driving home 10 runs for the team leadership.

Gordon Keeley, junior left fielder, was the other Arlington regular eclipsing .300 with Keeley sporting a .316 mark on six hits in 19 tries.

Arlington is hitting .279 as a team.

After Saturday's doubleheader at Riverside the Cards will return home next Wednesday for a single game with Glenbard West.

Card Sophs Post Three Straight Loop Decisions

Arlington High's soph baseball team enjoyed a banner week with three straight victories against West Suburban Conference competition.

Coach "Bus" Ormsbee's Cardinals edged Maine East 5-4 and then equalled their varsity counterparts with a doubleheader sweep against Hinsdale.

Arlington blanked the Imps 8-0 in the opener Saturday and then registered a 5-4 win in the nightcap.

Johnny Friedl, a "B" pitcher as a freshman, yielded only four hits in pitching Arlington to an impressive 5-4 win over Maine East. Friedl fanned one and walked two.

Arlington put together two walks, a single, and a double in the first inning for four runs. Dick Hoppe rapped a double for the victors.

Score by innings:

Maine East	102 001 0—4-4-4
Arlington	001 040 *—5-4-2

JIM KROLL pitched a masterful two-hitter, striking out six, as Arlington leveled Hinsdale 8-0 in the first game Saturday.

The Cards tallied seven runs in the first, a singleton in the second, and held on for the decision. Two hits, five walks, and two errors figured in the seven-run uprising.

Score by innings:

Arlington	710 000 0—8-7-2
Hinsdale	000 000 0—0-2-3

ARLINGTON won its third straight game in Saturday's second game, tallying a single run in the sixth inning for a 5-4 decision.

Friedl hurled a creditable game until the sixth when he gave up four hits and three runs.

Jerry Fink counted the winning run for the locals after getting on with a single. He took second on an infield error, moved to third on a fielder's choice, and scored on Jim Jorgensen's fly ball.

Score by innings:

Hinsdale	000 013 0—4-7-5

Falcon Frosh Drop Pair in Diamond Wars

Forest View's frosh "A" team dropped its third and fourth games of the season last week. Maine West shut out the Falcons, 4-0, April 17, and Glenbrook North turned the trick, 10-1, Saturday.

Jim Rennhack suffered the setbacks. He got help from Bill King in the Spartan loss. Kurt Koentopp got the Falcons' only hit in the Saturday tilt. He also scored the lone run.

Paul Jordan's boys have now won one, lost four and tied two.

What Else!

Harold "Bill" Spute, Michigan State golfer from Hamburg, N. Y., was invited out for the varsity team after he shot a two-under par 69 at Forest Akers golf course to satisfy a physical education class requirement.

St. Viator Sophs Post First Wins In League Action

St. Viator's soph baseball team roared past St. Joseph and Holy Cross last week for their first victories in Chicagoland Prep league competition.

Coach Larry Nomellini's outfit fought back from a five-run deficit to edge St. Joseph 7-6 on Wednesday and then dumped Holy Cross Thursday behind Bill Ewald's two-hitter, 5-1.

Trailing 6-1 in the fourth inning, the young Lions exploded with some timely hitting and went on to edge St. Joseph by one run. They put the game away with two markers in the seventh.

John Loughman started on the mound for the locals but ran into trouble early. Jim Vidt came on in relief and picked up the victory.

Ron Rose collected a triple and single and drove in two runs for the victors. Dennis Wilkinson and Tom Collins also posted two safeties.

Score by innings:

St. Joseph	010	500	0—6—9—3

Bill allowed only one hit through the first six innings and was touched for two over-all. He walked five.

Mike Sheetz rapped a triple and drove in two runs to highlight the St. Viator attack with Ron Rose, Dennis Wilkinson, Bill Kaveny, Jim Wikes, and John Loughman also posting safeties.

In the final frame Gary Drabant caught a sinking line drive and prevented at least two Holy Cross runners from scoring.

Tainted Runs Spell Sophs Downfall

A flock of unearned runs gave Maine West and Glenbrook North wins over Forest View's soph baseballers last week.

Maine scored three tainted tallies to edge Rick Henderson, 3-0, April 17. The Falcons managed only two hits off of 6-foot-5 Jim Smith, a lanky lefthander. Bob Benavides and Gary DeBerge were the only Falcon batsmen able to hit Smith's southpaw slants.

Henderson gave up four hits and fanned nine as he dropped his first game of the year.

Saturday, Glenbrook picked up five unearned runs to whip Forest View, 6-5. Henderson again was touched for three of the gift markers before giving way to Benavides, who gave up the final three runs. Bob fanned five.

The Falcons scored three runs in the second inning with Rudy Perez accounting for a pair with a single. Forest View's final two runs came on Spartan errors in the fifth. Gary Clemens had two straight hits at the plate for the Falcons.

Coach Maury Levy's club has now won two and lost five.

Plan Day Camp Again This Summer

For the second summer the Ron Feiereisel Day Camp for boys five through 12 will be held at St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights.

Scheduled to run from June 17 to August 9, the camp will consist of four two week sessions. They will run from June 17 to June 28, July 1 to July 12, July 15 to July 26, and July 29 to August 9.

The sessions are held from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Last year 120 campers attended during the eight-week session. Each boy received an award at the end of his camping period, and special awards were given in various activities.

SPECIAL ATHLETIC awards are made at the end of each camping period and these are determined by point accumulation during the period.

Campers spend two hours per day in the olympic size swimming pool, one hour in the morning and one in the afternoon. Forty-five minutes are spent on individual and group instruction with the last part of the period set aside for free swim.

Instruction in baseball, basketball, track and other team and individual sports also are part of the program.

Additional facilities this year are the three outdoor tennis courts and six outdoor basketball courts. These will be used by the campers during the course of the season.

INCLUDED IN the tuition is the camper's tee shirts, cap, transportation, milk, insurance, and camp outings. Tuition rates are as follows: $40 per period; $75 for two periods; $110 for three periods; $145 for four periods; and $22.50 for an extra week or single week.

The staff will be made up of college graduates who are in the teaching and coaching field, and they will be under the direction of Feiereisel.

A former All-American basketball player at De Paul University, Feiereisel currently is head cage coach at St. Viator.

Married and the father of six children, Ron resides in the Northwest suburban area. He has a Bachelor of Science degree in Physical Education.

Cards Blank Proviso

Netmen Win 10th Straight

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph tennis squads, using revised alignments, had little trouble rolling past Proviso East last week in non-league attractions.

Both Cardinal units waltzed to easy 5-0 conquests of the visiting Suburban League Pirates with the varsity extending its winning streak to 10 meets.

In addition, Ken Schaller's Cards also registered their eighth shutout of the 1963 campaign.

Schaller used Mirrel Kephart, Jim Tindall and Pete Loris in singles, and they experienced no difficulty in posting straight sets victories.

Jeff Peek and Bob VonBoeckmann worked in No. 1 doubles and won 6-0, 6-0, and Bob Schuldt and Pete O'Neil wrapped up the rout with a 6-2, 6-2 win in second doubles.

Harley Gates, Randy Blaisell, and Dick Hula headed singles for Frank Bohac's sophs. Doubles victories were posted by the units of Brian Burke and Dave Milligan and Mack Borgen and Ernie Lockwood.

Steve's Tops Moyle for Gals' Title

New Champs Need Only Five Games for Victory

Steve's Restaurant reigns as grand champion of the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling league.

The Jeffery Lanes-based entry took four of five games Saturday in the roll-off with Moyle Construction and annexed the crown claimed by Morton Pontiac in the 1961-62 campaign.

A surge in the final weeks of the second half enabled Steve's to shoot past Moyle in the standings, and the new champions continued their red-hot pace Saturday when it counted.

STEVE'S TOOK two of three games in the opening set at Jeffery and then clinched the title in Moyle's own backyard, Country Lanes in Lake Zurich.

Sis Jennings of Highland Park, a 165 average bowler in the regular campaign, paced Steve's in its 2-1 victory with a fine 593 series on games of 221, 212, and 160. Her 221 keyed a 981 first game that served as the top team standard of the day.

Delores Harris of Wheeling, who averaged 172 for 96 games, reached 568 in the first three-game set Saturday with a 211 high, and Ann Neumann of Morton Grove and Jan Crovetti of Highwood hit 546 and 535 respectively.

SIS JENNINGS

FRAN Altergott of Mundelein was high for Moyle with a fine 596 that included a 216 opener.

When action switched to Country Lanes Steve's didn't let up. Ann Neumann paced the victors and they wrapped up the grand championship in two straight games.

Ann fashioned games of 173 and 258 for a fine 431 and Delores Harris chipped in with a 201 and 200 for 401.

Fran Altergott again was high for Moyle with a 372. She opened with a 203.

Manderscheid Blanks Niles

Tom Manderscheid tossed a two-hit shutout at Niles West April 24 to pick up his third straight win without a loss for the Prospect freshman "A" baseball team.

The Knights won, 5-0, as Manderscheid struck out five five and walked only one.

Ray Olson's single drove in two runs in the fourth for Prospect, as the Knights built up a three-run cushion. A pair of walks, a hit batsman and Rick Froemling's base knock accounted for two more runs in the seventh.

A six-run fourth inning was to hand the Knights their second loss of the season Saturday. The score was 6-2.

Manderscheid again started and hurled three scoreless innings before retiring with a sore arm. He also accounted for both Knight runs. Tom Beard took over and gave up all of the Glenbrook runs on three passes and a pair of base hits.

Dan Agard relieved Beard and shut out the South nine the rest of the way.

Manderscheid put Prospect in front in the first inning, driving in J. D. Thorne with a double. Thorne opened the inning with a single and advanced on a sacrifice by Tim Wille.

Before leaving in the third, Manderscheid whacked the first of back-to-back doubles to give the Knights a brief 2-0 lead. Froemling hammered out the other two-bagger to drive Tom home.

Prospect Humbles Deerfield

Prospect's varsity track team won eight of 14 events, including a double by Tom Bremner, to outdistance Deerfield, 72-46, last Thursday in an Interim League dual track meet. The win was the Knights' third straight in dual meet competition without a loss.

Bremner took the high hurdles in 15.4 seconds, and came back to win the lows in 20.7, as well as run a leg on the winning 880 relay team along with Dan Johnson, Ron Koepke and Larry Bogart.

Dave Grossfeld picked up a double for Deerfield, winning the 100 and 220 dash events.

Sophomore Jim Renner put Prospect in the lead with a victory in the 440 (52.3), and Dave Gobielle, who won the high jump with a six-foot leap, increased the margin.

Ralph Stone and John Zasadny picked up two more wins in the field events for the Knights. Stone tossed the discus 139 feet, two inches to take that event, and Zasadny won the pole vault with a leap of 10 feet, six inches.

Gary York, another sophomore, picked up the other Prospect first, defeating his old nemesis, Walt Weinert, in the mile. His time was 4:43.6. The two boys often face each other in both track and cross country.

Prospect also took the frosh-soph meet, 69-49, with Wayne Kuklinski picking up a double in the 100 and 220 dash events.

Ray Kick won the high hurdles and ran a leg on the winning 880 relay team. Relay teammates were Jim Bowker, Andy Kargacos and the stocky Kuklinski.

Gust Filantres, Tom Hogarty and Dick McMahon also scored firsts for Prospect.

Balk Foils Upset Over Maine

Falcons Win One, Lose Two To Put Season Mark at 3-7

In dropping a tough 4-3 decision to Maine West April 17, and splitting a doubleheader with Glenbrook North Saturday, Forest View's varsity baseball team brought its season mark to three wins in 10 games this week.

By far, the toughest of the seven losses was the heartbreaker to undefeated Maine West. (The Warriors have since lost).

With Tom Wilkes firing a five-hitter, it looked for awhile as if the Falcons, playing their first year in the tough Interim League, might pull the upset of the season.

MAINE DREW first blood, scoring a run in the first inning on a homer by Warren Baird.

The Falcons tied it up in the third when Ralph Kaspari got to second on a fielder's choice and scored on John Vylasek's single.

A fifth inning triple by Ken Peters and Kaspari's single gave Forest View a 2-1 lead, but Maine scored two runs in their half to take a 3-2 edge. A hit batsman, single and a balk by Wilkes contributed to the rally.

A walk to Tom Meyers and a pair of base hits by Ken Veltri and Jim Humphrey tied it up in the sixth, but the rally was quelled when Chip Allen, ace of the Warrior staff, fanned Tom Lundgren and Kaspari with the bases loaded in a relief role.

MAINE SCORED the winning run in the last of the sixth on singles by Al Waters and John Gabbert, plus a stolen base.

The Falcons outhit Maine, 9-5, with Peters, Kaspari and Veltri collecting two apiece, but Allen's tight relief pitching, and the unfortunate balk, sealed the loss for Forest View.

Lundgren, the flashy sophomore lefthander, beat Glenbrook's ace, Jeff Browne, 2-1, in the opener Saturday. Tommy gave up one run on two hits and five passes before giving way to Wilkes in the fifth. Lundgren fanned seven.

WILKES CAME in with the tying run on second and the potential winning run on third. He got out of the inning by forcing Chris Najork to pop up, and fanning the fourth and fifth men in the Spartans' batting order.

The lone Spartan run came across on a passed ball charged to catcher Kaspari after Lundgren had given up a hit, and a pair of walks.

Wilkes gave up three hits in the sixth and seventh but pitched over both jams to preserve the victory.

The Falcons got off to a quick 2-0 lead, scoring single runs in the first and second innings. With two down, Peters walked in the first, and scored on Kaspari's double. Ralph was thrown out at third trying to stretch the hit.

MIKE GRIESMAN walked in the next frame, stole second and scored on Humphrey's single.

Wilkes started the nightcap for Forest View, but gave up four runs in the first inning as the Falcons lost, 5-3. The key blow was a three-run homer by Don Johanson.

Glenbrook made it 5-0 in the second on two more hits and a pair of Falcon miscues. After that, Wilkes settled down and pitched shutout ball until being relieved by Dick Anderson in the sixth.

Forest View scored all three runs in the fourth on hits by Veltri and Wilkes, a walk and a hit batsman. Mike Herigodt drove in one run with a sacrifice fly. Veltri and Wilkes drove in the other two.

Bats Boom As Cards Roll Past Hinsdale In League Twin-Bill

"It was one of those days we couldn't do anything wrong." Arlington's head coach Bob Baker summed up one of the most explosive days in baseball history at the Euclid Ave. school.

Arlington unloaded 25 hits for 25 runs and handled visiting Hinsdale in both ends of a West Suburban Conference doubleheader last Saturday, extending its winning skein to four in the process.

The hosts slipped by the Red Devils 7-6 in the opener, then unleashed a vicious offensive attack in the windup, collecting 16 hits and 18 runs in an 18-6 rout.

Baker couldn't remember a more productive attack in any game since he started coaching baseball at Arlington High.

THERE WERE several heroes in the twin-bill sweep. Ken Layden delivered five more hits and continued his amazing plate work this spring. Rog Lindstrom banged out three safeties in the nightcap and drove in four runs. Rog blasted his second homer of the season. Russ Ward also picked up five hits, drove in three markers and rocked a homer.

Senior outfielder Joe Wertheimer picked up three safeties and produced a circuit clout in the opener.

Denny Christensen and Steve Martin, two juniors, gained the mound decisions although both failed to go the route. Paul Splittorff, author of that brilliant one-hitter at Maine, and Gary Spencer came on to supply the finishing touches to the diamond sweep.

With the victories Arlington vaulted into second place in the West Suburban Conference behind pace-setting Maine East.

THE CARDS needed only two big innings to put away a 7-6 victory in the opener last Saturday. They pushed over three runs in the first and four more in the third off Hinsdale starter Ed Sienko, a pitcher of some reputation heading into the affair. That reputation vanished in the initial segment.

Wertheimer's homer to left initiated the three-run explosion in the first and following a walk to Layden, Ward slapped his home run to center.

Singles by Layden, Ed Lemar, and Gordon Keeley, two errors, a hit batsman, and walk brought in four more runs in the third and that was enough for the pictory.

HINSDALE continued to peck away at starter Christensen, but Splittorff came on in the sixth and tossed two shutout frames to preserve Denny's decision.

Layden, Ward, and Keeley each had two hits for Baker's Cards, and LeMar drove in three runs.

After two scoreless frames in the nightcap things started to happen. Arlington collected four runs in the third, five in the fourth, and was home free with its fourth straight league decision.

Lindstrom, Ward, and Ted Melzer delivered the hits in the third, and a single by Ward and homer by Lindstrom keyed a five-run fourth. Two errors and a hit batsman also figured in that fourth stanza.

ARLINGTON HIT Hinsdale with two more markers in the sixth as Martin, Wertheimer, and Layden delivered the hits, and seven galloped home in an explosive seventh.

Wertheimer's triple was the long blow in the seventh, but Martin, Layden, Lindstrom, and Ward also chipped in with some more safeties.

Martin, who gave way to Spencer in the seventh, was shaky in his stint but he had more than enough support from the booming Cardinal bats. Steve aided his own cause with three singles.

Layden, Lindstrom, and Ward, the 3-4-5 stickers in Baker's lineup, each rapped out a trio for nine of Arlington's 16 hits, and Wertheimer picked up a pair.

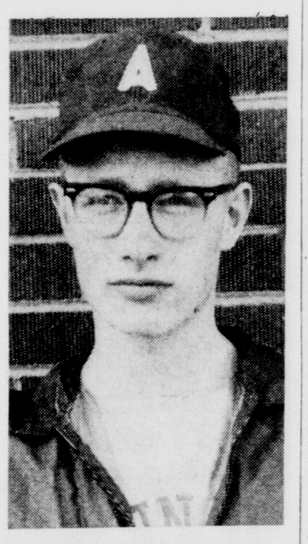
Card Southpaw Dazzles Maine With 1-Hitter!

Splittorff Tosses Gem At Unbeaten Leaders!

Southpaw Paul Splittorff twirled a sparkling one-hitter as Arlington High's varsity baseball Cardinals stunned previously unbeaten Maine East last week, 4-0, in a West Suburban Conference headliner.

Splittorff yielded only a sixth inning single to right fielder Jim Spiggos over seven frames as he hurled Bob Baker's Cards to their second straight league decision.

Although still plagued with control trouble, the talented junior managed to pitch out of the jams. The only Maine East safety came in the sixth frame with one out when Spiggos nailed a 2-2 pitch to center field just out of Joe Wertheimer's reach.



PAUL SPLITTORFF

ARLINGTON wasn't exactly knocking down the fences, but the Cards came up with the one big inning and that proved to be decisive. Nine batters paraded to the plate in the fourth inning, four produced hits, and four scored.

Mike Frase and Wertheimer walked leading off and Ken Layden slapped a single to left-center to fill the sacks. Rog Lindstrom then unloaded a single to left and Frase and Wertheimer scampered across with the first two runs.

Russ Ward followed Lindstrom with a drive to right center and Layden tallied. With one out Gordon Keeley rifled a drive to right that brought in Lindstrom.

The Cards failed to produce hits in any frame but the fourth, but that four-run explosion off Maine starter Larry Eichler was enough.

MAINE KEPT things interesting mainly because of Splittorff's control problem,s but Paul preserved his shutout with some clutch toiling.

Splittorff walked seven but fanned six over the seven innings. Ten Cardinals went down on strikes.

"It was a well-played game by both teams," Arlington's Baker remarked. "It certainly was our best game of the season, particularly on defense."

Mahoney Sparkles But Lions Fall In Two Matches

Kevin Mahoney continued his impressive work in No. 1 singles, but St. Viator's varsity tennis team still suffered two reversals in recent competition with Chicago St. Patrick and West Leyden.

Mahoney, an outstanding sophomore, handled Vic Wolski of St. Pat's 6-0, 6-1 and Newharres of West Leyden by an identical score.

Mahoney's voctory gave the varsity Lions their only point against St. Pat's with the four other matches decided in straight sets.

Ernest Grayech dumped Paul Weirich in second singles 6-2, 6-4, and Nowichi stopped the locals' Bob Galizia, 6-1, 6-0 in third singles.

ST. PATRICK also wrapped up both doubles tests over the St. Viator entries of John Lightner and Dave Harris and Paul Demmert and Joe Grittani.

Playing in third singles, Weirich joined Mahoney as a point-getter in the 3-2 loss to West Leyden. Paul dumped the Knights' Wadl 6-2, 6-2 in a fine exhibition.

Mahoney had triumphed in first singles over Newharres 6-0, 6-1.

In second singles West Leyden's Pachalsk stopped St. Viator's Mike Massey in an exciting match, 7-5, 7-5.

West Leyden swept doubles with Grand and Plaza dumping Lightner and Harris in No. 1 play 6-1, 6-4 and Hamilton and Hansen stopping the Lions' Demmert and Galizia in the No. 2 slot, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

Bressler Hurls Arlington Frosh Past Barrington

An eight-run explosion in the third inning carried Arlington High School's frosh "A" baseball team to an impressive 8-1 conquest of host Barrington last Saturday.

The Cards sent 14 men to the plate in the third inning, collecting six hits, three walks, and a hit batsman.

Coach Art Brownell's club only picked up two safeties in the six other frames, but Jim Bressler coasted in with the decision. Jim yielded five safeties, fanning seven and walking three.

"It was the first baseball weather we've had this season," Brownell commented, "and the team showed it."

Arlington	008 000 0—8-8-1
Barrington	100 000 0—1-5-1

In other action last week the young Cards dropped a 2-0 decision to host Maine East.

Bob Krug worked on the mound for Arlington and yielded five hits over six innings. Gary Bozee slammed a double for the Cards.

"The boys were hitting the ball, but it was right at someone," Brownell said. "This was Krug's (Bob) first assignment with the frosh "As," and he did a commendable job."

Classic Roundup

Sargent Named Most Improved in League

George Sargent, who helped spark Moyle Construction to its first championship this year in the Paddock Classic Traveling League, was named "most improved bowler" at the annual get-together Saturday.

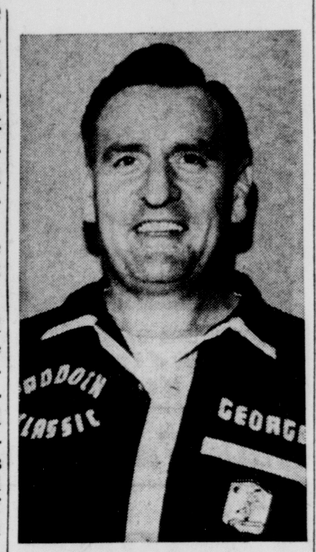
The announcement was made following a dinner dance at the Colt Restaurant in Palatine.

Bound scrapbooks were presented to each of the eight league sponsors, and trophies went to first place Moyle, which bowls at Country Lanes, Lake Zurich, and second place Highland Motors from Bowlway in Elgin.

Plaques were awarded to the sponsors of the remaining six league entries.

SARGENT, who averaged 198 in 86 games, bowled the second highest game (289) ever recorded in the six-year history of the classic, and had the third highest individual series (694) in this year's play. His 198 average was good enough to tie Bob Rogers of Stan's Standard for the third highest mark in league history.

Highland's Bill Radunz of Arlington Heights, and Stan's Buck Perkins, who hails from Barrington Woods, also entered individual marks in the record book this year.



GEORGE SARGENT

Radunz fired a 288 game, tying him for third place on the all-time individual game roster, and Perkins' 287 game put him in fourth place.

STAN'S 3151 team series, sixth highest in league history, was tops this year. Lieber Bowlers Shop had the high team game (1118), and Highland led all clubs in high team average (951), tying the club for fifth place on the all-time list.

Highland handily won the first-half season in December, but was upset by Moyle on the final day of the second-half season, forcing a championship roll-off for the league title.

Moyle won the crown two weeks ago after falling three games behind in the best-of-seven roll-off, and coming back to win the final four games on its home lanes.

SARGENT displaced two-time champion Bob Rogers of Des Plaines in winning the high average title this season. Rogers did not qualify this year, competing in only 59 games. He averaged 193.

Roselle's Al Jordan, bowling for Highland, was second to Sargent with a 195 average. Teammate Tom Kouros of Palatine was third, averaging 194.

McDermott Stars Behind the Scenes

Although Joseph McDermott, 509 N. Maple, Mount Prospect, has never been on stage in his life, his name is familiar to patrons of Des Plaines Theatre Guild.

As stage manager for "The Tipsy Rebellion," opening a three-weekend run tomorrow, Friday, at 8:30 p.m. at Rand Park, McDermott will be executing one of about eight backstage chores he's performed for the guild since becoming an active member five seasons ago.

Some of his jobs have included set designer, set construction chairman, furniture designer and maker, sound effects man, lighting adviser, photographer, curtain-puller and a variety of off-stage voices.

IN ADDITION to his stage manager duties for "The Tipsy Rebellion," McDermott helped to create the sound effects, tape and will assist in producing sound for the show, which will continue Saturday and Sunday nights and May 10, 11, 17 and 18.

James Beall, 211 Winston, Palatine, will have a good seat to watch his wife, Julie, perform as leading lady of "The Tipsy Rebellion" since he will be in the "pit" throughout every show as head of the lighting crew.

Beall has been lighting Theatre Guild shows since the production of "Rashomon" two years ago.

ANOTHER northwest suburban resident prominent in the backstage activities of the new Theatre Guild comedy is Mrs. Jeannine Jakala, 615 N. Elmhurst, Mount Prospect, in charge of furnishing the stage set.

This is the eighth Theatre Guild play in which Mount Prospect resident, Richard Hoyt, 807 See-Gwun, has had a hand in the stage design or art work on the set.

A member of the current board of directors of the Guild, Hoyt designed the stage settings for the productions of "Mary Stuart" and "Rashomon" a few seasons back. His wife, Doris, has assisted him. Both are commercial artists.

WILHELM Levander, Des Plaines attorney, plays the leading role in the current play.

Others in the cast include Ed Sauer, Barbara Beckmann and David Fouch, Park Ridge; Charles Sule, Morton Grove; Louise Yonover and Ronald Seiden, Skokie; and William Bucher, Mary Fisk, John Clark, Harvey Crippen, Jim Kremers, Brian Cunneen, Tom Kuersten and Ric Ornberg, all of Des Plaines.

Tickets for "The Tipsy Rebellion," may be obtained by calling Mrs. John Clark, 824-8019. (BILL

CHARLTON HESTON, right, Yvette Mimieux and George Chakaris are three of the stars in Jerry Bresler's spectacular new production, "Diamond Head," in Panavision and Eastman Color. Also starred are France Nuyen as Mei Chen and James Darren, with Aline MacMahon and Elizabeth Allen co-starred. A giant story of modern Hawaii, based on the Peter Gilman best-seller, "Diamond Head" is a Columbia Pictures release. Starts Friday at the Catlow.

JACK LEMMON and Lee Remick share a tender kiss in this scene from "Days of Wine and Roses," the poignant Warner Bros. romantic drama opening Friday at the Arlington Theatre. As an attractive young couple whose marriage is blighted by bouts with the bottle, Lemmon and Miss Remick head a cast which co-stars Charles Bickford and Jack Klugman.

Pianist, Baritone To Perform May 12

Pianist baritone to 2-30 ital

A program of great music will be presented Sunday, May 12, by two young artists, Barbara Crooks, pianist, of Wauconda, and Lester Wagemaker, baritone, of Northbrook. They will perform in the Barrington High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

Both performers have appeared at Orchestra Hall as winners of the Commencement Contest of the American Conservatory of Music, where they are now members of the faculty.

Miss Crooks has received many awards, including the Society of American Musicians Young Artist Award, and scholarships worth over $2500.

WAGEMAKER'S voice training began in Grand Rapids in 1951 when he was 16 years old. Within the following three years he had sung many important engagements including the male lead in a New York company production of "Desert Song," and for the Council of Churches meeting held at Northwestern University.

His study has been under the direction of Theodore and Donna Harrison at the American Conservatory of Music since 1955. Since making his home in the Chicago area last year, he has appeared on several recital programs as well as television and radio.

For information concerning tickets, call 272-7646, or 381-6878. (Bill

Marge Collins Has Role of Ninotchka

Marge Collins, a Palatine homemaker, calls on experience and natural talents in the role of Ninotchka in Best Off Broadway Inc., show "Silk Stockings" to be presented in the Barrington High School on May 17, 18 and 19.

Starring in the romantic feminine lead is nothing new for Mrs. Collins. She appeared as Nellie Forbush in Rodgers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific" three years ago, and in "Showboat," last spring's BOB Player production in the character part of "Queenie."

This performer has had 15 years of dancing experience before entering BOB Players which gave her experience as a choreographer.

She directed the choreography in "Annie Get Your Gun," "Showboat," and "Guys and Dolls." As a child she sang and danced in many variety productions for the USO.

MRS. COLLINS has worked backstage as well as on stage. On scenery crews she has designed, created, and sewn costumes for "Annie" and "Showboat." She is also one of the founders of BOB Players and, as a member of the board of directors, is one of the policy makers of the group.

MARGE COLLINS

In the role of Ninotchka, she changes moods as she develops the character from a hard-boiled emissary of the Soviet Union determined to bring back a defecting Russian composer, to a soft, so-in-love, feminine woman.

Mrs. Collins said, "Our major goal in BOB Players is to provide our audience with a fine show done as professionally as possible. We have worked long and hard polishing our show to make sure we reach this goal.

"All of our cast, I'm sure, will receive resounding applause for their excellent portrayals of their roles."

Tickets available for the production "Silk Stockings" can be obtained at the ticket booth located in the Randhurst Shopping Center next door to the Randhurst Bank evenings, Saturdays or Sundays, noon to 4 p.m. or by calling Neil Doren 392-4003. (Bill

Gang Is Busted in 'Breath of Spring'

Playmakers Community Theatre is being credited with the smash-up of a gang of fur thieves.

They will be unmasked this weekend, when Playmakers presents the merry farce, "Breath of Spring," on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 2, 3, and 4, at Field School, 707 N. Wisner, Park Ridge. Curtain time is at 8:30 p.m.

Directed by Miss Peggy Sommers and James Downing, "Breath of Spring" was a smash-hit in London and was transferred to the screen as "Make Mine Mink," again a hit in England as well as in this country.

"Breath of Spring" is an appropriate title for the season, but in this case it refers to a mink stole of the same name. This fur piece sets off a series of hilarious complications, when it is "borrowed" by Lily Thompson as a present for her employer, Dame Beatrice Appelby.

THE FUN starts, when Dame Beatrice and her friends try to return it to the rightful owners, without letting them know that it is missing.

Heading the cast are Edward Boarini, 441 S. Rammer, Arlington Heights, as Brig. Albert Rayne; and Gwen Brown of Chicago as Lily Thompson.

Tickets and information on "Breath of Spring" can be had by calling CL 3-3290 or NE 1-3418. (Bill

Art Visitors to Step Into Flower Garden

Visitors to the Countryside Gallery, 10 W. Miner, Arlington Heights, will step into a flower garden complete with a bubbling fountain when the May exhibit opens on Sunday, according to Mrs. Kenneth Wagner of Palatine.

This show of watercolors and garden sculpture will continue through May 30. Hours for a reception Sunday will be 1 to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Wagner, a gallery director, is in charge of watercolors for the show and Mrs. James Imbrie Jr. of Palatine, a patron of the gallery, is assisting with the arrangements for the garden sculpture.

STABLE gallery artists whose watercolors will be hung are: Louise Elam of Arlington Heights, Sallie Gracey of Park Ridge, Win Jones of Barrington, Lois Roe of Palatine, Irving Shapiro of Skokie and Frieda Womeldorf of Barrington.

Harold Kerr of Palatine and William Wimmer of Arlington Heights are stable artists whose sculpture will be exhibited. Guest sculptors are Earl J. Hooks of Gary, Ind., and Fred Boger of Crystal Lake. Victor Ing of Morton Grove is guest watercolorist.

This seventh monthly exhibit at the Countryside Gallery has been planned with the advice of a number of garden experts and florists. The fountain complete with splashing water is the work of Earl Hooks, president of Midwest Potters and Sculptors of Chicago, a former instructor in Arts and Crafts in the District of Columbia Adult Recreation Program, at Shaw University in North Carolina, for the Gary public schools and at Studio A Gallery in Gary.

GUEST watercolorist Ing is a graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago and has also studied at the Universities of Illinois and Chicago, and at the Illinois Institute of Technology in the School of Design.

Boger is primarily interested in metal sculpture and his garden sculptures constructed with chunks of colored glass caged in lead have received much attention.

Mrs. Wagner has indicated that the exhibit will combine the luminous qualities of the watercolors and the solid sculptured pieces to create a springtime garden setting. Mrs. Imbrie added, "Such arrangements will, we hope, suggest possible arrangements to visitors for their own gardens and homes."

Regular gallery hours are Tuesdays through Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. (Bill

Heston Stars in Hawaiian Setting

Modern Hawaii backgrounds "Diamond Head," the Jerry Bresler production opening Friday at the Catlow Theatre, Barrington, with Charlton Heston topping a cast that includes Yvette Mimieux, George Chakiris, France Nuyen as Mei Chen and James Darren.

In Panavision and Eastman Color, "Diamond Head" reportly is a giant story of America's newest State, a drama that involves both the people and the tempestuous history of the romantic island paradise.

Heston plays the ruthless young head of an agricultural island dynasty who tries to halt the marriage of his beautiful young sister to a full-blooded Hawaiian boy. Blind to his own hypocrisy, he also carries on a clandestine love affair with a lovely Chinese girl who is to bear him a son.

These elements fuse into the violent drama and romance of the absorbing new film.

Miss Mimieux is expected to win new acclaim for her performance as Heston's defiant sister — ranging from the ecstatic excitement of her "courtship" hula with James Darren, to a portrait of desperate loneliness with his sudden death.

Chakiris, Academy Award winner for his work in "West Side Story," plays Darren's half white brother, a young doctor who also loves the girl and who is able to match Heston's violence with triumphant understanding.

Miss Nuyen plays Mei Chen, whom Heston recognizes as a girl and not, despite his own pride of family, as a Chinese girl. (Bill

Teams Ready At 16 Posts

More than 100,000 people are expected Sunday in the first of three Oral Polio Sundays sponsored by Northwest Community Hospital and its medical staff.

Sixteen "clinics" have been set up in northwest suburban communities, ranging from Wheeling at the northeast to Schaumburg at the southwest.

Teams of volunteer doctors, dentists, pharmacists, nurses, hospital volunteers and community residents will man the stations from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Local Jaycees are handling "clinic" arrangements, local publicity and distribution of pre-registration forms.

THE IMMUNIZATION program will provide a two-drop dose of Sabin oral polio vaccine by mouth or on a cube of sugar for everyone from the age of six weeks up.

"This is the vaccine which can and will put an end to the polio problems."

This is the way hospital doctors describe the Sabin oral polio vaccine.

In a prepared "fact sheet" the hospital staff states "Salk vaccine has done an excellent job; there has been very little polio in our area in the last three years. But Salk vaccine cannot end the chance of polio epidemics, and for continued protection it is necessary to continue injections periodically."

IN CONTRAST, the doctors say "Sabin oral polio vaccine can give a permanent type of immunity and when one has taken three types of Sabin vaccine he will no longer need Salk vaccine injections.

"Sabin oral polio vaccine is the safest, most carefully prepared and most rigidly controlled vaccine of this kind that has ever been made available. There are no reactions."

A hospital spokesman noted "The more completely the entire population of an area is immunized at one time, the more thorough and permanent will be the results. Only in this way can we stop polio in our communities. Anyone who for insufficient reason neglects this opportunity is doing a disservice to his neighbors."

THE VACCINATION program is free and no one will be refused. A 25 cent donation will be requested to cover cost of the vaccine. All services are being donated.

If any money remains above costs, it will be used for the next two Oral Polio Sundays or to purchase hospital equipment for the benefit of the community.

Dr. Donald G. Ewald, physician in charge of the program, urges everyone to take the vaccine. He stresses that even those protected by Salk vaccine should take the Sabin oral vaccine since it gives more permanent protection, gives immunity in a different way and prevents persons from being unconscious "carriers" of the disease.

RESEARCH has revealed polio to be caused by three distinct virus types. Type I vaccine (to give immunity for the most common type of polio) will be used May 5. On the second Oral Polio Sunday, set for June 16, Type III vaccine will be distributed.

A third Oral Polio Sunday will be held in September for immunization against Type II polio virus. The postponement to September for the third vaccination program is necessitated by the arrival of summer months when health authorities discourage immunization programs.

Dr. Ewald points out the oral vaccine has been given to more than 100 million people in the United States and in foreign countries, on both sides of the Iron Curtain. Every program has proved the safety of the vaccine, he says.

"Not only has experience proved the safety of the vaccine," Dr. Ewald continues, "But the oral vaccine is approved by the Chicago Medical Society, Illinois Medical Society, American Medical Association, the Surgeon General of the United States and the U. S. Public Health Service." (B-9

List Locations Of 16 'Clinics'

Sixteen local "clinics" have been announced by Northwest Community Hospital for Oral Polio Sunday, May 5.

The clinics will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. At each immunization center there will be at all times a physician from the Northwest Community Hospital medical staff (in Wheeling a physician from Holy Family Hospital medical staff will be present).

The clinics will also have at all times a pharmacist and groups of nurses, and Northwest Community Hospital "pink ladies." Local dentists will work with the hospital staff.

Local Jaycee chapters are making arrangements for the "clinic" set-ups and are seeking additional community volunteers for help at each center.

Registration Blank To Speed Vaccination

Printed below is a pre-registration form for Northwest Communities Oral Polio Sunday, May 5.

Having the form completed before arrival at one of the 16 immunization centers will facilitate distribution of the vaccine. It will allow those with completed forms to avoid a wait in line while forms are filled out for them and for others.

SIMILAR pre-registration forms with a covering letter will be distributed to school children of both public and parochial schools in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg.

Forms must be completed and signed by parents and guardians for all unmarried persons under 21 years of age.

Only one form is needed for all members of a family who appear at an immunization center at the same time. (B9 MARION BRYNGELSON of Mount Prospect will be one of 100,000 people attending the Oral Polio "clinics" Sunday. Experience has given Mrs. Bryngelson a real reason to take Sabin oral vaccine to gain immunity from the types of polio she has not had. After an 18-year struggle with the lasting effects of polio, Mrs. Bryngelson has achieved the victory of self without mechanical aid and using her sitting up in a wheel chair, breathing by her hands and lower arms. When first stricken, Mrs. Bryngelson was completely paralyzed from the neck down and had to spend all her time in an iron lung. She holds a picture taken during a visit with her late mother in Minneapolis when she was wearing a portable chest respirator. (B9

JUST TWO DROPS on a sugar cube—that's the prescribed dose of Sabin oral polio vaccine to be given on Oral Polio Sunday, May 5. Little 2½-year-old Jason Joerger seems puzzled by a grown-up's explanation that a little syrup on a sugar cube will keep him from becoming sick. Jason will be attending one of the 16 polio "clinics" Sunday for his vaccination against polio. Give Contracts for Tennis and Parking

The second parking lot and the tennis courts at Forest View High School will be ready for use next fall.

The board of education of High School District 214 awarded contracts for both projects to Milburn Brothers, Mount Prospect.

Milburn was the low bidder for both jobs.

The tennis courts will cost $17,680 for eight courts. Other bids ranged up to $28,500.

THE PARKING lot will be paved with a five-inch base of Pozopak and covered with one and one-half inches of bituminus. The new Pozopak sub-base will be the first used by the district. Few installations with the ground stone, bonded like a cement base have been made. The parking lots at the Randhurst shopping center are on a Pozopak base and tests of the installation show it is holding up well.

Bids on the Pozopak parking lot ran ot $26,400. For a six-inch rock covered by two inches of bituminus the cost would have been $27,850.

The parking lot installation will include drainage. Pre-cast cement bumpers will be installed in place of curbs.

The new parking area will provide space for an additional 284 cars at the school. School officials had urged the paving of the second lot to provide space for community-attended events since no street parking is available at Forest View School. (AMK-EG

Bowling Captures Ladies' Fancy

THURS., MAY 2, 1963

Suburban Living
Especially for Women

LEE AND MARK JOHNSON, 4474 Hoover, Rolling Meadows, look forward to mother's bowling day at the Rolling Meadows Bowl so they can have fun in the playroom, supervised by Mrs. John Baryenbruch, right. Playrooms, spacious surroundings and a respectable atmosphere in today's bowling establishments are just a few of the attractions which are luring women bowlers to the nation's number one indoor sport. (SF

MARTY WEBER, right, manager-owner of the Striking Lanes, a 36 alley bowling and recreation center being built in Mount Prospect, gives a neighbor, Mrs. Earl Aschoff, a preview of what the new center will look like when it opens in July. Mrs. Aschoff is a member of a women's neighborhood team which is scheduled for daytime league play at the new establishment and plans to take advantage of the "bawl" room where five year Earl will be amused while she bowls. Women Enjoy Indoor Sport

by MELDA LYNN

Bowling has become the number one indoor sport for women — probably because it is also the number one indoor sport for other members of her family from her five-year-old child to her grandfather.

A current estimate of bowling trends estimates that 40 per cent of today's bowlers are women. This favorite sport for women has actually been gaining favor for many years, but today's modern bowling proprietors can be credited for its wave of popularity.

WHEN THE Women's International Bowling Congress was founded in 1917, its roster contained the names of 40 members. Today there are more than a million members.

Bowling has undergone many changes since it was a religious ceremony in ancient Germany, where the word "kegler" originated.

At that time, men carried kegels (or clubs), with them most of the time. This club became a part of a religious ceremony when it was placed in an upright position and a priest rolled a stone at it. If the priest was able to hit the kegel "on the nose," the owner of the kegel was supposed to be living a moral life. If the kegel remained upright, the owner of the kegel was told to reform.

THROUGHOUT history, the game was played with a varying number of piles of stones, or pin-like objects. During bowling's earliest history there were only nine pins used. Finally, after the game fell into disrepute by religious orders because of the form and number of pins used, someone got the bright idea to change it enough from the original game to keep the fun and skill, but make it acceptable to all and more like it is today.

The early Puritans banned the game of bowling, and from there on it was a game played in the saloons and smoked filled rooms by the men of the country.

However, when a few women decided bowling would be good exercise and a good way to reduce, their participation in the game added dignity and grace to the sport and brought it the good reputation which it holds today.

THOSE IN the business of running bowling establishments, with an eye not only on their business but with a new genuine interest in promoting the sport, are leaving no stone unturned to make it possible for the distaff side of the American population to enjoy the game of bowling just as the men and children do.

Bowling establishments are springing up all over the northwest suburban area and are fast becoming recreation centers used from early morning to late at night all year long.

Emphasis has been placed on making the bowling centers attractive, clean, air conditioned, sound - proofed and convenient, especially for women who make use of the alleys during the daytime.

A new establishment being built in Mount Prospect by Harold Weber and his son, Marty, promises to be the epitome of luxury and convenience, designed to attract the women, their children and their husbands, either as family groups, in league play or as individuals.

THE WEBERS are known throughout the country for their operation of the All Star Lanes in Skokie. An article in the Saturday Evening Post recently told of their operation there in making the sport of bowling one of prestige and good taste. Harold Weber travels to many parts of the country as a bowling consultant to other proprietors.

Marty Weber will be the manager of the new Striking Lanes located on Hwy. 83 just south of Golf Road. Already the management is planning special events for family recreation and catering to the needs of the women in the area.

Bowling leagues for women, bowling lessons and other attractions with a feminine flair are ready to begin the minute the doors open at the 36-alley center in July.

ONE OF THE biggest helps for the women will be the "bawl" room, designed to give mothers free time and mental relief while they are bowling.

The bawl room is designed for the pre-kindergarten children from two through five years of age. The room will be decorated and equipped with furnishings to delight the hearts of the tiny tots and keep them amused while their mothers are bowling.

A registered nurse will be in attendance to see that they are properly taken care of, and a qualified instructor will see that the children learn pre-kindergarten skills. They will be read to, see television and movies, sing and participate in all forms of recreation for their ages.

WEBER SAYS he plans to make the bawl room such an enjoyable place that the children will look forward to "mom's bowling" day with just as much joy as the mothers themselves will.

For women who do not have children of an age to need care, the new establishment will provide rooms for parties, luncheons, bridge playing and any other form of relaxation the women want after bowling.

The Webers have such a room in their Skokie establishment and realize it is an important part of running a successful place today.

AMONG other bowling establishments in the northwest suburban area which also cater to the mothers is the Rolling Meadows Bowl where a special playroom is one of the main attractions of the center.

Each morning finds from 15 to 30 youngsters playing and being entertained while their mothers take advantage of the fun and recreation offered by the sport of bowling.

Area Infant Welfare Units Plan for Week

The nation this week is focusing attention on the younger, younger generation — the babies — of the nation. Calling attention to babies, and National Baby Week which began Monday and continues through Sunday, May 5, are members of the various northwest suburban chapters of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago.

For, it was this society which originated Baby Week in 1914 as a means of calling attention to the needs of underpriviledged babies.

It was at that time that Lorado Taft created the figure of the mother and babe which is used as the official symbol of the society.

AS PART OF the 50th anniversary celebration this week, a bronze replica was presented to the Art Institute of Chicago where it has been placed on permanent exhibit in one of the enclosed gardens.

Members of the Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, and Palatine, chapters of Infant Welfare have worked to promote the work of the society through various projects which they have held during the year.

Proceeds from various fund raising projects they have held during the year have gone to help support the prenatal clinic, the infant and pre-school medical evaluation programs, the child development center, the teaching program to continue in-service nurses' instruction and the direct care of families.

During the past year the society has given direct service to 12,952 mothers and children, registered, 3,416 new infants and 3,182 infants under six months of age, conferred with 43,664 individuals and made 60,676 home visits for family health counseling.

LATEST fund - raiser of the Mount Prospect group was a Christmas - time dance in Old Orchard Country Club. The group is also working on a bazaar planned for next November.

Arlington Heights chapter's latest fund - raiser was a Mardi Gras dance at Riverwoods Country Club. This group is also planning a benefit card party for Friday, June 28, in Rolling Green Country Club. Tickets for this event will soon be available from members of the group.

Also planning a summertime benefit is the Palatine chapter. Although plans are not yet completed, the group hopes to sponsor a dinner dance in the Classic Club at Arlington Park. This chapter's last benefit was a swish premiere showing of fashions from the Purple Dobbin in Long Grove, given at [illegible]s Country Club last August.

You and Your Problems

Woman Holds Vague Feeling of 'Dread'

by DR. GERARD G. NEUMAN

Dear Dr. Neuman,

I've been very lucky in my marriage, in my home and with my children, but I find myself going around all the time with a heavy feeling, as though something terrible is going to happen. I try, but I can't shake it off.

I can't think of any reason I should be worried. My husband does work that he likes and he brings home a steady income that lets us plan for the things we need. Our children do well in school and I think I make our home pleasant and try to take care of the family the best I can.

DR. NEUMAN

I should be happy, but why do I go around with this feeling of something hanging over me?

Mrs. H.

The feeling you are describing, Mrs. H., is a feeling of anxiety that is not tied to anything specific. Since anxiety is always a signal that you feel yourself in danger, the problem is to discover what the danger is. It may come from outside yourself or it may come from within, but either way, you feel so threatened by it that you can't let yourself know what it is. This is the reason for the undefined sense of danger, while consciously you are not worried about anything. The danger itself may not be serious, but it becomes very serious for you because of individual reasons. That is why we can only talk in general about how anxiety works; the particular problems have to be discovered by the individual.

What kinds of danger might be threatening from outside yourself? By this I mean the things which may be happening to you or your family, over which you have little control. Perhaps you have reason to suspect someone is seriously ill, but you can't let yourself think about it. Maybe your husband is secretly worried about his job, and you are reacting to his concern. The first step is to identify the problem. You will find that it is usually true that the unknown is more terrifying than the known.

THE PROBLEMS that cause anxiety from within ourselves are much more difficult to get at. They develop when you feel a strong push to do something that you have believed from childhood on to be wrong. For example, say you've learned that an older woman is gossiping about you in a way that may turn your friends against you. Naturally you're very angry. You feel trapped, because you are seething inside but you've always been taught to respect your elders.

Consciously, you may treat the situation as though it doesn't matter, but inside you the anger you secretly feel and your guilt at being angry continue to build up to the breaking point, making you very apprehensive about what may happen if these feelings ever get loose. Here, too, recognizing the problem takes away much of the terror, since you can look at it more objectively and begin to find realistic solutions.

Lombard in Bloom

Lilac Town Prepares For Annual Festival

White, pink, blue, magenta and deep purple lilacs create a Spring wonderland each year in Lombard, heralding the village's colorful Lilac Festival, which officially opened this season on May 1.

Hundreds of flower enthusiasts stream to the town 30 miles west of Chicago to stroll through Lilacia Park, which now boasts a collection of over 1,200 lilac shrubs in 275 varieties; and to take part in gala festivities planned by village officials.

THIS YEAR the entire town will burst forth in hues of the lilac, Lombard's official flower and color.

Streets will be decorated with exquisite flower arrangements, taxicabs in shades of purple, and all village squad cars and equipment, even the sewer rodder, will be in delicate lilac tones.

May 11 is the date set aside for the festival parade and pageant. This twin bill of entertainment sees the return of hundreds of visitors to "lilac town" each year, in further celebration of Mother's Day.

TWENTY - FOUR floats, a dozen bands and nearly 100 units will add excitement to the festival parade at 2 p.m., plus local marching units and drum and bugle corps of navy and air defense drill teams.

That evening in Lombard Community House, the pageant features a formal presentation of the lilac queen and her court, in a floral setting, followed by buffet refreshments and dancing in the main auditorium for the remainder of the program.

The public is invited to the pageant, and tickets may be secured by contacting Ola Crissey at MA 9-0287. Garden club and senior citizen tours of the park are welcome — MA 7-1281 is the number to call for details.

Quite Contrary by Mary

Our Insatiable Young

I love little children. They are so appreciative. The statement is made with my tongue in my cheek, not about loving them but the other, and my head in my hands. I should learn after all these years, that no matter what you do for them, they don't think it is enough.

MARY

Comes spring and I start thinking up little family excursions that will be fun, fun, fun for all of us. After all I read all about togetherness too and besides I like such things as the zoo, Santa's village, museums and the beach. If I didn't, the poor little things would never go. That's how unselfish I am.

So comes the first hint of warmer weather and dear old Ma claps her hands together and in high glee asks them if they don't think it would be too peachy keen jim dandy to go to the zoo. They in turn clap their grubby hands together and say that it certainly would. Oh goody, goody.

So we are off to see the animals. As we drive along, we pass a carnival so they decide they would rather spend the day on the ferris wheel. As I cannot abide the things getting vertigo on anything higher than a foot off the ground, their suggestion for a change of plans is promptly and grimly vetoed. So we arrive at the zoo and what is the first thing that greets my small son's eyes? A merry-go-round and a little choo-choo. I consider these out of place among the tigers and bears.

I hurried him past these distractions and popped him into the lion house. Then I shoved him to the monkey house, the small mammal house, the snake house and any other house that hove into view. All of this was done to the tune of "I wanna go on a ride." But I am strong and determined. We did the zoo thoroughly.

And then we went on the rides. Several times. This is known as peace at any price. (SF

Child Needs Freedom from Parent, Psychiatrist Says

A nationally known child psychiatrist said last week that "emotional instability" in adolescence is a normal condition and that society and parents often impose rules of conduct upon him which he cannot fulfill.

Stressing the need for the growing boy and girl to achieve a "healthy emancipation from the parent," Dr. Cotter Hirschberg, training director of the Children's Service of the Menninger Clinic, said that the adolescent "may throw himself into a violent attack on the problem of growing up, with no seeming fear or anxiety as he plunges into anything and is fazed by nothing, or he may collapse or retreat, becoming shy, isolated and defeated."

The former professor of child psychiatry at the University of Colorado, who delivered the seventh scientific lecture in the current monthly series at Forest Hospital, Des Plaines psychiatric treatment center, stated that "adolescent emancipation makes the parent anxious, since it involves secretiveness, a loss of open affection, a lack of consideration of others and an intolerance of parents."

HE ADDED that "the parents worry over the loss of love because they fail to see that the youngster is losing childish ties and that he does not wish to abandon and renounce the parents."

It is this misunderstanding, Dr. Hirschberg, said, that often leads the adolescent into trouble with society and home.

The task of helping the child give up infantile pleasures and longings is beyond the scope of many parents, the speaker said, because some mothers and fathers themselves hold onto childish wishes and are enraged at the forced independence of their own adulthood.

"Parental responsibility is often deeply resented and the child's growth is viewed as an arduous and bitter struggle," the speaker added.

Many parents, Dr. Hirschberg stated, demand that the adolescent assume inappropriate adult responsibilities to justify their own failure, making maturity not an achievement for the growing child but a tenuously grasped and frightening thing.

Friends may save the day for the troubled boy or girl in the maturation process, Dr. Hirschberg added. "When family or environment cannot help, the struggling adolescent may be assisted in overcoming personal failure by his peer group."

The speaker added that the adolescent is a person belonging to a specific population group with a status and attitude of its own.

"WHILE parents and society demand that the adolescent make a normal adult adjustment, they unconsciously resist and hinder the necessary intermediate steps," the speaker added. The adolescent, for example, must begin to work on a healthy love relationship with the opposite sex, but it is particularly in this area that society is most inconsistent and repressive.

"Society and parents must provide clear ideals and images with which the adolescent may identify himself," the speaker stated. "The adolescent must move away from the parents to other relationships. His failure to do so in the social and cultural setting, and his consequent submission or independence, is always closely associated with his eventual sense of adquacy as an adult," the speaker added.

"Both family and religion can provide youngsters with limits and discipline which coincide with their search for such securities," Dr. Hirschberg stated. "However, in order to become emancipated fully from the parents, many adolescents must also doubt the religious attitudes and standards of the parents, to his own real distress as well as that of his family and church."

Referring to hospitalized adolescents who become emotionally ill while growing up, Dr. Hirschberg said that such patients may arouse anger and tension among professional personnel but "it is equally true that adolescents call forth an extraordinary amount of love, patience, skill and devotion."

In treating them, Dr. Hirschberg added, the adult therapist may encounter trouble because of "unworked through memories of his own adolescence, be they angry or nostalgic."

Dr. Hirschberg, senior staff psychiatrist of the Children's ic, has served as director of the Child Guidance Clinic in Denver and as professor of child psychiatry at the University of Colorado Medical Center.

He is a former chairman of the committee on Training in Child Psychiatry of the American Association of Psychiatric Clinics for Children.

The title of his talk was "The Adolescent and His Parents."

Forest Hospital is a short-term, intensive psychiatric treatment center. Dr. Rudolph G. Novick is the medical director and Morris B. Squire the administrator. An open staff hospital, the facility has an attending and consulting staff of 90 psychiatrists and other physicians in the various specialties of medicine. (S

These Hints Will Help

It's Tough to Keep A Sick Child in Bed!

When the seasons are changing — such as right now — the weather is so unstable that the common cold has a heyday.

Unhappily, children catch twice as many colds as adults and it's hard to keep them in bed as health authorities advise. They say a day or two of bed rest can prevent several days of extra illness later on.

But how can you keep a child with a cold in bed all day?

Well, here are some suggestions for mothers with younger children.

Make the bed as comfortable as possible by plumping up the pillow and straightening the bedding often during the day. Change the bed linens and the child's pajamas daily.

Keep a get-well star chart so the child will be interested in doing the things that make him well. The chart should be filled in three times daily.

He gets a star for eating all of his breakfast, for staying in bed (and covered) until lunch, another for drinking his mid-morning beverage. Do the same for the afternoon and evening periods.

BY THE END of the day your "patient" can earn up to nine stars. For a good score you might reward him the next morning with a new toy you had hidden for just such a purpose.

Next, eliminate the excuses for getting out of bed by placing all the things a child will need within easy reach. An extra snack tray can hold books, games, colored pencils and a little bell to summon mother.

A WASTBASKET for disposing used facial tissues should be near the bed.

To keep clean tissues neatly at hand, you could get a talented, floppy - eared dog called a Plush Puppy. It's a deep-pile toy that holds a box of tissues and lets them pop up through a slit in its back. It stays right in bed with the child to offer sympathy and tissues as long as the cold lasts. It'll hold your child's affection once the cold is gone, too.

For an active child a day in bed seems endless. He can be entertained with simple games that keep him occupied but not exhausted. A few old magazines, blunt-end scissors, paste and a few sheets of cardboard provide hours of entertainment. With these tools a girl can furnish a doll house.

OUTLINE the rooms of a house on the cardboard, then let her furnish the rooms with pictures from the magazines. For a boy, draw a map of the United States.

Cars, trains and horses snipped from the magazines can take fascinating imaginary trips.

A final reminder. Teach your child to blow the nose gently with a disposable tissue. Too much effort may force the infection into the sinus or middle ear. Remember that a lingering cold, especially when accompanied by a fever, needs your doctor's attention. (S

Tarnish Curbed by New Silver Polish

Tarnish curbed 2-36 bold

The experts tell us the silver tarnish war is finally really won. No longer, we're told, must we bag it, sack it, rub it, scrub it, hide it — to be able to use our silver every day without fear of the inexorable march of tarnish formation and the inevitable fortnightly chore of polishing.

All of this good news comes in the form of a new silver polish just reaching the market which claims to prevent tarnish from forming for periods ranging from four months up to as long as a year, depending on your silver's environment in your home.

THIS IS accomplished, according to a report, without the use of artificial spray coatings, with no harmful effects upon your prized silver or silverplate or on the food you might serve with it.

From a work-saving standpoint, it happens when you clean your silver, with no special operation needed.

The new product is Hagerty Tarnish Preventive, available at Persin and Robbin Jewelers, Dunton Court, Arlington Heights.

It has been developed by the makers of Hagerty Silver Foam, which first introduced the simplified, wash-and-rinse method of polishing silver. The new Hagerty product is a similar, emulsion - type polish which is applied with water and a wet cloth.

BEST OF ALL, the manufacturer says that a protective bond is formed with the silver which locks out tarnish for months. All you need do is dust your silver occasionally to renew the lustre while tarnish stays absent for four to nine months. In ideal conditions, silver may remain tarnish - free for up to a year.

It's a bit different with flatware and serving dishes, since they are washed frequently. The tarnish — preventing effects of the Hagerty polish can be expected to last through six or seven washings in strong detergent, after which re-application should be made. (S

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

A 'Springy' Mint Green Shower

By DOLORES HAUGH

April showers bring lots of fun for the hostess and the guest of honor and with everything coming up green, use this lovely "Springy" color for a shower this Spring. It might be a bridal shower or a baby shower but for either one, the theme's the thing to announce it's Spring.

INVITATIONS

On pale mint green paper, outline the purpose of your shower, either a bride or a baby bootie. Do this with dark green ink. Inside write the following:

Everything is coming up mint green
Guess it's the season to be seen,
And a shower there will be,
Featuring fun and gaiety.

State guest of honor's name, the day, date, time and place.

Ask each guest to wrap the gifts in light mint green paper and ribbons.

DECORATIONS

Focal point for the room will be your guest's gifts so make it something "special." Cut ½ inch strips of light green crepe paper and fasten all of them together at one. Place this end on a mantel, or on the wall with masking tape, this does not leave a mark as cellophane tape may do.

If possible, get a portrait of the guest of honor and place it at this point and arrange flowers around it. Or, if a baby shower, cut a large picture of a baby from a magazine, in color, and mount on cardboard and surround it with petals of pale green. The crepe paper will fall in a cascade to the floor or a table where each guest will fasten one end of the streamer to her gift.

If a table is used, cover it with pale green satin with an overskirt of white net trimmed with velvet green bows. This makes an excellent gift for the bride-to-be from the hostess, and even the table may be a gift from one of her relatives. These details you, as hostess, will work out in advance.

SERVE SNACKS of light mints in dishes scattered about the room. For the serving buffet repeat the satin tablecloth with overskirt or if you do not wish to go to this expense, use paper or dye an old tablecloth for the occasion, you'd be surprised at how many times a light green cloth sets a different feeling to a table.

Napkins may be paper with a suitable motif.

For the centerpiece, a lovely bride holding a green ivy bouquet with white flowers interspersed, and a doll may be used for this or you may wish to make the doll. This is done by rolling up ½ a sheet of newspaper around a pencil—this is the head and body of the doll. Fasten by twisting, four regular size pipecleaners or two extra long pipecleaners and twist them just under the ball of newspaper. Cover the pipecleaners, head and pencil with flesh colored crepepaper.

For easy handling cut this in one inch strips. Decorate face with crayon, paint or paste tiny appliques of paper for eyes, nose, heart shaped lips. For hair use yellow angel hair, a Kurly Kate potcleaner, or crepe paper. Insert pencil in cone-shaped cardboard, fasten with masking tape. Dress in materials or white crepe paper and use nylon doily for veil or nylon net. The arms will bend easily around the bouquet.

You will be able to use this centerpiece for many occasions simply by redressing her. For a baby shower dress your doll as a nurse in green and white striped uniform and holding a baby doll in a light green blanket. An all green flower arrangement may also be used. For favors, nut cups of green trimmed in green net using a gold curtain ring for a wedding ring tied with velvet ribbon and for a baby shower made into the same ruffling but with a tiny plastic baby attached.

Wrap all prizes in light green paper and top with similar favor idea.

MENU

All green jello molds, olives, celery or sandwiches frosted in light green tinted cream cheese. Petits fours of all shades of green from white to mint green. Punch, too, of pale green made by using sherbet, lemon-lime and lemonade adds a punch to the shower.

So let your guests turn green with envy, by showing up dressed in green and hostessing a Mint Green Shower. (S

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

Almost a 'Queen'

Dear Peg:

Watching the Queen For a Day program being televised from the Uptown theatre last week, was like watching a three ring circus! Four or five cameras were focused on various sections of the immense stage. One was getting ready for a commercial, another was focused on the models and their prizes, a third was watching Jack Bailey and the candidates for Queen and so on. All kinds of important looking men were walking around the stage during the program with clipboards, sheafs of papers, printed cards for the announcer to read and earphones to listen to what was going on the other side of the stage, I suppose. One man's job was to count off the seconds for the commercial to come on and again for Jack and his queens to come on. Come to think of it, these count downs were about the most exciting part of the show.

McARDLE

The show opened with a beautifully made up Mayor Daley welcoming an equally lovely Jack Bailey to Chicago. The Mayor also presented Jack with an album of Chicago Symphony records and as the big black-lettered applause light flashed, the audience responded nicely. With all the activity going on on the stage it was difficult to keep your attention on the interviewing of the candidates — the cute little page girls were so much prettier to watch and I was sure that any minute one of the camera men was going to back right off the stage!

I couldn't make up my mind which candidate deserved all those glorious prizes, so I just clapped for all of them. However, the rest of the ladies in the audience played fair and by a thin margin, the young mother who wanted beds for her children won (I sort of leaned toward the lady who wanted to set up a dog-grooming parlour in her home. This seemed a much more interesting wish).

After the show was over, Jack and his lovely cohort, Jean Cagney, held a short press conference. Mr. Bailey is just as relaxed and friendly in person as he seems to be on his program and has an even nicer sense of humor. He told us that the program has been going for 19 years — Miss Cagney has been with him for ten. In all this time, he only once had a dishonest candidate. One woman who had won, came back several months later with an entirely different story and won again. The truth wasn't discovered until all the prizes had been delivered to her home! He claims that it's neighbors that keep candidates honest. The minute that one would dare to come up with a phony story, her friends next door would be on the phone calling the studio.

The candidates are selected from the audience, by the "wish cards" they hand in, about ten minutes before the program is to begin. Members of the program staff make the selections. The press conference ended with all of us having our picture taken with Jack Bailey's arm around my shoulders. So, I wasn't queen for a day — I felt like one for a few minutes!

My love,
Patty

Spring Showers Call For Hearts, Flowers

A SHOWER IS ALL HEARTS and flowers when the orange-flavored punch is decorated with heart-shaped ice, the sandwiches trimmed with tasty "flowers." (S

Spring ushers in the season of bridal showers and with it comes this gay party scheme to delight the bride-to-be and her guests. The hearts and flower motif, pretty as any, is easier than most.

Directions for the party include a punchbowl with heart-shaped strawberry ice float for centerpiece, and dainty sandwiches, made well in advance, and decorated at the last minute with edible "flowers."

HERE'S THE how of it:

Trim crusts from thinly sliced white bread and cut into lengthwise slices. Go over slices lightly with a rolling pin to make firm, clean-cutting surfaces. Spread with cream cheese and press out with a heart-shaped cutter.

To make cornucopias cut squares of spread bread and overlap opposite corners. Press edges; the cheese holds the cornucopias in shape. Freeze or cover shapes with a damp cloth and store in refrigerator.

TO DECORATE, use chives for flower stalks, red caviar for lily of the valley blossoms, small wedges of red radishes to form tulip petals, egg slices with parsley stalk stems for other posies.

Fill cornucopias with sprays of watercress spiked with bits of cucumber, or celery stalk tops and pimiento strips.

ORANGE BLOSSOM PUNCHBOWL

1 pint whole strawberries
1 quart orange juice or juice blend
3 limes, juiced
¼ cup superfine sugar
2 large bottles ginger ale

Put a thin layer of water in a heart-shaped mold; outline with whole strawberries. Freeze. When berries are imbedded in ice, fill mold with water and freeze solid.

Before serving, dip mold briefly in cold water, and invert in punchbowl.

PUNCH RECIPE

For the punch, combine juices, add sugar, and stir to dissolve. Pour over ice heart in a three-quart punchbowl. Add ginger ale. Stir lightly.

Serve in punch cups garnished with whole strawberries. Yields 13 to 16 cups. Double proportions for larger punchbowls.

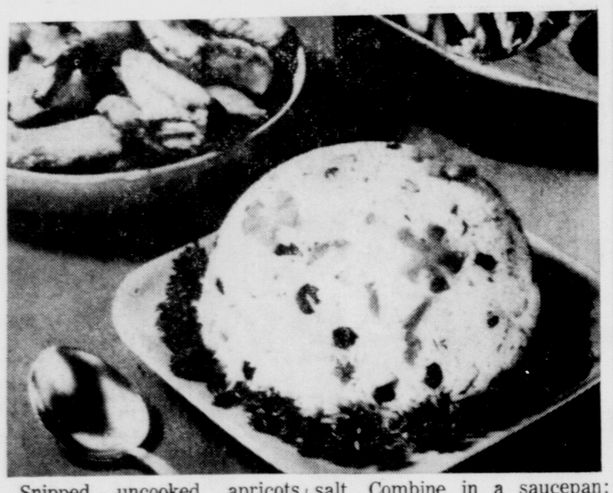
Fruit, Spice Rice Mold



Snipped uncooked apricots and whole raisins puff interestingly when stirred into hot cooked rice with melted butter and seasonings in a quickly prepared Fruit and Spice Rice Mold.

Not only do the fruits add flavor to the meat accompaniment, they add color as well. Toasted slivered almonds are used, too, to add crunchiness to the mold.

USE A decorative mold for the rice blend, if you wish, or simply mold it in a mixing bowl and garnish it for serving with apricot "stars" and tufts of fresh parsley. The important thing is to serve it hot with chicken, ham, or broiled lamb chops—any main dish that is enhanced by a fruity flavored accompaniment.

To prepare enough tender rice for the mold, use the easy "1-2-1" method. For each 3 cups of cooked rice needed, use 1 cup of uncooked white rice, 2 cups water, and 1 teaspoon of salt. Combine in a saucepan; heat to boiling, stir once or twice, lower heat, cover tightly, and simmer for 14 minutes, or until all liquid is absorbed.

For the Fruit and Rice Spice Mold, you would double the amount of rice, water, and salt, but the cooking time would remain the same.

FRUIT AND SPICE RICE MOLD

- 6 cups hot cooked rice
- ½ cup raisins
- ½ cup snipped uncooked apricots
- ¼ cup melted butter or margarine
- ½ cup toasted slivered almonds
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon curry powder, optional

Toss ingredients together using a fork. Press into a 2 quart mold. Let stand over hot water about 5 minutes. Invert on serving dish.

Makes 6 to 8 servings. (SH

Fans Can Make A Home Fresher

Keeping the home airy and fresh calls for good ventilation.

A kitchen fan rapidly expels cooking odors and heat and refreshes the entire room with frequent air changes.

Ventilating units available for today's kitchens range from simple fan units for window, wall or ceiling installations to decorative hood-ventilators. The latter may be used over a full range or built-in cooking components.

Some new ventilating devices purify the air and re-circulate it without exhausting it outside. They clean by electronic or activated charcoal filtering. Kitchen ventilators of any type should be located as near to the cooking equipment as possible to remove fumes and greasy vapors before they spread within the house.

GOOD VENTILATION also can improve comfort conditions in other rooms of the home. The bathroom, laundry room, recreation room and basement are among locations where a fan can be advantageously used. During hot weather, night cooling can be provided by a window or attic fan.

In buying a fan, care should be taken to select one that is reasonably quiet and quality constructed. A fan to be installed in an outside wall should have an automatic shutter for weather protection.(SH

NSAR, serves Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and adjacent areas. The group was founded 10 years ago by Park Ridge residents who saw and responded to the need to train and educate the mentally handicapped. Although the first class consisted only of young children, within a year's time the NSAR had launched a program for adults as well.

The organization has maintained and expanded this dual service and today serves young pupils through its junior shelter and adults through the Park Ridge Vocational Training and Shelter. Both sponsor programs aimed at developing self-confidence, self-expression, physical skills, and sociability within the limits of each individual's capacities.

THE WELL-KNOWN crafts program of the Shelter is one way in which students are given a sense of personal achievement. Handbags, baskets, mats, and scarves are made by the trainees and sold to the general public. Profits from the sale of these items are later divided among the students on "pay day."

"NSAR is an appropriate beneficiary for Kappa Delta to have chosen, inasmuch as the sorority's national philanthropy is also concerned with disabled children," commented Mrs. Robert Dallstream of Arlington Heights, president of the local group. She added, "Kappa Delta gives national support to the Children's Hospital in Richmond, Va., and annually awards three $1,000 grants for outstanding research in orthopedics."

- ¼ cup wine vinegar
- ½ cup coarsely-crumbled American blue cheese (about 3 ounces)
- 1 cup salad oil

Crush garlic with salt. Blend with pepper, celery salt, cayenne, dry mustard, vinegar, and half the blue cheese. Using a fork, mash cheese well into mixture. Slowly add oil, beating constantly until thoroughly blended. Stir in remaining crumbled blue cheese. Pour over salad, spooning chunks of cheese on top.

- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Coordinates

To coordinate decor in an open plan family room-kitchen, use the same wood for family room built-ins as for kitchen cabinets.

Shell beige West Coast hemlock is particularly favored for such projects because of its fine appearance and durability.

Spicy Notes

The Pharaohs of Egypt, 1000 B.C., monopolized mushrooms for their own use, thinking they were much too delicately good for the common people.

Ancient Romans used to grind together sesame and cumin seeds to make a seasoned spread for bread. (SH

FOR A LIGHT, but satisfying menu this Friday serve individual casseroles of tuna macaroni. Celery soup and American cheese blend to make this dish outstanding in both flavor and protein count. (SH

Tuna Macaroni Casseroles Superb in Flavor, Protein

In addition to superb flavor, Tuna Macaroni Casseroles boast an ease of preparation due to such convenient canned products as tuna, soup, pimiento and evaporated milk and to such pantry staples as macaroni and cheese.

After the macaroni has been cooked according to package directions, the rest of the ingredients are merely blended in and the mixture turned into a quart casserole or four individual casseroles. Baking time is only 25 minutes.

CANNED TUNA rates as an excellent protein food, protein being the foundation for building and repairing body tissues. Tuna's protein is easily digested and assimilated even by convalescents, very young children or the senior citizen.

It is also important for its B vitamins, for vitamin A, and its iodine, fluorine, phosphorus and calcium content.

TUNA MACARONI CASSEROLES

- 4 ounces elbow macaroni
- 1 can condensed cream of celery soup
- 2/3 cup evaporated milk
- 2 cans (6½ or 7-ounces each) tuna
- ¼ cup finely cut pimiento
- 1 cup grated process American cheese, divided

Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain and reserve. Combine celery soup and evaporated milk. Add macaroni, tuna, pimiento and ½ cup of the grated cheese. Turn into greased 1½ quart casseroles; sprinkle remaining cheese around edge.

Bake in a moderate oven, (350 degrees) 25 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

Mint Memo

It is thought that mint was brought to America by the Pilgrim fathers since it is mentioned among many other plants of English origin by 17th Century John Josselyn.

Chili Powder

Most brands of chili powder are richly, but not hotly flavored. Anyone who loves chili dishes with genuine Mexican pungency can add red pepper in addition to the chili powder; this will provide more "heat."

60-Minute Meal Spotlights Ham

Do you feel like celebrating spring with a glamorous meal, but hate to waste a balmy afternoon in the kitchen?

Try this 60-minute meal spotlighting Golden Ham Slice as the main entree. A center-cut ham slice bakes with an easy pretty topping of grated carrot and crushed pineapple flavored with brown sugar and cinnamon.

Home economist Reba Staggs points out that ham slices may be baked, broiled or panbroiled. Slices for broiling should be at least ½ inch thick.

GOLDEN HAM SLICE

- 1 smoked ham slice, cut 1 inch thick
- 1 can (8¾ ounces) crushed pineapple
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/3 cup finely grated carrot

Place ham slice on a rack in an open roasting pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 to 325 degrees) 30 minutes. Drain pineapple, reserving liquid.

Combine cornstarch, sugar and cinnamon in a saucepan. Add pineapple liquid and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Stir in pineapple and carrot.

Spread pineapple mixture over ham slice and continue baking 30 minutes. Four to six servings. (SH

Accent Beef With Tangy Fruit Sauce

For a different menu this week, why not combine raisins with another food that deserves important attention right now . . . beef? Well above average supplies of beef are being marketed, so watch for savings.

Harmonizing beef pot-roast and a sweet-sour raisin sauce is the recipe suggested by Reba Staggs, meat cookery expert. The sauce is cooked and thickened first. Then it becomes the liquid for braising the beef.

BEEF-RAISIN HARMONY

- 3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot roast
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 medium onion, quartered
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 1 bay leaf
- 1½ cups water
- ½ cup raisins

Flour for gravy, if desired

Brown pot roast in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add onion.

Combine in a sauce pan the brown sugar, dry mustard and flour. Mix well, add vinegar, lemon juice, lemon rind, bay leaf, water and raisins. Cook until thickened. Pour over pot roast.

Cover tightly and cook slowly 3 to 3½ hours, or until meat is tender. Discard bay leaf. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired. Six to eight servings. (SH

Boudoir Cookies

Freely translated, the French word "boudoir" means "sulking or pouting room." It eventually became an intimate little living room where milady entertained her closest friends, sipping champagne and nibbling very delicate, very elegant little cookies. Such "boudoir cookies" are now being imported to the U.S. and can be purchased in fine food stores. (SH

Lady Astor's Favorite Pie Shared by AH Cook

by LOIS SEILER

One of Lady Astor's favorite recipes, Gateau Fromage, is also a favorite of our suburban cook of the week.

"Translated, Gateau Fromage means a cheese pie which can be served for luncheons or as a side dish for dinners," Mrs. Andrew J. McMillan explained.

Mrs. McMillan uses her mother's tried and true pie crust recipe for this dish, and into it she grates sharp cheddar cheese, arranges sauteed onions over the cheese and crumbles crispy bacon on top. Then an egg and milk mixture is poured over all.

Baked for a half hour, this unusual and appealing luncheon dish needs only a salad and relishes as accompaniments.

"Because the Gateau Fromage is rich, I prefer a molded jello or tossed salad," Mrs. McMillan commented. "It also serves as an interesting side dish for a roast beef dinner."

Another of this good cook's specialties is a flavorful tomato cream cheese salad which she likes to serve for buffet suppers.

THE TART flavor of this salad, which combines tomato soup with cream cheese, salad dressing, lemon jello, celery, onion and green pepper, makes it an agreeable complement for almost any type of casserole.

For a luncheon, seafood can be added to this salad, which would entitle it to be used as the main course.

Mrs. McMillan's favorite dessert is one which she prefers to serve for bridge parties or evening entertaining.

Called a Chocolate French Silk Pie, this elegant dessert is easy to make and the only secret to its success is in the beating, which must be long enough to give the pie its "smooth as silk" texture.

"This dessert can be made the day before," Mrs. McMillan explained. "Because it is so rich it doesn't need a topping," she continued, "but the pie may be decorated with whipped cream."

IN ADDITION to cooking and collecting recipes, Mrs. McMillan has several other interests. She does volunteer work for the Chicago Junior School Village Friends, has been active in Scout work, is a member of Arlington Heights First Church of Christ, Scientist, the PTA, and enjoys playing bridge for recreation.

The McMillans live at 354 S. Belmont in Arlington Heights. They have four children: Bruce, 15, Dennis, 14, Charles, 13, and Nancy, 9.

GATEAU FROMAGE

1½ cups sifted flour
Almost ¾ cup shortening
1 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons milk
½ pound sharp cheddar cheese, grated
1 cup onion rings
3 slices bacon
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1¼ teaspoons salt
Accent
1 egg
1 tablespoon flour
¾ cup milk

Make a pie crust by cutting the shortening into the flour with a pastry blender; add salt and milk. Handle as little as possible. (This makes enough dough for a double crust).

Roll out half of the dough and store remaining half in refrigerator for future use. Fit into an 8-inch pie pan.

Grate cheese into the bottom of the crust. Saute onion rings in 1 tablespoon butter. Arrange over cheese. Saute bacon until crisp; drain and crumble over the onion. Season with pepper, salt and Accent.

Beat together the egg, flour and milk. Pour over cheese mixture. Do not stir. Jiggle pie plate a little to combine.

Bake in a 400 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown on top. Watch carefully. Cool slightly before cutting and serve warm. Serves 4 to 6.

TOMATO CREAM CHEESE SALAD

¾ cup undiluted tomato soup
3 small packages cream cheese
1 package lemon jello
1 cup boiling water
1 cup salad dressing
1 cup finely diced celery
¼ cup finely chopped onions
1 green pepper, finely chopped

Heat soup and beat in cheese until smooth. Dissolve jello in boiling water. Add to soup mixture and stir in salad dressing. Refrigerate until slightly congealed. Fold in remaining ingredients and pour into a fish mold, individual molds, a ring or an 8 inch pan. Place in refrigerator until set. Serve on lettuce leaves. Serves 8.

CHOCOLATE FRENCH SILK PIE

1 8-inch graham cracker or rusk crumb crust
¼ pound butter or margarine
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 square chocolate, melted and cooled
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs

Bake crust for a few minutes and cool. Cream butter or margarine. Gradually add sugar and cream well. Blend in melted and cooled chocolate and vanilla.

Beat in the eggs one at a time, beating for five minutes on medium speed on mixmaster after each addition. (This is what makes the pie smooth.) Pour into cooled crust and refrigerate for several hours; garnish with whipped cream, if desired. Serves 6. (SH

Tips on How to Pack

The spring season signals the start of America's annual real-live game of musical chairs.

Some 10 million American families, — many of them suburbanites — will move from one home to another in 1963. The majority of moves will be during the period May 1 to October 15.

Once the die is cast — the decision is made to move — the toughest part of moving is the packing that has to be done.

Because the job of packing is often such an enormous one, because there is so much to do and so little time in which to do it, the householder today more than ever is turning the entire packing job over to the professional mover.

ALL MAJOR local and long-distance moving organizations provide complete packing services as part of their over-all moving service. It costs extra, but the additional expense is worth it in terms of work saved and peace of mind.

Nonetheless, there are times when the budget just won't stretch and the job of packing, of necessity, becomes a do-it-yourself project. For such cases, long-distance household goods movers offer these basic rules of good packing:

1. Be sure the cartons or containers used are sturdy enough to hold together when fully packed. It's best when the top is still intact so that the carton can be closed. If good cartons are hard to come by, ask the mover to supply some. In some cases, he'll charge you, but the cost will be nominal.

2. PLACE heaviest articles along the bottom of the carton; lightest and most fragile pieces near the top.

3. When possible, pack pairs or sets of articles in the same carton. Parts of the same article and those which are used together similarly should be packed in the same carton.

4. Pack each carton as compactly as possible. Avoid having articles rattling about in a container. Press shredded paper around each article as it is placed in the container. Fill all voids in the container with generous amounts of shredded or crumpled paper.

5. Use extra cushioning or protective material on surfaces which are easily scratched or marred.

6. SEPARATE articles which are easily damaged from heavier articles such as skillets, irons, waffle irons, etc. It is best to pack them in separate cartons.

7. When possible, pack into the same carton articles which are to go in the same room in the new home. This will aid the relocation.

8. Close and seal each container, if possible. Label each container as to contents. Place "fragile" stickers on all sides of a container holding breakables.

9. Pack a little at a time over a period of weeks, rather than crowd it all into one or two days. The job will be done better and it'll be easier to do.

It Pays Off to Save at Krogers

Kroger employes received 97 cents in profit sharing credits for each dollar they saved under the company's employes' savings and profit sharing plan during 1962, it was announced by L. R. Mussleman, vice president of the Chicago Kroger division. Kroger contributed $3,460,913 to the fund from company profits for 1962, Musselman said.

A total of approximately $515,125 is shared by the 1,083 Kroger employes in the Chicago division area who are members. The plan, which is now 11½ years old, is part of the overall Kroger Employes' Profit Sharing and Retirement Income program.

ACCOUNTS OF employe - members throughout the company had grown to a total of $65,873,396 at the end of the year, Musselman reported. Employe savings and earning on those savings totaled $33,816,758. This fund is invested in U.S. Government bonds and FHA-insured mortgages. Employes' share of company profits totaled $32,056,638 at the year end. The company's contribution is invested in stocks, bonds, and other property, including five Kroger supermarkets and one SupeRx Drugstore.

Profit sharing plan members collectively are the largest Kroger shareowner today with a total of more than 507,800 shares at the beginning of 1963. This represents an average of 20 shares per member.

The Kroger Profit Sharing and Retirement Income Program is designed to provide two kinds of financial security for retirement. Employes are encouraged to save and are given the opportunity to share in the company profits they help earn, thus building a sizable estate for themselves and their families. This is in addition to the regular monthly income they will receive from the company when they retire. The company pays the entire cost of the retirement payments, Musselman said. (BB

Insurance Needs of Boat Owner Outlined

The boating season is here for Chicagoland and all types of sailboats, outboard and inboard powered watercraft, canoes and rowboats are navigating the lakes and streams nearby.

Many suburbanites may have the popular "homeowners" package insurance policy and the Insurance Information Institute reports this policy provides some property damage coverage for watercraft and affords liability protection for the boat owners.

THIS LATTER coverage is important, the I.I.I. says, since the waterways are becoming almost as dangerous as the highways and a boating enthusiast—like the motorist—needs financial protection against his own negligence.

The homeowners policy affords up to $500 of insurance against loss to a boat, motor, trailer or accessories resulting from fire, theft, vandalism and other perils. Loss caused by windstorm or hail is not covered if the boat was left out in the open, with the exception of canoes and rowboats.

The comprehensive personal liability section of the homeowners policy, which may also be purchased separately, covers bodily injury and property damage liability arising out of ownership, use and maintenance of the boat and outboard motor. The amount of liability coverage would depend upon the policy purchased.

INCLUDED IS medical payments insurance, which covers medical expense for each person, other than the insured and his family, who is injured or becomes ill as the result of an accident while in, or upon boarding, or leaving the boat. The insurance also pays all reasonable expenses for necessary medical, surgical and dental services rendered within one year of an accident.

The I.I.I. said outboard motorboats not in excess of 10 horsepower and inboards not in excess of 50 horsepower are covered at no extra premium charge as are rowboats, canoes and small sailboats. Additional premiums are charged for larger outboards and inboards and sailboats 26 feet or more in length.

SOME POLICIES exclude collision coverage while the boat is being used for water skiing unless there are at least two persons in the boat. Some states, including Illinois, have laws requiring two or more occupants in watercraft pulling a water skier.

The I.I.I. points out that the amount and scope of the boat insurance depends upon the amount of premium the boat owner is willing to pay.

Because of the variety of coverage available, the I.I.I. suggests that boat owners contact an independent insurance agent to find what policy is best suited to their needs.

Drawing Earns Student Trip To Auto Plant

Bud Ziehn Jr., third-year student at Maine West, earned an expense-paid trip to the Oldsmobile factory in Lansing, Mich., and to General Motors Institute at Flint, Mich., for himself and one guest. He qualified by making a colored drawing of the 1963 Oldsmobile 98 Holiday Sport Sedan to scale, which included detailed sketches of the dashboard and chassis, as an extra credit project in his Driver's Education class.

Mr. Govininni, head of the department, was so impressed with the work that he contacted Don Ladendorf, local Oldsmobile dealer, for an appointment to show him the work. Ladendorf, too, was impressed and showed the work to officials of Oldsmobile, with the thought that Bud might be chosen for an Oldsmobile scholarship to General Motors Institute. He would then have the opportunity of working for Oldsmobile Division, G.M.C.

Bud and his friend, Jerry Mueller of Des Plaines, a student at Maine East, left on Monday, April 15 by train for Lansing. They met their host, Mr. M. R. Campbell, Director of Training and Education for Oldsmobile, and were taken on a tour of the Oldsmobile Assembly Plant. The boys were quite impressed to see that about ninety Olds roll off this assembly line every hour.

Later, Campbell drove the boys to Flint, Mich., the home of General Motors Institute. There they toured the school and saw what and how the students study to become engineers. G.M.I. is a pioneer in co-op engineering. That is where a student spends a period of time, such as six weeks, in school and then six weeks in the co-operating industry, such as Oldsmobile, applying what they have learned. In this way it usually takes about one year longer for a student to receive his degree but he is actually further advanced in his knowledge and earning power when he is finished. G.M.I. has found this type of training most successful for many years, where other schools have only come to recognize its possibility in the past few years.

Before coming home on Wednesday the boys visited Oldsmobile's new Parts Distribution Center at Lansing, where they were impressed by small railroad cars with a brain. These cars travel about the building as if they were piloted by a human. They stop at crossings to let another car go by, then proceed on to a certain point where they pick up a package and then on and on. (BB

Damp Basement Often A Problem in Summer

Dampness in a basement in the summer is frequently caused by condensation of moisture from the air. This moisutre problem occurs when warm, moist air from the outdoors comes in contact with cool basement walls and floors, and with uninsulated cold water pipes. The water then condenses on the cool surfaces.

Dampness caused by condensation can usually be cured by warming the basement, through ventilating, insulating, or heating, or by reducing the amount of moisture in the basement by dehumidifying.

BY OPENING basement windows in dry weather, the walls and floors can be warmed in the summer.

An exhaust fan installed in a basement window and operated during the day is helpful in circulating air through the basement. However, ventilating alone is not a very dependable cure for moisture problems.

The amount of moisture can be reduced by a mechanical dehumidifier, which extracts the moisture and deposits it in a tank or allows it to run down the drain.

The mechanical dehumidifier is essentially a small refrigeration unit, and the moisutre in the air condenses on the coils since they are colder than any other surface in the basement. Some heat is given off in the operation of a dehumidifier which further helps to control condensation.

WALLS CAN be kept above the temperature of the ground by the use of insulation. When the walls are warmer, the moisture in the air will not condense readily on them. Moisture-resistant insulation with a mineral base and a built-in vapor barrier must be used.

To reduce the amount of water collecting on cold water pipes, they should be insulated with a formed or wrapped insulating.

For further information on moisture control in the basement and the repair of basement leaks, send 15 cents for Circular F2.0, "Basements," to the Small Homes Council-Building Research Council Research Council, University of Illinois, Mumford House, Urbana, Ill. Illinois residents please add state sales tax. (BB

Book Cites Realtor Obligations

Can a home seeker expect a Realtor to give him information which could dissuade him from buying a house in which he was initially interested?

Yes, if withholding such facts would constitute unfair treatment of the home seeker, explained Charles K. Burval, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, who cited a case today from the new book "Interpretations of the Code of Ethics" to illustrate his point.

This book, just published by the National Association of Real Estate Boards of which Burvel and the board are members, sets forth specific cases to show how the Code of Ethics to which they subscribe is applied for the benefit of the public, clients, and colleagues. (BB

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

The frost free date for our region is only four weeks off. This means it is time to start seedlings of tender annuals indoors. While it is improbable that you may have a coldframe or greenhouse in which to start plants, you can grow top quality plants with the aid of fluorescent lights.

Prepare boxes, flats, or other suitable containers by filling ¾ full of soil prepared. Mix garden soil with 1&3 coarse sand or perlite.

On top of the soil mixture spread ½ inch of horticultural vermiculite and thoroughly water the container.

SOW THE SEEDS in depressions 1/3 inch deep made in the vermiculite with the edge of a board. Very fine seeds can be sown on fine sphagnum moss spread in the depressions.

A complete description of this system is found in the circular, "An Easy Method for Germinating Flower Seeds," available from our Extension Service offices at 201 Dunton, Arlington Heights, Ill., or 6657 South St., Tinley Park, Ill.

As a growth chamber select a basement room or other location where temperature can be kept at 65 degrees to 70 degrees F.

The light source should consist of a fixture and reflector to hold four 40 Watt, 4-foot-long warm white tubes.

After the seed is sown in the flats or containers and the seedling medium is properly moistened, lower the fluorescent fixture so that the tubes are only six inches above the containers. Turn the lights on for 18 hours every day.

Under these conditions, germination is rapid and the emerging seedlings will receive good amount of light immediately. Two weeks after sowing, the young seedlings of cockscomb, alyssum, marigold and petunias are usually large enough for transplanting. This period might vary, however, with other types of annuals.

WHEN THE young plants have reached sufficient size, transplant and space them properly in flats of soil. If you have coldframe space, you can take the flats out and grow the plants there until they reach planting size. Or you can leave them under the fluorescent lights, continuing the 18-hour day and keeping the light just a few inches above the plant tops. Under these conditions, the plants should be large enough to transplant outside in four to six weeks.

If you plan to try fluorescent lights, use them on a limited scale the first season to see how it works. "Hardening off" the indoor-grown plants for a few days outside before setting them into beds. Restricting water somewhat and exposing plants to cooler temperatures outside will "harden off" plants so that they can withstand rigorous garden conditions.

How to Cope with Family Outgrowing Space

Attic, Basement Room Would Help

Has your family outgrown the "living space" in your present home?

Why not consider adding an extra room in the basement or attic? Or how about enclosing a carport or converting a garage? Careful planning before remodeling can make your home a pleasure for years to come.

First, make an inventory of your family needs and then decide which area in your home would be best suited to fulfill your requirements.

In looking around for more living space, owners of basements are truly blessed, since few if any structural changes need to be made. The walls and ceilings are already there—it is merely a question of how to cover them. A drab basement could be transformed into an attractive place for you and your children to play and entertain.

A VARIETY of effects can be achieved by making use of the different widths and paterns available from Western Pine region lumber. Solid lumber used in paneling or storage units, particularly the latter, comes in for a good deal of abuse. However, if it is simply stained and waxed, wood will not show signs of fingerprints or wear, and requires only an occasional dusting and wipe down with a sponge.

Attic owners too, have the basic ingredients for one room or several, depending on the size of the house.

Furring, partitioning, insulating, paneling and moulding—then who would know that this now highly livable area under the eaves was once a repository for trunks and old newspapers?

Attics can be converted for use as charming guest rooms or additional family bedrooms.

Living quarters may be moved out to enclose an outdoor area such as a porch, patio breezeway or carport. This newly found low-cost conversion space might well become a studio for your special interests, an informal room for relaxation and entertainment or a family room for family fun.

BY BLENDING imagination and practicality, remodeled patios and porches are designed to be activity areas, thus freeing the living room for normal and tranquil family use and saving the rest of the house from wear and tear.

A well planned remodeling project transforms wasted space into living space and can lead to organized storage in the form of built-ins. One of the most functional forms of built-in units is the storage wall. This type of storage may be either straight storage, a combination of storage and furniture, or storage and activity.

WHETHER your project entails a step-by-step remodeling process toward a total goal or a single project approach, careful planning is necessary.

Even if you plan a do-it-yourself remodeling project, you might wish to have the advice or part of the work done by a building contractor. He will also be able to counsel you on structural considerations and local building codes and restrictions. When it comes to choice of materials, your own lumber dealer is the best authority.

Builder Must Decide How Best to Use Space

by JOSEPH H. ANDERSON
President, Home Builders Association of Chicagoland

(Third in a Series)

Homes used to be planned with the major idea of providing a certain number of rooms.

Naturally, builders still have the number of rooms in mind when they draw up a blueprint of a home. But the tendency today is to look on a proposed home as an enclosure of space.

Builders think, at the outset, in terms of space rather than in number of rooms. They plan the house to provide the most efficient and attractive way to use space. They consider the traffic pattern, circulation, and convenience. They then get down to a room-by-room scrutiny.

Jim and Doris, the house-hunting couple we have in mind, found a home they instinctively knew as "This Is the House" for us. It may have been the over-all arrangement and convenience that endeared the house to them. Perhaps they were drawn to the house without being aware of the specific features that added up to so much liveability.

BUT JIM and Doris—and other house shoppers like them—doubtless would be interested in the way new homes are planned, from the inside out.

The traffic pattern is considered. There must be a minimum use of rooms as hallways. Builders draw layouts to achieve easy accessibility of all rooms to each other. They locate rooms having a related use, near each other.

The popularity of indoor-outdoor living poses a problem. There must be easy access of the one to the other. Sliding glass doors provide easy access and add to the attractiveness of the interior because they extend the eye's view to include the outdoors.

But the living area must be planned so there is still ample wall space for furniture arrangement.

AMONG THE details that you might not expect builders to study are the measurements of furniture.

In this connection, one of the most widely attended working seminars at the last convention of the National Association of Home Builders was one on house planning.

The "tools" with which they worked consisted of plan material drafted by Owens-Corning Fiberglas. Included was a sheet giving the usual measurements of just about every piece of furniture you would find in a home, from grand piano to chairs, desks, sofas, beds and cribs of all kinds, to table lamps and ottomans. Builders took measurements home with them, for use in drawing this year's blueprints.

Much is heard these days about zoning of a home. It is simply the grouping of rooms by the function they are to serve.

The bedrooms and baths constitute one zone.

The living area is another. It is made up of living, dining and family rooms plus, in some cases, a den and foyer.

The kitchen, dinette, and laundry provide the working zone.

THE ZONING makes a home quieter. Much of the noise in a home is concentrated in the kitchen, where mechanical appliances are located. Builders like to put the sleeping zone as far from the kitchen as possible.

Frequently storage closets serve as buffers between zones.

Of course, zoning in a two-story home is a simple matter.

The attention given zoning is just another instance in which builders seek to create a home that will serve its eventual owners in the best possible way. Today's homes are functional. They are built for people . . . and for the happiness of the entire family. (BB

Payments Surpass Pledges

Residents of Addison, Bensenville, Roselle, Des Plaines, Elk Grove, Park Ridge, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Schaumburg and Rolling Meadows contributed $474.38 to their hometown community welfare agencies for the first quarter of 1963, as part of a total record pledge of $13,236.00 by employees of Automatic Electric Company, Northlake.

This amount is $1,099.00 more than the 1962 pledge of $12,137.00, and represents an increase of more than 8 per cent over last year's pledge.

Payments to the suburban communities are being made quarterly through the Suburban Community Chest Council, a federation of suburban Chicagoland Community Chests for clearance of industrial contributions. (BB

San Juan Next Site For Zayre

The Zayre Corp., one of the nation's recognized leaders in the development of modern department stores, has contracted for its first move outside of the continental United States.

Stanley H. Feldberg, Zayre president, has announced that the firm will be the major tenant in a 95,000 square foot shopping center under construction in San Juan, Puerto Rico. The center, expected to be completed this summer, also will house a supermarket and a bank.

Feldberg said extensive studies were made of the area before Zayre decided to locate there. "We feel," he added, "that we have a service to offer which the people of Puerto Rico desire and will accept."

The Zayre store will be similar to the 48 units the seven-year-old firm has in the northeast, southeast and midwestern sections of the United States.

It will be a one-story modern department store containing more than 85 customer-designed departments, including apparel, shoes and accessories for the entire family, sporting goods, photographic equipment and supplies, major and small appliances, domestics, fabrics, yarns, hardware, housewares, toys, cosmetics and jewelry.

To Improve Our Batting Average

The Way We See It

Serving Basic Needs

Modern psychology addresses itself to three paramount issues of our time: peace, equality and freedom.

It probes the submerged causes of war, violence, hatred, hostility, and intolerance, attempting to achieve for those who seek its assistance an inner peace and strength; it requires answers to the hidden turmoils which — in chain reaction — can race to explosive conclusions.

Psychological equality is seen in the awareness that mental illness has no defined limits. The bank president who suffers a breakdown and the convicted murderer are alike in that they were not equal to the demands of environment and vicissitudes of childhood. But psychology does not judge.

Rather it sees in every man the ennobling and the base. This view was perhaps best summarized by Pope John XXIII in the recent encyclical, "Pacem in Terris" ("Peace on Earth") where he noted: "One must never confuse error and the person who errs . . . (for) he retains in every case his dignity as a human being."

And finally, the tools of psychology are employed to remove the restraints which bind men to the irrational and compulsive. They are applied to the handcuffs of the past which lock men against their will. It would appear that there is no higher freedom than that attained by the releasing of these bonds.

Those who practice this scientific art — the psychiatrists, psychologists, psychiatric social workers — are involved in a calling of exceptional responsibility. The observance of National Mental Health Week this week is an acknowledgement of this fact.

Much remains to be done in this field. Mental illness cripples more people in the United States than any other ailment. As a discipline, psychology is still in its infancy. Money for more basic research as well as for care of the mentally disenfranchised is always needed.

It is significant that Illinois, under the direction of Dr. Francis J. Gerty, state director of the Department of Mental Health, has started building a series of community mental health clinics. Such plans coincide with the national mental health objectives the Kennedy administration has mapped out.

Seven communities in the northwest suburban area are presently served by such a clinic, maintained by local contributions which are matched by state funds in a 2-1 ratio.

The Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Clinic recently completed a year of operation; its need is apparent when one considers the waiting list of 100 patients. By the end of the first year, 307 cases were opened with 222 still to be resolved. Some 2,300 interviews have been conducted with or concerning patients.

Worth of the clinic is further demonstrated by the statistic which informs that about 50 per cent of the cases involve children. This is the time when treatment is most effective — before patterns of response to situations become rigid and uncompromising. It furthermore holds out great hope for the future. Treatment at an early age could relieve already dangerously overcrowded state institutions where patients often become warehoused rather than treated. Anticipated population increases, of course, could offset this advantage somewhat.

The northwest cooperative clinic is presently 50 per cent understaffed and is more adequate in size to serve a population of around 50,000 than the 130,000 living in the communities of Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village, Hoffman-Schaumburg, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Wheeling-Buffalo Grove, and surrounding areas.

Officials, however, are candid in admitting that a waiting list is usually the price of a clinic's success, and that an increase in personnel would not necessarily erase a waiting list although it would make possible the serving of more people.

What is needed, of course, is more community support. Continued solvency will assist the clinic in such new programs as the one it has instituted in group therapy, and the planned seminars for juvenile officers, teachers, public health nurses and others exposed to emotional disturbance. It will also keep the waiting list down to a workable number.

More important, it will guarantee the northwest suburbs an effective outlet for problems which tax every strand in the fabric of a community. Psychology is concerned with all the variables, the totality, of man's existence. As such, it addresses itself to the paramount issues of our time.

Digging, Paving . . .

The Suburbs Of Future

by BOB CUMMINS

For a long time I have been troubled by uncertainty about the Suburb of the Future and have avoided writing about it for that reason.

But lately a vision of the Suburb of the Future has begun to form in my mind. The outlines of my vision are becoming firm. The uncertainty is drifting away like the mists of morning.

At last, I am ready to give my prophecy. It is bad. Very bad.

The Suburb of the Future will be treeless. Each municipal government will set up a special department and give it one command: "Destroy trees!"

This crew will be equipped with heavy-duty power saws to slice off every tree growing within the municipal boundaries. Then the stumps will be stuffed with dynamite and blown to smithereens.

CUMMINS

Once the department has eradicated existing trees, it will be ordered to duty on an around-the-clock tree-prevention program. The men will search out saplings that have sprung from seeds blown into the village from nearby forested areas.

These saplings will be "neutralized."

IF THIS CREW does its work well, not even a single tree will survive to: (1) limit the width of roads, (2) obscure the message of advertising signs, or (3) reduce the number of potential parking places.

However, none of these things will be the chief purpose of the tree-eradication program. The chief purpose will be to clear the way for U.P.P.

"What is U.P.P.?" you ask? U.P.P. is the Universal Paving Program. By adopting U.P.P. a municipality pledges to pave every square foot of land it has.

Land that is publicly owned is paved by spending motor fuel tax funds. The private gardens, arbors, flower beds and lawns are paved by special assessment.

Now, I know what you are asking. "Why destroy these things of beauty? Why forsake the colors of the flower gardens, the coolness of the leafy arbors, the lawns that are like green carpets?"

The answer is simple. The village must be paved completely as a vital preliminary step to putting the S.S.S. program into operation.

The S.S.S. (Stupendous Storm Sewers) program will be adopted by all progressive municipalities, the serious contenders for the All-America City Award.

UNDER THE S.S.S. program, cities will compete to build storm sewers that will carry away the greatest amount of water.

It is in the interests of winning this competition that the trees will be rooted out and the village paved, thus preventing any storm water from seeping into the ground and not doing its part to surcharge the gigantic municipal sewers.

As this vision of the future coalesced in my mind, I was aware of one big question. How in the world will people pay the tremendous cost of this blasting, digging, paving and piping?

The answer, once I found it, was simple. The scope of U.P.P. and S.S.S. will be so vast as to require that most persons in the Suburb of the Future be employed by construction, cement, pipe and paving firms.

These companies, doing a fabulous business, will share their good fortune with employes in the characteristic fashion of that more enlightened age.

As a result, personal income will be ample to take care of the tax burden of U.P.P. and S.S.S.

In fact, some persons will have enough money left over to move back to an apartment overlooking Lincoln Park.

Critic's Corner

Politics and the Poor

by CHARLES E. HAYES
Executive Editor

More than 450,000 Illinois citizens are on relief.

Their hunger and deprivation is caused by a variety of conditions — automation, illiteracy, discrimination, urbanization, limited job opportunities.

The cost of these conditions is public aid.

And public aid has become Illinois' most pressing problem.

Seldom distinguished by its statesmanship, the Illinois Legislature nevertheless has sunk to a new low in its current approach to the public aid dilemma.

It is difficult to determine whether the blame rests in stupidity or callousness; the result is a state disgrace shared by members of both parties.

THOUGHTFUL citizens who look to Springfield for understanding and leadership on the causes of public aid find only petty politicking of the worst sort on the cost of public aid.

The Executive Branch scarcely sets any example for the General Assembly.

Governor Kerner set the stage a year ago with a cynical appeal for downstate voter support by demanding an unfeasible slash of 10 per cent in all relief payments. The action resulted in the resignation of able and respected IPAC Chairman C. Virgil Martin. His replacement was Arnold Maremont, politically-ambitious Chicago millionaire.

Since summer, the governor has preferred to maintain a discreet silence and straddle a "middle course" on public aid. He has declined to exert determined leadership when it is most needed.

DURING HIS eight months as IPAC chairman, Maremont substantially demonstrated a special flair for publicity. His proposal to "spy" on IPAC staff members for cases of fraud; his long-delayed and reversed Senate confirmation; his hotly-debated program of state-supported birth control for ADC mothers—all managed to keep him prominently displayed in the headlines.

What little effectiveness as IPAC chairman remained was destroyed last week when he accused unnamed GOP senators of "anti-Negro bias" in their insistence upon relief payment limits.

Although there was a degree of truth to the charge, Maremont's intemperate and ill-timed attack unfairly blanketed all GOP senators with an accusation applicable to some. GOP leaders were justifiably irate at the outburst. Few tears were shed Tuesday when the Senate voted against him.

KERNER HAS spoken widely of the need for industrial expansion and for an assault on school dropouts; Maremont has spotlighted the problems caused by spiraling birth rates among married and unmarried women on relief rolls. But neither has made any substantial or sustained contribution toward the development of better public understanding of public welfare problems.

Public aid is unpopular; urban areas receive it, suburban areas pay for it, and rural areas resent it. Perhaps it is inevitable that vote-seekers exploit the issue of poverty. Suburban legislators in particular have vigorously attacked public aid programs, often gaining reputations for watching the taxpayer's dollar at the expense of the needy.

Applying Spartan economies to pet projects of privileged lobbies or special interest groups is dangerous; they are organized, the poor are not.

Too frequently, our legislation is directed at punishing and penalizing the poor for being poor. Little attempt is made to determine why such wide-spread unemployment and poverty exists in one of the nation's most prosperous states. And permanent relief to the burdened taxpayer rests not with inflicting starvation and suffering but with restoration of dependent citizens to self-sufficiency.

TWO PROMINENT leaders in the public aid controversy are northwest area legislators: State Sen. W. Russell Arrington of Evanston and State Rep. John W. Carroll of Park Ridge.

Arrington is one of the most influential members of the State Senate. He has dedicated himself to the task of abolishing the bipartisan Illinois Public Aid Commission in favor of a code department under direct control of the governor.

Carroll is chairman of the Public Aid Advisory Committee, whose recommendations to the 73d General Assembly were almost exclusively devoted to punitive and restrictive legislation. There was no recommendation for wide-spread rehabilitation, job retraining, education etc.

THERE IS no easy answer to poverty, swollen relief rolls, slums and suffering.

The answer certainly is not to evade the truth—that we now treat symptoms rather than causes of dependency; that public aid inherits the failures of all other human institutions and thus is blamed for the failures of society in general.

The fundamental issue here is bigger than suburbia, partisanship, or a balanced budget; it is a matter of survival and freedom, for the problem of public aid is related to our national interest.

Our composite strength—as a state or as a nation—is the strength of every segment of our population. We need to make this a strong nation; our nation is as strong as its weakest link.

This "problem" population of poor actually poses a greater threat to our internal security than anything overseas. It adds a new dimension to the discussion and interpretation of public welfare. When will our leaders in government accept that new dimension and approach the social and economic needs of our state as statesmen rather than as petty politicians?

Quotoons

If you will listen carefully enough, the things that really count in this life are softly spoken.

An opportunist is a fellow who takes the cold water thrown on his ideas and makes steam out of it.

Curbing Defense Spending

It is gratifying to note that the most sacred of Congressional cows — defense spending — is finally being examined for defects.

Previously, during these years of the cold war, all the military establishment had to do was pronounce the magic words, "National Security," to stampede the Congress into passing defense appropriations.

Now, with arms expenditures devouring more than half the Federal budget, members of both political parties are beginning to question the wisdom of rubber-stamping these requests.

Recently elected GOP Congressman Donald Rumsfeld, R-Ill., for instance, said in a speech from the floor of the House that "Instances of waste in defense spending are continuously being revealed by the General Accounting Office."

Rumsfeld further noted that ". . . the most obvious way to save on defense spending is to cut waste and improve procurement procedures."

Two bills introduced by Rep. Earl Wilson, R-Ind., are aimed at these two areas. The bills have the backing of Rumsfeld, Albert Quie, R-Minn., and Democratic Representatives Robert Kastenmeir (Wis.) and Lionel Vandeerlin (Calif.). Senate backing is coming from senators of such diverse views as Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and William Proxmire, D-Wis.

The two bills would 1) Give the General Accounting Office authority to block a negotiated procurement where there is no real justification for not getting competitive bids; 2) Set up a special Congressional watchdog committee, with members of both Houses, to scrutinize negotiated contracts and submit legislation to cure abuses.

Oral Polio Sunday

The Northwest Communities Oral Polio Sunday scheduled for this coming Sunday, May 5, aims at giving permanent immunization against polio to more than 100,000 residents of Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg townships.

Sixteen local clinics are prepared to parcel out the Sabin oral vaccine on that date. The program is being underwritten by the Northwest Community Hospital, although donations of 25 cents per dose will be asked of those able to pay for it.

Reason for a mass immunization program is that it has been found to produce more thorough and lasting results. The Sabin vaccine is felt to be superior to the Salk vaccine in that it builds an intestinal barrier against infection to more adequately break the chain of transmission of the disease.

Medical authorities advise that even those who have received the Salk vaccine should take the oral immunization to increase their own protection and to protect others in the community. This appears to be sound advice.

SPRING TIME TOUR

The Troubadours Are Back

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Last week I had the pleasure of reading a manuscript for a book to be published next summer, titled "The Christian Opportunity in a Secular World." Its author, Denis de Rougemont, argues that Christians may be better off in that "secular" world they scorn than in the religious world they helped create. The ability to make the best thing of the worst things characterizes much of de Rougemont's efforts.

That spirit is also evident in one of his completed books which is being published this week: "Love Declared: Essays on the Myths of Love" (Pantheon, $4.50). I suppose that the fact that I read a book about love at all and especially a bright purple-jacketed one is evidence that spring is here and that in spring a middle aged man's fancy turns . . .

MARTY

Back to the subject. De Rougemont, a Swiss author is an intellectual giant of our time; he is a director of a Genevan cultural institute. He was founder of Esprit, a "personalist" magazine of the thirties. He has worked with the Voice of America and the Committee of the Congress for Cultural Freedom. His earlier works include "Love in the Western World," a book which he builds upon and affirms in the new one "Love Declared."

Why the interest, on the part of a Christian lay theologian, in human love? Read de Rougemont and see. For one thing, "love" is in trouble in the modern world. According to de Rougemont, we are in trouble in part because we have separated the sexual (merely productive) from the erotic (with its elements of romance) from Christian love (which is generous, not self-seeking.)

He chronicles with dignity and without sensationalism or morbid curiosity the engrossing sexuality of our billboard-and-advertising culture.

In it he sometimes sees a creatively erotic character to go with the perverting misuse of sex and love. In any case, in a commercial and secular culture he feels the Christian does well to recognize the inevitability of the trend and not merely to scorn and mock the age. In other words, he should try to come to understand the situation.

According to de Rougemont, the Christian has contributed to the situation. The generally depreciatory attitude toward sex and the erotic begins, in the Bible, with St. Paul, and the Christian tradition in many centuries chose this note among the Biblical options.

Asceticism helps a movement keep its organization, its fervor, its discipline. Thus in the twelfth century when the "romance" came to Europe, Christians had to explain it away as an import (from Romania?) The troubadours just did not "fit in."

Well, the troubadours are back. De Rougemont contends that the Christians and spiritual people in general must cope with them. His book is a delightfully inventive exploration of two romantic or erotic myths in our literature. One is the licentious Don Juan; the other, the passionate Tristan.

How were they seen by Mozart and Kierkegaard; by Wagner, Nietzsche, Shakespeare (transformed into Hamlet)? How do they live in Doctor Zhivago and Lolita — of all books! — and other modern worlds? De Rougemont does not write a tract; he has no soap box.

He takes the reader on a spring time tour of some myths with which people of discipline and faith must cope today. The book, by the way, is beautifully written but very demanding upon the reader. As a book on love should be.

Mental Health Mixup Noted

Last year, in April and May, there was a great deal of confusion in the northwest suburbs regarding the annual collection campaign sponsored by the Mental Health Association of Greater Chicago.

We have been told that many people donated time and money to this campaign under the assumption that they were making their donation either to our local organization (the Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Association and Clinic) or that, at least, a part of their donation would be made available to our local clinic. In some cases, we have been told, workers sent out from Chicago even said that this was true.

SO THAT there will be no misunderstanding this year, let us state that our local group has no affiliation with Mental Health of Greater Chicago or any other state or national organization seeking contributions. Our association receives no financial support and our Clinic receives no financial support from any such group.

All money used by our association and clinic comes from local contributions plus a two for one matching of funds from the State of Illinois.

Because so many people in the area have shown a keen interest in the work of the Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Clinic, we felt it to be necessary that we help to clear up the confusion and misunderstanding that has existed regarding the relationship between our association and other groups that may be conducting fund drives in the area.

He Objects to High Rise Unit

It is about time that the village trustees concern themselves with the welfare of all of the people of Arlington Heights. Perhaps it would be best if fore than one slate of candidates be on the ballot at election time.

The reason for the above statements is the approval of the high-rise apartment building project by the trustees. Being a resident of the area where these are to be built, one doesn't relish the thought of looking out the window and seeing these monsters. One wonders as to why the trustees approved this hideous development, and actually what advantages are to be gained.

The one reason why I moved out of Chicago was to be away from high-rise apartments. Regarding taxes, the people of Arlington Heights will gain nothing from such a project. Perhaps taxes may rise due to the necessity for providing village facilities for the people who will inhabit the development.

Since the project is directly across the street from Prospect High School, the extra heavy traffic will be a problem for the pupils attending the school. Even though the rentals are to be high, this is no assurance that the schools will not be overburdened. People living in this development will not be carrying a proportionate amount of the tax load as those living in single family dwellings. This refers to village operation, street improvements, schools, etc.

WHAT GUARANTEE do the people in the nearby area have as to how faithfully and zealously the people in this new project will maintain the development without it becoming a slum area. Too many of the high-rise projects have a tendency of becoming slum areas. The rent levels are supposedly high enough to prevent this from happening. However, what happens when the per cent occupancy does not reach expectations. No doubt this will cause the level to decrease. How far down will they go to obtain full occupancy? Actually, who can afford such high rentals, except perhaps in many cases, an undesirable element.

I would like to have the village trustees re-examine their own consciences and think if this high-rise development is actually a good thing for Arlington Heights. How come light industry has not been attracted to the village? This would be better with regard to easing the tax burden than the so-called "high-rise" units. Maybe the trustees should be voted out of office the next time they are up for re-election.

Trustee Thanks Voter Backers

I wish to take this opportunity to express my thanks to all those who generously supported my candidacy for the Bensenville village board in the recent election.

That I was so successful is directly due to the loyalty and faith of so many who gave so willingly of their time and efforts in my behalf.

I wish also to thank all who voted in the election, whether they voted for me or not. It is only through the exercise of this rare privilege which so much of the world does not share that we can continue to enjoy the right to choose those who will govern us.

I will do everything in my power to fulfill the duties of village trustee in the manner which the people of Bensenville have the right to expect of their elected officials.

Builder Never Was Forgiven?

As a former resident of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect and now a member of the Meadowdale community, I deeply resent the article that appeared April 18 in Paddock Publications downgrading our village.

I grant you, we do have empty homes, but you failed to mention that the majority of the people who were forced to leave were swindled by a certain corporation. Others were created by another contractor who operated out of Mount Prospect.

EVERY TOWN and village has problem areas, but we in Meadowdale are so busy trying to take care of ours, we don't seem to find time to take pictures and write articles about other towns that are insulting and degrading. I suggest other villages follow our course.

I'm fairly certain that you have seen our huge shopping center and all of our modern public schools. You must know, too, that we are in the process of building a community swimming pool. And, I don't see how you could have missed the many hundreds of beautiful well-kept homes.

We elected our own mayor and trustees and are more than satisfied with the job they are doing in running our village government. Our police and fire departments are famous for their prompt action in emergency.

I can only assume that you have never forgiven Mr. Besinger for building inexpensive homes in Scarsdale.

Mrs. William Scanlon

Thanks Voters After Election

This community has previously elected excellent people to serve on their Wheeling-Buffalo Grove school board and because of this, you have every reason to be proud of your present school system.

Having been fortunate enough to be appointed to the school board last spring, I have enjoyed working with some of the finest citizens of our community and I consider it an honor and a privilege to have served with them.

Last Saturday, you elected me to continue in this capacity. It is with deep humility and a profound sense of responsibility that I say "Thank You." I will endeavor to prove myself worthy of the confidence you have reposed in me.

Urges Separate Pancake Dates

I was surprised when I found out about the two "Pancake Days" being held the same day. I thought everyone knew how important Little League baseball is to the youngsters of Arlington Heights. The date was set months ago.

I'm curious as to why the After-the-Prom Committee did not select a day besides April 27 to raise funds for the train ride to follow the high school prom.

I haven't heard any reports on how much money was raised Saturday, but I'd venture to say that Little League didn't do as they might have without the conflict.

I hope next year that different dates will be set for the two pancake jamborees.

Carpentersville President Tells Community Advantages

In your papers of April 18, 1963 there was a lengthy article about "Meadowdale" I would appreciate publication of this to correct the many inaccuracies that were so unfair to the more than 20,000 residents of Carpentersville.

May I also take this opportunity to invite Helene Bristol to spend a few hours with us so she may learn the truth about our community. I don't know how much time she spent in our village but I know we can show her a Carpentersville she failed to tell about in her story.

Let us clear up her first error. There is no village, town, incorporated or unincorporated area, "Meadowdale." That name is simply the designation given a subdivision of Carpentersville. The name, incidentally, was the name of a one-room country school on Route 31, north of Carpentersville.

WE ARE quick to admit that Carpentersville is not all we would like it to be, and I doubt that it will ever be all we want it to be. We are proud, though, of what we have done the past 10 years and prouder still that we have laid a firm foundation for greater growth and progress in the next decade. We have worked hard to plan properly and grow intelligently.

Much of the story was credited to Thorton K. Ware, head of the Kane County Planning Commission. Mr. Ware tells us that much of what he said was not quoted and much of what was attributed to him was not said. The comment about our village government is a point in case. To keep the record straight, our village government is not now, nor has it ever been, staffed in key positions by employees of the developer, L. W. Besinger. If you mean that advantages for building were given Mr. Besinger, that is true. As many communities give "tax-breaks" to industry to locate in their town, so were advantages given Besinger and other builders who made our initial growth possible. At no time was any builder given anything that was disadvantageous for the residents.

As a result of the cooperation extended, thousands of acres of corn fields became homes for families with moderate incomes. Homes where they could raise their families outside the crowded metropolitan areas. Incidentally better than 90 per cent of these people are native to Illinois.

Carpentersville, like every other new community had families who bought homes, no down payment, even as in Arlington Heights or in many of the other communities you cover. Some got in over their heads, even as among your readers. They lost their homes and left the VA with empty houses, even as in many of your areas. The actual number was less than 10 per cent.

Within the last year the VA inaugurated a program of maintenance and sale. Today, maintenance is planned so that a VA house can be bought and moved into with little or no expense on the part of the buyer for decorating or repair. Even this program is being stepped up. The sale of these repossessed homes has been such that today there are about 200 homes, and these, it is believed, will be occupied in a year or less.

OUR VILLAGE ordinances prohibit and prevent the slum tendencies suggested in your article. We enforce these ordinances, even with court action when necessary.

We have a planning commission, a zoning board of appeals, a building inspector and an electrical commission which work constantly to enforce our building codes. These codes, in some respects, are more strict than the codes in many Cook County communities. Our Master Plan has been designed to bring maximum benefit to our village and its residents.

We have areas set aside for homes with a minimum of 6,600 square feet of land, we also have our Lakewood area where homes in the $25,000 to $50,000 and up bracket are built on one-third acre or more.

We have 12 beautiful churches, parks in all areas, Little League ball fields, a $225,000 swimming pool under construction, and there are nine modern schools within our village even with the taxes for the general obligation bonds we are sure will compare more than favorably with the rates in your communities. While taxes everywhere are high, we in Carpentersville have done a pretty good job of holding the line.

We have a multi-million dollar shopping center with over 50 stores, including some of the largest names in retailing.

WE HAVE industry, not as much as we would like, but we are still young and there are firm indications of progress in that direction. Even now, there is on the drawing boards, plans for better than 200,000 square feet of industrial space already committed. Sizable areas are set aside for industrial parks so the residential air of our village will be maintained.

Our police and fire departments are among the best and they have proven it with the awards and recognition they have won. Our police have many awards for their excellence in training, in traffic safety, in juvenile work (and delinquency is not a major problem), and for their cooperation with other law enforcement agencies.

Our volunteer fire department has two new stations, paid for new equipment and their training and equipment has resulted in several reductions in fire insurance rates.

We have the Meadowdale Raceways, where nationally recognized auto races are held each summer. We have fishing, right in town. There is much beauty in the areas surrounding our village.

Mrs. Bristol tells of the "blight" that is spreading to the older part of Carpentersville. Blight like that would be the envy of almost any town in America well over 100 years old. The history of Carpentersville is rich and exciting and the pioneers left us a heritage in well-kept homes, tree shaded streets and a lovely spacious park.

Areas have been set aside for multiple dwellings. Some have been built and with their attractive, modern appearance they provide a necessary facet of our growth.

OUR FAMILIES have the highest average family income in our area, the educational level is high and we have another distinction. We have more babies in proportion to population than most Illinois towns. We love our children and are happy there are so many of them that will have the opportunity to grow up in a rural atmosphere yet with the advantages of a modern community.

There is so much more that is wonderful about Carpentersville but I know you have space limitations. So please, accept our invitation to visit us and see all the things you didn't write about.

In a year or two we might even thank you for your story. You have given us a "kick-in-the-pants" that has made us more determined than ever to make Carpentersville all the things we want it to be.

Police Lauded For Assistance

I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank The Mount Prospect Police Department for its prompt, reassuring and understanding assistance on the night of April 24.

Although the call I put into the department turned out to be a "false alarm" it was conforting to know that the scare was followed through completely.

RADIO Officer Mike Kilfoy, upon receiving my phone call, gave me instructions as to what to do until Lt. Newell Esmond and Officer Jim Creamer arrived, called me to tell me they were in the area and after the scare was cleared up, called me again to see if everything was alright.

I am glad that noises I heard and a figure I saw turned out to be not an intruder, but a member of my family who returned home ahead of schedule, but if it had been an intruder, the Mount Prospect officers would have ably handled the situation.

It is conforting to know that the department is "on the ball" and readily available when a resident needs (or thinks she needs) help.

Hits 'Callous' Board Action

The reports of the actions taken by the board of our elementary school system at the very first meeting attended by the newly elected members, by those actions, it seems to me, they have disqualified themselves for serving in that capacity.

If the intention was, in the crudest possible manner, to insult and humilate the official who has served our schools through a good many, exceedingly difficult years, they can feel they have eminently succeeded.

TO REFUSE even to accept the nomination of one, herself an educator who has served long in our schools, without demanding that that individual appear personally to testify regarding that nomination, is indeed shocking.

The callous disrespect revealed to the community for years of acceptable service and for what one is justified in regarding was the considered actions of the previous board, is to be deplored. I wonder how many of the members of the board would, themselves, like to be so treated. For Mount Prospect, I, for one, feel it is shameful!

Grateful for Lecture Story

We want you to know how very grateful we are for the privilege of having Paul Stark Seeley's lecture printed in full in the April 11 edition of your newspapers.

We have heard many expressions of gratitude not only from our church members and people in the community, but from many in the surrounding and also distant suburbs. Many have secured copies and we are still hearing requests for them.

We feel, and rightly so, that this was a beneficial service to the community and we appreciate it very much.

Call Lecture 'Inspiring'

We wish to express our gratitude for the appearance in your paper last of the excellent lecture given by Paul Start Seeley under the auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Arlington Heights.

We know that the entire community could only benefit from the printing of such an inspired lecture.

We are somewhat aware of the preparation and expense necessary in the printing of such an article and we wish to thank you personally for having made this possible.

To express our gratitude in a more practical form, we would like to subscribe regularly to your paper.

Peace Group Needs Support

I live in Evanston and was invited to attend recently a planning meeting in your northwest community of local people interested in studying and encouraging possible alternatives to the nuclear arms race, including the preservation and strengthening of freedom and dmocratic values.

I just want to say it is inspiring to me that there are groups springing up around the country with the courage to take a closer look at practices of the past and, indeed, to challenge the very values upon which many of us have built our lives.

Willingness to re-examine, and to question prevalent attitudes, requires a special variety of inner courage which most of us find very difficult in that we run the risk of discovering what we would dread to find.

It has become clear to reasonable and thoughtful people the world over that the indefinite pursuit of the war system quite likely will lead to catastrophe for large portions of mankind. Good minds have arrived at that expectation and the growing possibility stands separate and apart from the interest in containing political systems with expansionistic tendencies, whether expressed through communism or some other form.

I DO NOT know exactly what kind of world affairs and peace projects the northwest community group will undertake in the period ahead. They have had a few public meetings in the past, with informed speakers, designed to stimulate perhaps a broader world outlook in the community and awareness of the obligation we all have to seek creative approaches to human problems if our lives are to have meaning and quality.

Perhaps the group will continue along these educative lines. In my view, almost any organized effort, which is motivated by a sense of responsibility for constructive methods for achieving certain goals, deserves the sympathetic consideration of every American community.

I believe it is essential to the continuation of our democratic system for each of us finally to arrive at the realization that persistent support of cold war emotionalism and hatred is not the direction indicative of America's best potential; and that we need to find directions more in keeping with the complexity of the problems if we are to survive physically and spiritually—as both individuals and a nation—state.

One keeps recalling President Kennedy's strong appeal to the world through the U.N. a while back for a peace race between nations.

Perhaps "attitude" is the key to a more helpful contribution by each of us to human problems at every level. It may be that the northwest community group can be of value along these general lines. If so, it will be able to use a lot of local participation and various kinds of support.

Referendum Aid Earns Applause

With profound humility and sincere gratitude I'd like to say thank you to everyone who worked on the school referendum. Special thanks go to Marguerite Hernandez of Ontarioville, Pauline Brolin of Hanover Countryside, Norma Fitzwater of Woodland Heights, Shirley Girard of Streamwood, Cliff Iverson of Bartlett, Barbara Pompe of Laurel Hill, who were captains of their school areas; to Joan Wiley, Leona Gloss who spent many hours on the phone for weeks preceding the referendum, and again on election day with Gerry Cardinal, Pat Tidrick, and Don Henning. To mention everyone's name would more than fill this paper because there were hundreds, but their help was appreciated just as much.

Thank you to the teenagers who stood by on election day to provide babysitting and transportation to those who needed it.

Although the maintenance fund increase was defeated, the school additions and new Junior High School proposals passed and our work proved to be effective.

Thank you again to those who gave their time and efforts to make the project successful, some of you at a sacrifice. By your hard work our children are assured a better education through more adequate facilities.

To the man who can't work in air-conditioned comfort

(but would like to come home to it)

You can have Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning in the average 6-room home for as little as 50¢ a day.

(This includes maintenance as well as operating costs.) It's bad enough to have to work all day in hot, sticky weather. But it is even worse to come home to a house that's too hot and humid for sleeping.

Nowadays there's something you can do about it. It's called Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning, and the cost is a lot lower than most people guess.

For instance, to have it installed in the average 6-room home usually costs from about $800 to $900.

Operating costs will vary, but 50¢ a day for operation and maintenance over a period of 120 days is close to the average.

Electric air conditioning is simple, doesn't require water. It adds to the desirability and market value of your home.

You get a lot besides cooling. Air throughout the house is crisp, free of excess humidity. A filter in the system removes dust, and up to 98% of the pollens, from the air.

To find out exactly what Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning would cost in your home, get in touch with the dealer, distributor, or department store nearest you. The contractor you choose will be glad to give you a free estimate and financing is easy to arrange.

Overall Plan Is Stressed

Home improvement activity, which has grown steadily in importance for the past five years, promises to accelerate to an all-time high in 1963, as more home owners than ever before launch programs of modernization, remodeling or repair.

Even the owners of comparatively new homes are increasingly showing an active interest in home improvement, usually because the growth of their families has created an urgent need for more living space, or the expansion of existing service facilities viz the installation of an extra bathroom, more storage capacity, new laundry equipment and the like.

The most common complaint against the post-war house is that it is generally too small to meet the family's current needs. All of the rooms as well as the closet space were reduced to a minimum. Hence, the most successful solution is often to add new rooms, either by finishing off unused attic, basement or other space, or by even adding a new wing.

HOMEOWNERS contemplating extensive remodeling should adopt the "master plan" approach used by city planners, advises the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

The basis for this technique is to create a well-integrated over-all plan which meets future as well as present needs. Without it, remodeling can become a piecemeal project, costly in terms of both money and time.

A master plan should have as much individuality as the family which makes it, and should be developed with an eye to its changing social, economic and recreational conditions.

For example, is there enough space to accommodate a family's growth and increasing possessions? If not, it may be possible to convert the basement by gradual stages into a combination laundry room, storage area and recreation space.

The growing family that expects to do more entertaining in the future should pay particular attention to its living room. Before investing money in short-term decorating, the possibility of removing a wall to provide more space for entertainment should be investigated.

IN ADDITION to individual tastes and needs, the nature of the existing structure must be considered in creating a master plan.

For example, basements should be investigated for excessive moisture before remodeling them into living or storage space. The usual indications of dampness are dark stains on the cellar walls and floor and flaking cement on walls. Dry rot in basement ceiling beams and mildewed structure are also danger signs. These conditions should be corrected before a basement remodeling project is launched.

To insure that no part of the investment in a major remodeling project is wasted, it is well to consult an architect in the early stages of creating a master plan. He will make a thorough investigation of the house to determine what can be done, advise the best methods of doing it and give an estimate of the cost.

In planning major remodeling or modernization, it is also important to determine how much you can spend on what improvements to have the resale value of your home increase by at least an equal amount.

ACCORDING to the American Bankers Association, the final price you will get for your home will depend largely on (1) the kind of improvements you make and (2) the price range for homes in your neighborhood. So make sure the improvements are the "right sort." And keep the cost within logical bounds.

What are the "right sort" of improvements? Basically, they must substantially protect or improve the basic livability or utility of your home, must have a readily-apparent use or worth to a prospective homebuyer.

Now what is meant by keeping the cost of your improvements within logical bounds? Just this: ordinarily people will not spend a great deal more for a home than others in the neighborhood. That means, for example, that if you own a $20,000 home in a neighborhood of comparable values, you would do well to keep your improvement costs within $5,000, if you hope to get your money back, should you ever sell.

In other words, use a 25 per cent limit to figure how much you should spend.

Industry Leaders Spur Modernizing

The year 1963 has been designated as a nation-wide "Home Improvement Year," by leaders of the building products industry.

National trade associations, manufacturers and government agencies are cooperating in a massive program with the objective of persuading homeowners to upgrade their homes. The program is being coordinated by the National Home Improvement Council.

Home Improvement Year activity, according to the Council's executive director, Edgar Hall, will center on "providing the homeowner with all the information he needs to start his own sensible, sound home improvement program."

WITH THE cooperation of local dealers, lenders and contractors, the Council in 1963 will organize "How to Improve Your Home" schools in many home-town areas. Evening "classes" in the schools will cover subjects that are of concern to most homeowners, such as how to finance a home remodeling job, how to choose a home remodeler and how to be sure a remodeling project is a safe investment.

Newspapers and other communications media will participate in the Home Improvement Year observance by publishing special "how-to" information throughout the period.

Local chapters of the Council in a number of major cities are mapping ambitious programs of public education.

Government interest in the private industry program is extensive, Hall said, because government officials recognize in home improvement a substantial opportunity to stimulate the national economy.

Home Expansion

Forecasts Rise

If the northwest suburbs follow the national trend in home improvement activities, there's going to be considerable home expansion, repair and modernization going on in the next few months.

So states Charles J. Wirth. executive vice president of the 1st State Bank of Palatine. According to Wirth, for every $3 spent on new homes last year, another $2 was spent on remodeling of existing homes. This ratio, he says, is a far cry from 10 years ago when new construction topped remodeling as much as 10 to one.

The rapid increase in home improvement activity, Wirth claims, is due to the fact that many families confronted with the need for more room or more up-to-date living conveniences, or both, are finding it more advantageous to expand or modernize their present homes rather than buying or building new ones.

OWNERS THESE days, it seems, are looking at home improvements from the investment standpoint. Proposed improvements are weighed very carefully to determine just how much they will affect a home's resale value.

Wirth suggests homeowners ask themselves these questions before proceeding with any remodeling:

(1) To what degree will the planned improvements increase the home's value?

(2) How will those improvements appeal to the average buyer if the home is sold one year or 10 years from now?

A recent homeowner survey disclosed that the popularity of modernizing and remodeling projects runs in this order: (1) kitchens, (2) basements, (3) bathrooms and (4) attics. Also high on the list are family rooms, outdoor patios, garages, extra storage space and the modernization of heating plants.

SINCE THERE is no indication that labor and material costs are not heading upward, it would appear that a well-considered improvement should enhance the resale value of a home by substantially more than the actual cost of the project. This would fulfill the basic requirement of a sound investment.

Finally, in considering a home improvement project, Wirth offers a three-step program: (1) Make concrete plans based upon present and future home needs. (2) Pick a reliable contractor to do the work and have everything written down on paper. (3) Figure your finances very carefully; avoid spending all your cash reserve on the project; talk it over with the loan officer at your bank. As to the latter, says Wirth, it may cost less in the long run to finance the improvement with a home improvement loan.

Colors, Designs

'Brighter' Days in Floor Products Seen

The "beige age" in resilient flooring is still going strong, but 1963 is certain to see brighter colors and more design make a noticeable appearance.

As homeowners this year prepare for their various remodeling and fix-up projects, they will find a much wider selection of new types of flooring products with more pattern and more vivid colors than have been available in recent years, according to Armstrong Cork Company's Bureau of Interior Design.

PARALLEL TO the desire for more design in other homefurnishings, the resilient flooring industry is reflecting consumer interest in a wider range of more pronounced patterns. Both realistic and stylized versions of traditional flooring industry is reflecting consumer interest in a wider range of more pronounced patterns. Both realistic and stylized versions of traditional flooring effects such as marble, ceramic tile, small scale geometrics and stone should continue to be popular.

Consistent with the trend toward more design in flooring, 1963 should find an increased use of specialized insets, feature strips and other custom effects to provide floors with individuality. This trend will be most noticeable in luxury tile and vinyl flooring in sheet form six-feet wide, but custom designs are also making an appearance this year in the less expensive installations where materials such as vinyl-asbestos tile are selected.

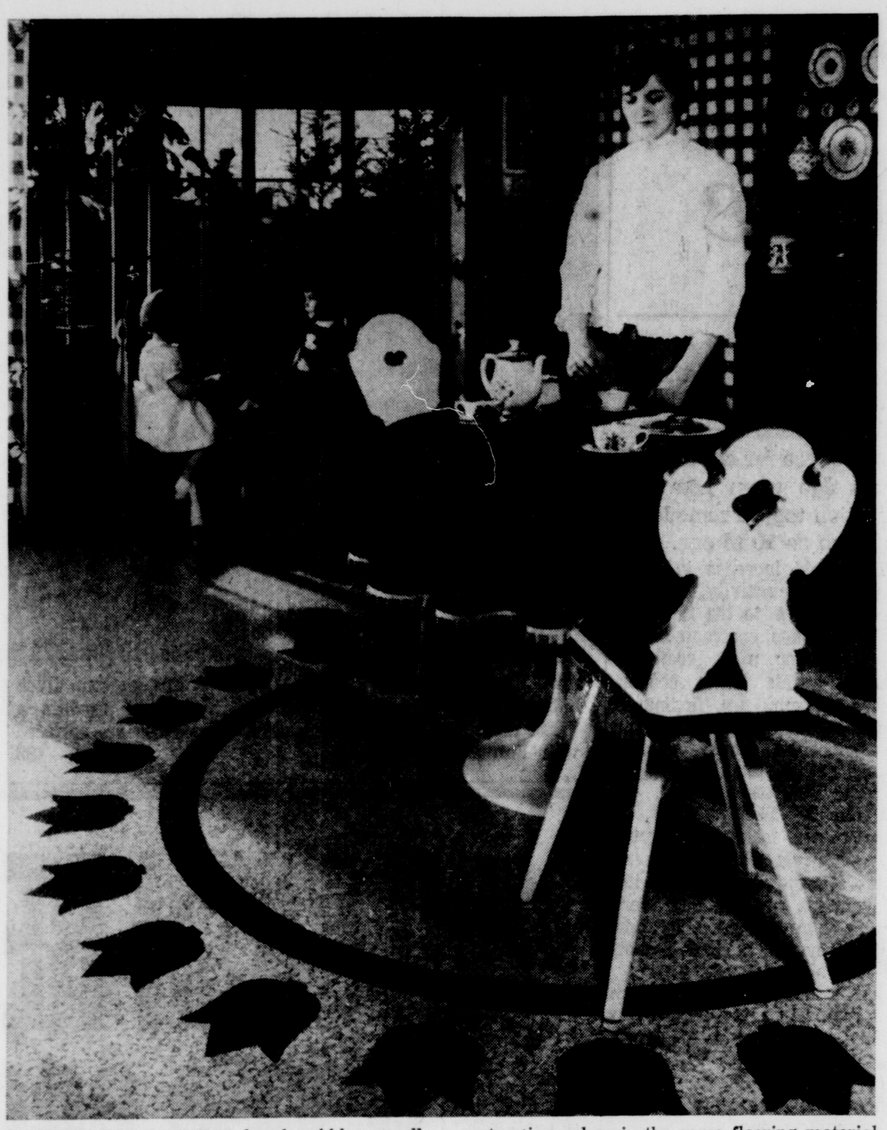
The use of more vivid colors will become especially noticeable in resilient flooring materials in 1963. In the past, resilient flooring color preferences followed color trends established in other areas of residential interior design. In 1963, color choices in resilient flooring will start to "lead" other color trends.

THIS NEW interest in brighter colors and unusual designs in resilient flooring has developed partially from the changes in residential construction with the advent of ranch houses and open-plan construction. The versatility of vinyl has permitted flooring manufacturers to offer the consumer a wider choice of colors and unusual design effects.

"Because the floor occupies such a large physical portion of any room," Mrs. Margaret Gordon Dana, A.I.D., Supervisor of Armstrong's Bureau of Interior Design, says, "the selection of flooring material is one of the first considerations in decorating."

The role of the floor in residential interior design has changed considerably in recent years. It has changed from merely "something to walk on" to a vital part of interior design. Flooring materials must coordinate and complement all of the elements involved in modern interiors.

Resilient flooring, with its broad selection of colors and designs, has introduced many new products in recent years and is on the threshold of announcing other exciting effects in new, versatile materials that only a few years ago were not much more than dreams.



RESEMBLING NATURAL brook pebbles, small chips of translucent vinyl provide an intriguing design effect for this new vinyl flooring. True wall-to-wall beauty can be obtained with durable vinyl flooring that is manufactured in sheet form six feet wide. Custom designs of contrasting colors in the same flooring material add an attractive decorating extra. Sheet vinyl flooring, installed virtually without seams, offers an extremely easy-to-maintain floor for this remodeled breakfast area. (SS

Plywood Center's Panels Are Varied

You can make any room come alive with exciting beauty when you use rich wood paneling on the walls, Bob Evans and Joe Duffy are telling their customers at their Plywood Center, 514 E. Northwest Hwy., Mount Prospect.

Bob and Joe stock a large variety of different panels including the noted Weldwood Charter prefinished paneling. The Charter's beautiful finish is easy to care for since it is the result of careful application of successive coats of genuine lacquer, the kind used on fine furniture.

CHARTER PANELS are lifetime guaranteed and are available in five favorite domestic woods: birch, walnut, oak, cherry, and pecan.

Other brands and varieties in paneling and ceiling tile are available in the Plywood Center, plus sundry accessories, moldings and tools.

Screen Sorter

Dump jars of screws, bolts, and washers on window screening for sorting. When wanted items are selected, lift screen to funnel rest back into jar.

Demagnetized

To demagnetize a screwdriver, or other small tool, pass its blade between the two heating elements, or poles, of a pistol-type soldering gun while the current is on.

Qualified Contractors

Asphalt Drives Need A Trained Hand

Improved asphalt techniques and new surface treatments mean a more attractive entrance to your home.

First fact to remember, according to Crandall's Asphalt Paving, 480 W. Colfax, Palatine, is that a good driveway is a major construction job that must be carried out strictly to rigid specifications.

It involves the use of expensive rollers and other equipment and is not "a job for fly-by-night contractors," the Crandall firm emphasized.

ASPHALT IS A black semi-solid, adhesive product of petroleum refining while asphalt concrete is a term used to describe an approved mixture of angular stone, slag, or gravel aggregate and sand combined with asphalt, a Crandall spokesman noted.

The asphalt binds with the other materials together into an extremely durable material that is one of the popular surfaces for driveways.

Making asphalt concrete is a demanding task in itself, the Crandall Company says, if the objective is a quality product. The various ingredients must be mixed in exactly the right proportions, with adequate attention given to drying of aggregate ingredients, temperature of the mix, and similar details.

BECAUSE THE difference between a quality job and one that will not survive the first frost is not immediately apparent to the inexperienced eye, a number of unethical operators have invaded this field, the Crandall firm charges.

"If you deal with one of them, the result can be appalling, in anxiety, financial hardship, and uneven, cracked or rutted surfaces that are a discredit to your home," it adds.

The company points out that a residential asphalt driveway that must accommodate fuel and refuse trucks and is built on clay soils that are unstable when wet should be designed and built in as many as four layers.

The firm further feels all pavements need some maintenance over a period of years, but that an adequate installation should last indefinitely.

"A driveway built according to proper specifications may need no more attention whatsoever for five years or more," a company brochure states. "A seal coat of the proper type of material made for this special purpose and applied properly at intervals of five to 10 years will completely renew and waterproof it, making it look like new.

"Care must be taken to spread seal coats in thin uniform applications. An excess may cause cracking of the surface."

SMALL AREAS can be easily patched, although patching and seal coating are jobs for qualified contractors, the firm says. It should be remembered, a company spokesman said, that subgrade settling or drainage problems can cause minor bad spots in any driveway.

"If such spots are cleaned out with sides of the hole cut back to the firm and hard material along a vertical edge that allows for sound abutting, patches can be easily applied," he said.

Staple Gun Handyman's Best Friend

By many "do-it-yourselfers," the handy stapling gun is well used for such annual chores as repairing screens and venetian blinds, trimming shelves and furniture, and installing insulation and weather stripping.

One squeeze of the gun's trigger drives each staple cleanly and accurately, with materials firmly engaged to one another.

THEY HAVE put a new head (called a "crown") on one stapler to make it even more useful. By simply changing the head of the stapling gun from a standard driver to a crown driver, the tool can be used to double - staple acoustical or plain tongue and groove ceiling tile directly to gypsum board or rock lath.

Here's how double-stapling action is effected: the crown of the first driven staple conforms to the crown driver of the stapling gun, and serves as an anvil; the legs of the second staple flare out and reinforce the holding power.

Which, of course, adds a new dimension of usefulness to the do-it-yourselfer's handiest tool.

Protective Pad

Use a scrap piece of perforated hardboard as a protective pad, when driving nails in hardwood panels. If hammer slips, it will hit shield rather than face of panel.

Paint Designs

When painting small designs on flat surfaces, draw designs on masking tape and cut out with a razor blade. The tape can then be pressed into position, and used as a painting guide.

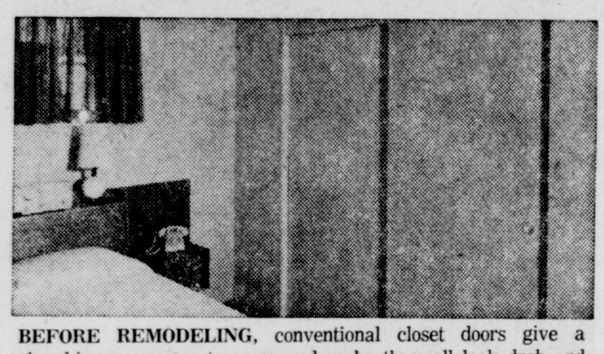
Multiplies Light

Room Enlarged by Mirrors

Looking for a simple way to "spruce-up" an unattractive, seemingly crowded bedroom?

Try exchanging those regular clothes closet doors for full-length sliding mirror doors which will magically "glide" new beauty into the room.

And, as designers point out, remodeling a bedroom this way is a perfect solution to problems of space and light, as the mirrors make the room appear bigger than it really is while multiplying existing light. At the same time, a handy, full-length dressing mirror is added as an indispensable grooming aid.



BEFORE REMODELING, conventional closet doors give a closed-in appearance to room and make the wall look drab and lifeless.

AFTER SLIDING mirror doors are installed, room gives appearance of having much more space and light. Parallel-O-Plate.

Unlike some remodeling projects which require extensive changes to the walls, sliding mirror doors can, with the help of a competent builder, be installed on existing closets with a minimum of carpentry work.

THERE ARE THREE basic types to suit any room—the recessed type which rolls out of sight into a wall "pocket" when opened, the by-pass type which has the doors mounted on parallel tracks and can be opened from either side, and the floor-to-ceiling, surface-mounted type which is highly adaptable to closets having conventional hinged doors.

Because they slide rather than swing, the doors save valuable floor space, allowing furniture arrangements which would not be practical in the same room with conventional doors.

There is little to be gained in remodeling any room if the end result brings about considerable more everyday maintenance. With sliding mirror doors, however, an occasional cleaning with a damp cloth is all that is needed to remove finger marks and smudges and return the finish to its original luster.

The surface is impervious to wear, never needs refinishing and goes well with any style of furniture or color scheme. Since the glass can't warp or swell, the danger of the doors sticking is eliminated.

When remodeling where conventional doors of the pocket or by-pass type are already installed, it is a simple matter to replace them with sliding mirror doors.

WHERE HOME owners wish to convert closets which have regular hinged doors, however, the face-mounted floor-to-ceiling type is the easiest to use as they mount securely to the wall studs and avoid the necessity or reinforcing the header to accommodate the additional weight. Here again, a good builder can be invaluable in helping to make the correct choice of door style.

Mirrors can double the size of a room, provide a flattering background, or give a third dimension to any part of a room that is reflected in it.

Mirrors can brighten and spark a dark or windowless foyer, corner or hall, and give any area architectural unity.

MIRRORS PICK up the color of beautiful draperies, make twins of prize possessions, distribute and create light. They add gaiety or regal dignity or sheer drama.

Although mirrors as decoration are not new, they have, over the past few years, become a vastly valuable material in the decorative field. This increasing importance of mirror magic in today's decor is re-emphasized by its strategic, functional and discriminate use by owners engrossed in home improvement.

Carpets Required Feature of Good Living

Wise Buying Means Years of Benefits

No matter what the decor of your home, if your floors are bare, or the covering is old and worn out, you are missing an important feature of good living.

Bart Keljik of Mount Prospect Carpet Center can show you how buying rugs and carpets can be easy. And buying them wisely can mean years of the benefits that only rugs and carpets can give your home.

First there is beauty. Today's carpets and rugs offer a tremendous choice of colors, textures and designs to suit every taste. Most people agree that carpet has a way of framing the furnishings in a room that makes them look more important and distinctive. Carpet is the superior floor covering for luxurious appearance.

The second of these advantages is quiet. Recent studies made at National Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C., show that carpet compares well with most acoustical treatments in reducing air-borne noise, such as voices, radio, etc.; other studies show that carpet practically eliminates floor impact noise, such as the pounding of heels and the clatter of children at play.

THEN THERE is warmth. Carpet not only gives a warm appearance to a room, but really acts as an insulator. Here's the scientific reason. The thick soft pile of carpet forms a multitude of tiny pockets that trap still air, the best known insulator against cold. This is a great protection to small children, who practically live on the floor.

Another benefit you get is comfort. Carpet's soft deep pile reduces "floor fatigue." It feels better underfoot than a hard unyielding surface — important to housewives who may walk as much as eleven miles a day. And carpet adds a blanket of comfort to your floors.

The safety carpet brings your home is an important factor. The National Safety Council reports that most accidents in the home result from slips and falls. Slippery floor and stairs are a real hazard for babies, toddlers and elderly people. Carpet's slip - proof footing tends to prevent such falls. And if someone should trip over a toy or other object, carpet cushions the fall and helps to prevent serious injury.

AND LAST of all these benefits is easier care. In a recent survey of homes, 73 per cent of the housewives interviewed said that it is easier to keep carpet looking neat than to scrub, wax and polish bare floors. A quick brush-up with vacuum cleaner or sweeper is all that's needed to keep your carpet neat and presentable. Thanks to all the exciting new developments in woven and tufted rugs and carpets—the new fiber, patterns, colors and surface effects—you get a wider selection and more for your carpet dollar than ever before.

In the showroom at 666 E. Northwest Hwy., Mount Prospect, you can select from over 2,000 patterns and colors.

Creates Distinctions

Paneling Can Define Room Activity Area

Solid lumber paneling is not only distinctive in and of itself, but it can also create distinctions between activity areas within a room.

The lines of demarcation which can be achieved with wall paneling may be either visual or physical.

TO VISUALLY separate different activity areas, certain walls or sections of walls may be paneled while the remaining wall space is left unpaneled. In this way, a specific area of the room becomes the focal point.

An example of this sort of visual delineation would be the treatment of a fireplace wall on which the mantel itself is kept simple. The center of interest is created through the effective contrast between the brick or stone of the fireplace and the vertical rise of the paneling.

Similarly, an unusual collection of paintings or other wall hangings could be displayed to advantage against a wall paneled with solid lumber—such as clear, vertical grain Larch from the Western Pine region.

TO EMPHASIZE a study corner in a larger room—a family or living room, for instance—that corner might be paneled in knotty Ponderosa Pine and bookcases built-in, thereby creating a comfortable room within a room. In like manner, a difficult alcove might be transformed into a distinctive and distinct dining area simply by installing handsomely patterned paneling on its three walls.

It is also possible to differentiate between activity areas in a room where all the walls are paneled by using a different installation design or pattern on the featured wall.

Thus, in a room where vertical paneling has been used throughout, the fireplace wall might be done in horizontal or even diagonal paneling. In using the same wood species, but varying the installation, the differentiation can be achieved without disrupting the integrity of the decor.

The alternative to visual demarcation is physical separation via paneled screens and room dividers. These devices are more definitive than is the paneled feature wall, but as they are usually neither solid nor built to ceiling height, they divide space but do not enclose it.

FOR INSTANCE, many of today's homes are not designed with entrance foyers, nor are the living rooms such that they will stand being chopped off with a solid wall to create an entrance hall. However, an effective entrance can be achieved with a divider built of solid lumber.

Such a divider might be a simple screen of vertical White Fir 1 x 2's, or something of a lattice-work nature. Or it might be a series of shelves at random intervals which could accommodate plants or a collection of glassware and china.

Another area in which the solid lumber screen can produce effective results is in the case of the non-existent dining room. Rather than simply establish one end of the living room as a dining area, it is possible to construct a handsome and not-too-space-consuming divider which would serve, on both sides, as a backdrop for furniture.

THIS SORT OF divider is most effective if it is solid perhaps two-thirds of the way up and open from there to the ceiling.

Open-work screens can also be used to span the wide opening between two definite rooms where the opening is an alternate entrance that is not used, but shouldn't be sealed off with a solid door.

Improvising

A sawhorse can be improvised from an ordinary stepladder by laying the ladder on its side and opening the legs halfway.

Cleaning Nails

Scratch fingernails along the surface of a bar of soap before starting any paint job or greasy project. Soap keep paint or grease out of nails.

Hardware Business Is Family Affair

Zimmer Hardware Store, 16 N. Brockway St., has been located in the same building in Palatine for over 50 years.

"It's the same building, only it's larger and now has available more suburban home needs," Proprietor Howard Freeman says.

Freeman says his hardware store will assist the customer with plumbing, painting, electrical, garden and lawn problems.

His glass "wizard" and all around problems man, Henry Leseberg, has been with the firm six years, according to Freeman.

ANOTHER EMPLOYE, Mike Abroe, has worked for Zimmer's five years, although he is employed on a part-time basis while attending college.

Freeman terms Harold Armstrong his electric wizard. Son, Richard Freeman, just starting his second year of high school, is also employed on a part-time basis by the store. He and Abroe are assemblymen for the firm.

The family's contribution to the business is rounded out with Freeman's wife, Gladys, serving as bookkeeper.

Freeman has been with the store since 1938, having started as a clerk and then worked up to sheet metal and plumber's helper.

Home's the Place for Outdoor Living

PATIO COURT FOR outdoor living par excellence! A handsomely grained fence and an up-tilting roof of translucent panels and lumber offer partial to complete protection. Western Pine Assoc. (SS

Sports, Swims Enjoyed There

Since World War II, more and more families have been proving that there's no place like home for outdoor living!

What started with Saturday night cok-outs at a back-yard grill has progressed to the point where today, many people don't have to go any further than their own property to enjoy favorite sports or a swim.

The modern concept of total development of property has led to today's practice of utilizing the entire backyard space to meet specific needs of every member of the family.

In order to make maximum use of outdoor areas, it is important to first assess the family needs and the functions each area is to fulfill. Ideally, a backyard is broken up into "living" and game areas.

In planning outdoor projects, careful consideration should be given to existing landscaping and sun and wind exposure.

MANY FAMILIES have extended their "living room" outdoors by means of decks, terraces, patios and porches of flagstone, concrete, tile or wood. These sunning, dining and entertaining areas may be enclosed and protected by screening or fencing. Ideally, the barbecue pit should be located nearby.

Today's backyard is also a recreation "room" where the family keeps fit by having fun. Although each outdoor game has its own requirements as to space, with a little thought play areas for several sports can be included on the home property.

Careful planning can turn a concrete patio or driveway into a family sports area with a shuffleboard court, a basketball hoop and deck tennis provisions.

Grassy areas of the backyard are ideal for volley ball, deck tennis, badminton, croquet, golf putting, etc.

PROTECT PORCH for outdoor comfort with built-in sunshade by extending roof overhang. (SS

WHEN MANY families feel like a swim, they head for their own backyard instead of the nearest lake or shore area. The swimming pool, once a luxury for a privileged few, is now priced within reach of the average homeowner.

For the family without a conventional swimming pool, there are plastic wading pools, many of them large enough to permit adults, as well as youngsters, to keep cool in warmer weather.

Although the backyard has become a play area for adults, children have not been forgotten. Many yards have areas enclosed with built-in "baby-sitter" fences for complete protection from neighborhood hazards.

Youngsters play on outdoor "kiddie gyms," slides, swings, and sand boxes made of modern "safety-first" materials in imaginative shapes and colors.

FAMILIES CAN enjoy outdoor living more with "indoor" conveniences. Modern lawn furniture is as good looking and comfortable as it is durable. Backyard lighting arrangements extend game time and permit evening use of outdoor living "rooms."

Today's homeowner relies on portable planters to keep his backyard as pretty as it is practical. Plant boxes and tubs mounted on casters or dollies are easily moved and maintained, and are colorful additions to terraces, patios and sun decks. Even small trees and shrubs will thrive in terrace tubs.

Don't Neglect Heat In Expansion Plans

One of the most important aspects in home expansion is extra heating. According to the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, over 90 per cent of all home expansion projects require some kind of heating work.

SOLVE SITE SLOPE by building a wood deck for your outdoor living area. Requires no land grading or filling. Douglas fir used here. (SS

DOUBLE SIZE OF LIVING ROOM by extending floor outdoors in the form of a wood deck. Outside wall was designed to house garden equipment handy to house. West Coast Lumbermen's Association.

To heat a new room with your present heating system, you must first determine whether your heating plant is large enough to take on the extra heating load. Next, if the heating plant is large enough, you must find out if the heating system's piping or duct work can be extended to the new room without expensive alterations to the heating system or major structural changes in the house.

A RELIABLE heating contractor should be called in to check your heating system and to investigate the heating requirements of the new room. He is the only one qualified to advise you about the proper and most economical method of heating your new room.

Chances are that you'll have fewer problems heating the new room if you now have a hydronic (hot water) heating system. Such plants are frequently installed with sufficient additional capacity to take on the extra heating load of a new room.

Moreover, this type of system uses finger-thin piping, or subbing, which is easily extended to the new room without ripping apart existing walls. Only a few small holes need to be drilled so tubing can be "snaked" through stud and joist spaces.

If you find that your heating system is not expandable, an individual room heater may be installed if you want to heat a small room. But be careful in your selection because room heaters are not always economical to operate. Moreover, heat is usually concentrated in one spot around the heater.

TO HEAT larger rooms or a wing, a miniature hydronic system, using a small, space-saving hydronic heating plant, is ideal. A small, silent pump is used to convey heated water from the boiler through finger-size tubing to hydronic baseboard heating units.

This type of system is easily installed and will provide a relatively low operating cost. Also, it will provide zoned heating since a separate thermostat can be used to control temperatures in the new room apart from the rest of the house.

Bank Finishes Remodeling

Palatine National Bank announced this week the completion of an extensive remodeling program involving radical structural changes and alterations designed to improve service.

"1962 was a year of impressive growth for the Palatine National," said Gerald F. Fitzgerald, president of the bank.

"It was apparent that we should do something to properly take care of this increased business. We removed walls, installed new fixtures and equipment and completely redecorated the banking house. The result was a doubling of teller windows, a general enlargement of the banking floor and other changes designed to accelerate the speed of handling customers' transactions."

OLIVE TONES with white accents characterize the new decor of the Bank with a Colonial feeling in the tradition of the area. "Our traditional facade," said Fitzgerald, "seems to us to harmonize with the village and we do not plan any changes in the Bank's exterior. We think some of the other structures in the village might have their appearance improved by some imaginative refurbishing and if a concerted plan can be developed along these lines we would be delighted to participate where we might be helpful."

The bank now has two walk-up windows and a large parking lot, both designed to improve service. It is now open six days a week for customer convenience.

Coloramic Tile Co. Combinations Vary

An intriguing flooring effect designed to give your home an unusual touch of distinction is Montina Vinyl Corlon by Armstrong, Jerry Rue, proprietor of the Mount Prospect Coloramic Tile Co., declares.

It affords a dozen modern decorative combinations and can be installed over floors in direct contact with the ground, this merchant says.

STOCKS ARE carried in the Mount Prospect store as well as many styles of mosaic and ceramic wall and floor tiles, according to Rue.

"We carry large stocks to take care of our cash-and-carry and do-it-yourself customers," he asserts. "This enables our patrons to pick colors, styles and patterns without leaving the store."

Prevention

Aluminum storm doors, screens and storm sashes should be cleaned periodically and protected with light coats of paste wax to prevent pitting and oxidizing.

Wallpapering

A paint roller can substitute for a wall-paper smoothing brush. Roller cover should be clean and dry.

Price in Reach of Average Homeower

Families by the thousands are now "getting in the swim" — in their own backyards!

Until quite recently, the matter of cost made ownership of a private swimming pool a luxury to be enjoyed mainly by movie stars and the wealthy.

Today, the price of installing a backyard pool has been reduced to a point that is well within the reach of the average homeowner.

There are currently in the neighborhood of 425,000 swimming pools in America, with more being installed every day as people learn that you no longer have to be rich to own your own pool.

THE BACKYARD pool eliminates the inconvenience of traffic-congested drives to and from the beach or lake and is an investment that pays handsome dividends in outdoor living and informal entertaining.

It has the added advantage of being an improvement that greatly increases property value. Many banks and finance agencies are willing to arrange convenient time payment plans for such a project.

Great progress has also been made in pool construction methods. The home owner choosing a pool is offered a wide and varied choice of installations to suit every site requirement and family need.

POOL DESIGN is no longer restricted to rectangular shape. Interesting free-form pools can now be built at reasonable cost, thanks to the development of "guniting," a process by which sand, cement and water are sprayed under high pressure to form the pool shell.

New lines of plastic fittings and equipment are winning enthusiastic acceptance. These new plastics offer lower cost, greater permanence and safety, and are easily maintained. Plastic pool liners, fabricated to shape and size of the desired pool, make any structure water-tight and eliminate periodic pool paintings.

Another development is the increasing use of stainless steel for deck and filter equipment.

OTHER BREAK-throughs in the field have simplified the task of keeping pools clean. The newer methods are far more efficient, and in the future lies the exciting possibility of a truly self-cleaning pool.

Today's pools are speedily installed, eliminating the need to endure a torn-up backyard for weeks or months. In the installation of prefabricated pools, many do-it-yourselfers are tackling much of the work themselves.

In more and more homes, the backyard swimming pool has become the focal point of outdoor living. There is growing awareness of the appeal of a well-thought-out "poolscape" achieved by the imaginative use of color and texture in tile, coping and deck-work.

Pool-side accessories, such as umbrellas and patio furnishings, are chosen to coordinate with the hues of the pool.

Fence Gives Privacy

BUILT-IN BABY SITTER fence encloses children's play yard, protecting them from neighborhood hazards. Vertical, solid board design in red cedar provides no footholes. When youngsters are grown, area can be turned into a walled terrace for adults. (SS

Screens Provide Beauty

For privacy and a sense of shelter, outdoor living space should be enclosed. Containment may be accomplished by a fence, a series of panels or a trellis.

These screens provide decorative protection—area delineation, privacy from passers-by and sun or shade, when or where you want it.

When it comes to functionalism that's handsome too, fences and fence panels must certainly be given top priority in yard development.

Used alone or in conjunction with activity areas, fences can provide as little or as much protection and privacy as desired in a variety of attractive designs.

THE MORE SOLID and taller the fence, the more privacy and protection achieved. Degree depends on purpose — whether the fence is to keep children in the yard or stray dogs out, to delineate between children's play area and yard proper, to create a barbecue patio or to screen utility areas from general view.

Fence design is limited only by the imagination.

Choices include basketweave, herringbone, lattice work, wood "bricks," parquets, alternating panels back and front, and vertical louvers.

The fence may be rough sawn or smooth, painted or stained, rustic or refined, depending on your architectural scheme.

INLAND RED Cedar and Incense Cedar are particularly well suited to exterior construction because of their natural resistance to weathering.

All fence members which will come into direct contact with the ground should be treated with a preservative. This applies especially to fence posts which should be sunk in the ground about one-third their length and should be set on a two-inch layer of gravel for proper drainage.

It's only natural that homeowners, in keeping with contemporary ideas regarding outdoor living, should seek new and attractive ways by which to enhance areas. And it's also only natural outdoor activity to use "natural" lumber for these outdoor activity areas.

In Chicago Area

Self-Service Dry Cleaning Over Million Lbs. A Week

Self-service drycleaning jumped over the one million pound a week milestone this month in Chicago, the first city nationally to reach that mark.

A survey of the more than 200 stores in the area conducted by the National Automatic Laundry and Cleaning Council revealed that more than 100,000 housewives put upwards of $250,000 in quarters into atuomatic drycleaning machines last week.

THE PRINCIPAL reasons for the best week in the history of the new service, according to Ward A. Gill, general manager of the industry's trade association, were:

1. The housewife's increasing enthusiasm for the economy, convenience and quality of self-service drycleaning.

2. The recent fine weather that has prompted an earlier than usual surge of spring cleaning.

"Housewives have found," Gill said, "that they can save $35 or $40 by automatic drycleaning of seasonal clothing and traditional spring items such as draperies, slip covers, and snow suits, overcoats and other winter apparel for storage.

"LIKE ANY new service concept, automatic drycleaning took a while to catch on. Now it has caught on nationally as well as in Chicago. There are 7,500 stores in the country and the industry predicts that there will be 10,000 by the end of the year and that consumers will spend $200 million in them."

Manufacturer members of NALCC include: Econ-O-Crest and Speed Queen divisions of McGraw-Edison, Glover Industries, Hammond Industries, Norge Division of Borg-Warner, Philco, Tenax, Vamco, Westinghouse, Whirlpool. (

Tips to Follow

Helpful Hints For Painting

Painting can be made easier than you think by merely following certain rules. Many people make decorating a project when actually it can be a short experience when compared to the lasting beauty it creates. Tips to follow are:

—Stir paint thoroughly to a smooth, uniform consistency, making certain no pigment remains on the bottom of the can.

—All forms of wax, grease, dirt and loose paint must be entirely removed from the surface before painting, enameling, or varnishing.

—Flow on good, full coat, making certain to brush it out evenly.

NEVER USE a dirty, tacky brush or roller. Old material in brush will soften with use and cause a sandy appearance in the coating.

—Two thin coats are more satisfactory than one heavy coat.

—When painting floors, a broom handle, attached to the roller will save time and labor.

—When applying Latex paint, clean up any spatters immediately, as they are impossible to remove after drying. For the same reason, immediate cleaning of brushes and rollers is necessary.

—Fill cracks with plaster of paris or patching material. Spot-coat cracks with sealer.

—In repainting glossy surfaces, sand lightly to obtain better adhesion.

—IF RUNNING short of paint, never stop in the middle of a wall; always finish in a corner before starting with a new can of paint.

—Colored paints will sometimes look a different color when wet than when dry. This is particularly true of blues, greens, and reds.

SCREEN PATIO for privacy and individuality. Fence can be perfect foil for planting beds. Western red cedar is used here.

KNITTERS & NON KNITTERS

A few months ago we put in the Bernat NO-FRAME rugs. Because of a lack of space, we have had trouble displaying them properly. Now, we are expanding into a new room and we'll be able to show them off, plus the interesting CREWEL we have also put in.

NOW our big news—
Bernat is sending Mrs. Kane to demonstrate the rugs. She'll be here Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, May 9, 10, & 11th. These NO-FRAME RUGS make a wonderful family hobby and they are exquisite when finished.
Mark these dates down—We'll be looking for you.

OUR HOURS 10-5 Mon. thru Sat. Mon. 7-9. Closed Wed.
